REBELS REJECT MADRID OFFER TO SURRENDER

Refuse Officials' Bid for Conditions.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (Wednesday).—(AP)—Russia, in a note described as a "virtual ultimatum," insisted today the international neutrality committee act immediately to isolate the Spanish civil war. The soviet demand—second in a week—was delivered to Lord Plymouth, British chairman of the nonintervention group.

BURGOS, Spain, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Fascist officials declared today they had rejected a bid from "several Madrid leaders" to surrender the capital in exchange for concessions.

Headquarters here issued a communique declaring:

"The situation of our army is such that it is useless to discuss the surrender of Madrid, which must be total."

The first disclosure of the reported offer to surrender came from headquarters at Salamanca, where officers said overtures were made to submit speedily in return for favors.

Offer Made at Salamanca.

A communique issued there said the Fascist command was not negotiating for surrender of the capital "in a minimum of three days" with Miguel Maura, former minister of the Madrid government.

"It is true, however," the communique added, "that several Madrid leaders tried to obtain from us certain concessions in return for rapid surrender of the Spanish capital."

Appeals to the Madrid population to capitulate and "avoid useless spilling of blood" were dropped on the capital again by airplane, the Fascists announced.

They said the proclamations warned "If this surrender is refused, the strength of the punishment will depend on the resistance opposed to us."

Cut Power Supply.

Reports from San Martin de Valdeiglesias said government planes rained a heavy bombardment on Fascist concentrations there.

[A Barcelona radio broadcast asserted loyalist troops have recaptured San Martin.]

Insurgent commanders, whose forces seized the huge power dams on the Alberche river Saturday, cut the supply lines to the capital yesterday. Four-fifths of the capital's electric supply was blocked, they asserted, leaving Madrid only a small amount from another plant near Guadalajara.

[Insurgent radio broadcasts both from Seville and Jerez de la Frontera said 3,000 government troops were killed at Oviedo and rescue columns were being rushed to Fascists encircled by Socialist militiamen in the northern city.]

Drive to Enlist "Slackers."

MADRID, Oct. 13. — (AP) — The government, draining its last resources of manpower, tonight mustered into the defense reserves all men who could shoulder a rifle. Persons physically unfit to be drafted into forces sent to the front were to be organized in a separate reserve unit.

Recruiting committees also scattered through the city trying to shame upper strata youths into enlistment, particularly the so-called "senorito" class, which so far has taken no active part.

The newspaper El Liberal classed fugitives from Spain as "undesirables" and urged a list be published of all persons to whom passports were issued after the outbreak of the civil war.

Build Defenses in Rain.

Steady downpours of rain driven on wintry winds enforced a lull in the fighting of both sides in the Madrid area, giving the government breathing space in which to strengthen its defenses closest to the city.

Socialist artillery at Olias del Rey trained a prolonged bombardment on Bargas, near Toledo.

Insurgent formations were scattered in bitter fighting near Teruel, provincial capital in eastern central Spain, with 40 Fascist soldiers killed and 200 others taken prisoners.

Military communiques reported Huesca, in the northeast, virtually surrounded by government forces but resisting incessant shelling since Saturday when the Fascists rejected a socialist ultimatum to surrender.

HORNER LEADER EXPLAINS RENT AND JOB 'DEAL'

Promised Son Work to 'Ease' Mother.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Pictures on back page.)

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—F. Lynden Smith, downstate campaign manager for Gov. Henry Horner, Senator James Hamilton Lewis, and the other Democratic state candidates, today related the circumstances of how he came to write his former landlady here promising her an increase in rent if he did not provide her son with employment at $125 a month.

Shortly after the lease was signed in the summer of 1935, Smith said, the son, Lawrence Koehn, was employed—as he still is—as an engineer's assistant by the state department of highways, of which Smith is business manager. Smith lives in Pontiac and was politically inconspicuous until he directed the governor's successful campaign for renomination last spring.

Lease Obtained in 1935.

On July 12, 1935, Smith obtained a lease on a handsome two story brick dwelling on West Ash street here, renting from Mrs. Mongna C. Koehn, widow of Charles L. Koehn, who had served as treasurer of Sangamon county and also as clerk of the Circuit court. A photostatic copy of the lease shows that the rent was to be $50 monthly, with an option on a second year's tenancy at the same price.

About two months later Smith admitted he had written Mrs. Koehn as follows: "I hereby agree that should I fail to furnish Lawrence Koehn with employment at a salary of not less than $125 per month, I will pay a rental of $125 per month for the premises located at 1601 West Ash street, Springfield, Ill., instead of the original $50 as agreed to by me in lease with Mongna Koehn to begin Aug. 1, 1935."

Wished to "Ease Mind."

Asked the reasons behind this missive today, Smith said that he wrote it only to "ease the mind of the mother, who was afraid her son might be fired."

"It had nothing to do with hiring Lawrence," the Democratic campaign manager declared, "because he was already on the pay roll. Shortly after I signed the lease, Mrs. Koehn spoke to me about her son. I called him in, found him intelligent and competent and placed him on the pay roll as a rodman in the engineering department. He is still employed in that capacity.

"About two months after I had signed the lease, I was told that the mother was worried over her son's job and feared that she would not be able to pay the taxes and other expenses on her house should he lose his job. That, and that alone, motivated my letter agreeing to pay her $125 per month if Lawrence was laid off. It was intended only to ease her mind."

Dwelling Has New Owner.

The attractive dwelling involved in the agreement, which is set within a five acre tract and landscaped in character, is still Smith's Springfield home but it has been sold to Frank Zito, who is well known around Springfield and to whom Smith now pays rent. His rate now is $125 a month.

Mrs. Koehn has moved to Lincoln

H. G. WELLS HATES BEING 70; LIFE 'NOT HALF LONG ENOUGH'

LONDON, Oct. 13. — (AP) — H. G. Wells, British author and movie playwright, hates being 70 he said tonight at a literary banquet given in his honor.

"I don't in the least want to put away my toys," he said. "Life is not half long enough for my taste."

Wells, who recently wrote his own obituary forecasting his death at the age of 97, turned 70 on Sept. 21.

COURT RULES: NO ALIMONY IF YOU CAUSE DIVORCE

As a general rule a wife is not entitled to alimony if she is the cause of divorce, the Appellate court held yesterday. The ruling was in the case of Paul Schneider, 28 years old, 2320 North Keeler avenue, a public school music teacher, who appealed from a Chicago Circuit court order to pay his wife Trae, 25 years old, 4450 North Montana street, alimony of $7.50 a week after he had obtained a divorce from her on grounds of desertion. The Appellate court's opinion, written by Judge William H. McSurely, said:

"It is generally held that when the husband obtains a divorce on account of the misconduct of the wife the latter will not be entitled to alimony. Where there are minor children or special circumstances alimony may be allowed, although her fault caused the divorce. But none of these circumstances exist in this case."

The Schneiders were married in January, 1931. They separated three years later after quarrels over finances.

KING WILL LET PEERESSES SET THEIR OWN STYLE

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—King Edward VIII. of Great Britain made another assault on tradition tonight when he authorized the issuance from Buckingham palace of an order permitting peeresses to design their own dresses for the coronation ceremony. Hitherto all peeresses were uniformly gowned—mantles and robes having been worn over the traditional kirtle and skirt, and the garments were standardized in red and cream. Now the mantle is to be worn over a gown of any shade, of any material, and any design which conforms to the general rule of "presentation" dresses.

Woman Slayer in Love Mixup Pleads Guilty

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ruth Moran, 21 year old domestic, pleaded guilty today to the murder of Herbert Winter, 42, automobile salesman, whom she shot last Thursday she said to keep him from exposing an illicit love affair. Winters left a widow and two children, one 10 years old, the other 7.

"I'm guilty, but I didn't mean to do it," sobbed the young woman, the mother of a two year old child and expecting another. "I want to get it over with."

She was taken before Circuit Judge E. B. Belden in a surprise move, a report having previously been made that her condition would prevent her arraignment.

Leaning heavily on a police matron, Mrs. Moran walked with lagging steps into the courtroom. Her obvious weakness caused the judge to allow her to sit in a chair.

Sobs at Charges.

When the clerk read the charge of first degree murder the slim girl looked down, shut her eyes and then began to sob.

"Do you understand that?" Judge Belden asked.

The young mother halted her crying long enough to whisper, "Yes."

"Do you want a jury trial or a lawyer?"

"No."

"Are you guilty or not guilty?" asked the judge.

After admitting her guilt, the girl broke down completely and sobbed loudly for some time.

Judge Belden directed that a hearing on the facts be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Still Another Version.

Through the signs of hysteria shown by Mrs. Moran, since her arrest, came tonight a third version of the killing. According to McEvoy, she explained that she had intended to make Winters give her the car on the threat that she would tell his wife he had been intimate with her, if he refused.

McEvoy quoted her as saying:

"When I took the gun from my employer's bedroom drawer I had in mind that I would hold him [Winters] up and make him sign a statement giving me the automobile or else I would tell on him. But the gun went off before I knew it. I swear I didn't mean to shoot him."

Prior to today she had given two other versions. In the first she wanted to scare Winters out of his threats to tell Lindstrom about their affair—the shooting was an accident during a struggle for the pistol. The second story was that she was weary of her life as it was, wanted to get away to California with Lindstrom, wanted to get an auto for that; the shooting was an accident.

Man in Case Out on Bond.

Shortly after Mrs. Moran was taken from the courtroom today Leo Lindstrom, 23 year old Highland Park chauffeur named by her as the father of her expected child, appeared in the courtroom with Attorney Chris A. Juliani. A court order previously had been issued that Lindstrom be held as a material witness in the murder case.

Lindstrom's mother, Mrs. John Lindstrom of Kenosha, put up $200 cash for his bail and he was released.

AMERICAN DOCTOR TRIES TO CURE INDIAN, SLEEPLESS 3 YEARS

CALCUTTA, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Dr. F. J. Multhers, described as an American physician from Los Angeles, arrived today to treat a sleepless Indian millionaire who has had only 20 minutes natural rest in almost three years.

The patient, Rai Habadur Ramijidas Bajoria, has offered $50,000 for temporary relief and $100,000 for a permanent cure.

Dr. Multhers took over the case after treatment with a British massaging machine had failed to improve the man's condition.

NERVOUS BANDIT, NO, A COOL ONE, HOLDS UP A CAFE

A young gunman held up the cashier in Gimbel's restaurant, 30 West Randolph street, last night and escaped with $150. The central police interviewed witnesses. "He was about 21 years old, and was very nervous," said the waitress who served the robber a whisky and soda. "No, he was about 30 years old, and he was cool as a cucumber," said the cashier, Miss Elsie Ostwald, 228 East Ontario street. Miss Ostwald said the bandit carried a tan topcoat over his arm to hide his pistol. He handed her a printed note saying: "Put all your currency in my left hand because my right hand means business."

Party Parade Will Precede Stadium Talk

Text of Speech

(Picture on Back Page.)

President Roosevelt will arrive in Chicago this evening on his campaign tour of the central west. He will be greeted with a Democratic torchlight parade through the loop and the near west side to Chicago Stadium. There, where he was nominated in 1932, he is to speak at 9:30 p. m.

The subject of his speech has not been announced, but Democratic county headquarters reported yesterday it had received a suggestion that the President might take social security as one theme.

Train to Arrive at 6:40.

The Roosevelt train, coming in on the Alton railroad after stops at Springfield, Bloomington, Pontiac, and Joliet, is expected to reach Rockwell street and Archer avenue at 6:40 o'clock. Mayor Kelly, Gov. Horner, and other party leaders plan to join the presidential party at Bloomington. In Chicago the train will be shunted to the Illinois Central and will reach the Roosevelt road station of that railroad at a time not yet announced.

The parade in the President's honor is to form in Grant park and in Michigan avenue between Roosevelt road and Wacker drive. Participants are to start establishing their lines at 6 p. m. Plans last night were that the procession should start at Michigan avenue and Madison street between 6:30 and 7 p. m. Hatbands reading "Roosevelt" and "I'm for Roosevelt" are to be worn by men marchers while women will wear arm bands or sashes carrying the same wording.

1,628 Police to Line Route.

The parade will proceed west in Madison street to the Stadium. President Roosevelt is to leave his train in time to reach the Stadium by 9:15 o'clock. A detail of 1,628 policemen has been arranged to line the route and serve at the station and the Stadium.

Members of labor unions, who will lead the line of march, have been asked by their leaders to parade in their working clothes. Democratic officials said that more than 50,000 union men and women will be in the line of march. Democratic ward leaders expect to turn out more than 50,000 other marchers.

Among the messages sent by labor leaders urging members to turn out was one from J. Dhont, recording secretary for the wood finishers' local, No. 611, of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers of America. It said: "This parade is very urgent, and you are subject to be fined should you not appear by the P. D. C. No. 14."

Crowd Expected in Stadium.

A heavy demand for Stadium tickets was reported by George Ross, secretary of the Democratic county committee. In addition to the 25,000 who may be accommodated in the Stadium, amplifiers are to

LANDON DARES ROOSEVELT TO BARE HIS PLANS

Asks: Does He Intend to Revive NRA?

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Pictures on back page.)

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—In what may be regarded as the greatest speech that he has yet made in the presidential campaign, Gov. Alf M. Landon tonight called upon his opponent, President Roosevelt, to tell the American people—before election day—what, if anything, he proposes to do toward continuing the drive for an all-powerful executive in Washington and the changing of the constitutional form of government in this country.

In phrases that tingled with emotion and deep conviction, the Republican candidate told a great crowd assembled in the cold night air at Navin baseball park that the evidence was unmistakable that the President has been planning to sap away the liberties of the people and regiment business, industry and agriculture under a drive that leads in the direction of dictatorship.

Will Stamp Out Autocracy.

Gov. Landon said that if he is elected he will seek the repeal of all acts giving autocratic powers to the chief executive. He will use the states as experimental stations in trying out new ideas of government and if he finds that new powers are needed by the President he will ask openly that such powers be given through a constitutional amendment.

"The people," he declared, "must be given full opportunity to debate the issues involved before they take the momentous step of changing the charter of their freedom."

The great underlying issue of this compaign, Gov. Landon said, "is the threat of the present administration to our American form of government."

He made an indictment of the evasions of the New Deal administration, and demanded from the President an answer to the question which he put in his Portland, Me., speech, but which never has been answered.

Challenges New Deal Cause.

"Does the administration plan to reënact the NRA?" he asked, after detailing the steps by which the President had seized more and more power in the name of emergency legislation.

"Does it intend to return to the control of food products from Washington? If it does one it must do the other. If we have an NRA we must have an AAA. If we have an AAA we must have an NRA. No nation can continue half regimented and half free.

"Which course does this administration propose to follow? There is only one man who can answer this question and that man is the candidate for reëlection to the presidency."

Cites Automobile Industry.

The governor pointed to the automobile industry, which centers in Detroit, as an example of what American initiative, energy, and frugality can do. During the afternoon he had a long talk with Henry and Edsel Ford at their Dearborn home and was escorted around Greenfield's historic spots, including the transplanted home of Stephen Foster, author of many American songs, including "O, Susanna."

The governor in his talk referred to the fact that Henry Ford had never come under the NRA code.

"The automobile industry," he said, "instead of talking about recovery, has worked for recovery. This industry has led the way back from depression. And I do not think it is without significance that this industry resisted at every turn the compulsory regulations imposed by NRA. Indeed, one of its most distinguished leaders never signed the code of the Blue Eagle."

Controls Nation's Recovery.

In the name of emergency, Gov. Landon said, the President has acquired almost complete control over the money and credit system of the nation. He pointed out the power and significance of this. He said it all pointed to a national policy on the part of the President and asked:

"If the President thinks agricultural anarchy can be prevented only by reënactment of the principles of NRA and AAA, let him say so.

"Let him tell us—and tell us before election day—just what amendments to the constitution he has in mind. By his silence on this he is attempting to dodge the fundamental issue of this campaign—the issue of whether he intends to change the form of our government—whether labor, agriculture, and business are to be directed and managed by government—directed and managed by politics."

Holds Such Power Unwise.

Such concentration of power as has come to the New Deal President was declared unnecessary and unwise by the governor. He told of the dangers involved and pointed to the unrest and conflicts in the world, and what has happened to the freedom of other peoples. The process of the destruction of liberties follows the same pattern, he said, and that pattern can be traced to the acts of the present administration.

"First," he said, "the executive sets himself up as a popular leader, and in the name of national emergency asks that additional authority be given to him.

"Then the legislature gradually yields more and more power to the executive, until the legislature becomes a mere instrument of the executive.

"Finally the courts of law are undermined and the judiciary ceases to be a protection for the people.

End of Human Liberties.

"When this final stage is reached—when the independence of the courts is destroyed—the rights and liberties of the people are gone. The people then are at the mercy of the executive.

"We have seen the results of this process abroad. The first steps already have been taken here."

What this means to the people, this loss of liberties, was described movingly.

"In many countries of the world today," he said, "the people no longer have the freedom to sing in open worship of the faith of their fathers. They gather in hidden places, and while they sing the soldiery of despotism is pounding at their doors and carrying away their pastors and their priests.

"From the colleges and schools of these countries great teachers have fled, and those who remain speak not by their own belief and conscience, but by the dictates of the state. Generations are growing up in those countries who never have known the free search for truth. In those countries freedom of thought is gone. Freedom of the press is gone. Freedom of worship is gone.

"We in America cannot ignore these warnings. We must not, out of regard for any man or men, blind ourselves to the forces that are loose in the world. It is not a question of any man or men. It is a question of human freedom."

Cold Causes Discomfort.

Navin field, home of the Detroit Tigers, was a chilly place tonight to hold a political meeting. The speakers' stand had a roof over it, but the chill breezes swept through it with shivering effect. An oil heater was set up back of the platform and hot air was piped up to the space occupied by the committees and speakers.

The speakers' stand was built over center field—a bright spot of flags and bunting in the black night.

The bleachers had been decorated with red, white and blue. The crowd huddled for comfort in the lower section.

The audience joined in the chorus of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," stamping their feet and clapping hands as they waited for the speaking to begin.

A thirty foot banner was carried across the field. It read "Grand Rapids Landon-Knox Special—Industry Turns to Landon."

"Keep the Home Fires Burning" was a song that brought a laugh from the crowd.

Brucker Assails Falsehoods.

The crowd had grown to 15,000 when the speaking began. Former Gov. Wilber M. Brucker, candidate for the senate, took the rostrum first.

"The New Dealers," he said, "are for regimentation and the piling up of debts. Under their program social security is offered at the price of the surrender of our liberty. The Republican party insists that these advantages can be found without surrendering our liberties.

"The New Dealers have spread a falsehood. They say that if you vote the Republican ticket, there will be hunger and starvation this winter."

Brucker charged that the talk of relief was camouflage for graft and waste.

"Millions for genuine, honest relief, but not one cent for graft, boondoggling, corruption and politics is our challenge," he said. "The New Deal must be destroyed. The people of America must be removed from that fear."

Rousing Welcome for Landon.

The governor's appearance was the signal for a cheering, yelling and whistling demonstration that lasted a full minute.

A cheer greeted his first sentence. His voice carried easily across the field. The audience listened closely. He was applauded with enthusiasm when he said that he would recommend repeal of all acts giving autocratic powers to the executive.

The governor's drastic statements concerning the significance of the President's acts seemed to strike the people with amazement. They applauded his demand that the President take the people into his confidence.

His reference to the President met with booing from a section of the crowd. A reference to the Supreme court was applauded.

Throngs Line Parade Route.

When Gov. Landon arrived in this city he was taken on a two mile parade through streets lined with people who waved at him in friendly manner and cheered him.

A thousand Republican women waited at the Hotel Book-Cadillac to greet the governor. One of his first callers was Henry Ford. After half an hour's chat in the hotel room the governor and Mr. Ford went down to greet the women and then went for a drive through Dearborn to the Ford home.

Mr. Ford has said nothing during the present campaign, but his action today is considered significant for him. The Ford philosophy of industry and labor and the rôle of government and the Landon philosophy are not far apart.

FALL OFF WAGON FATAL.

Abe Pastka, 50 years old, 1850 South Troy street, a peddler, died yesterday in the county hospital from a skull fracture incurred on Monday in a fall from his wagon at 1123 West 14th street.

TEXT OF GOV. ALF M. LANDON'S SPEECH AT DETROIT

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The text of Gov. Alf M. Landon's address here tonight follows:

"Tonight I am going to discuss the threat of the present administration to our American form of government. I am going to discuss it in terms of the rights and opportunities secured to us as citizens by the constitution of the United States.

"Make no mistake about it, this threat to our form of government is a major issue in this campaign. It is time to bring it out into the open.

"We live in a world in which human liberties are falling. In nation after nation ideals of democracy have been swept away.

"In every case the process of destruction follows the same pattern. First the executive sets himself up as a popular leader and in the name of national emergency asks that additional authority be given to him.

Legislature Yields Powers.

"Then the legislature gradually yields more and more power to the executive, until the legislature becomes a mere instrument of the executive.

"Finally the courts of law are undermined, and the judiciary ceases to be a protection for the people.

"When this final stage is reached—when the independence of the courts is destroyed—the rights and liberties of the people are gone. The people then are at the mercy of the executive. The executive is all-powerful.

"We have seen the results of this process abroad. The first steps already have been taken here. Think back over the last three and one-half years, and see what has happened.

"In the name of emergency the President asked for and received the right to change the amount of gold in the dollar.

"In the name of emergency the President has accepted authority to issue three billion dollars of greenbacks.

"In the name of emergency the President asked for and received the power to set up a so-called stabilization fund of two billion dollars.

Secret Power Over Prices.

"He can use this fund secretly to buy or sell gold, silver, and foreign exchange at any price he sees fit. And he can use it to control the price of United States government bonds.

"In short, the President, in the name of emergency, has acquired almost complete control over the money and credit system of the nation. Think what that means. One man, without notice, can alter the value of the dollar—can threaten the savings and the purchasing power of the wages of every man and woman in this country.

"Also, in the name of emergency, the President asked for and received authority to determine how much agriculture and industry could produce and sell: at what wages and for how many hours labor could work.

"In the name of emergency the President asked for and received appropriations from congress to be spent at his discretion. These so-called blank checks have totaled thirteen and one-half billion dollars

Power Equal to 30 Predecessors.

"In other words, during a period of less than three and one-half years, one President has been given the power to spend almost without restrictions eight times as much as the discretionary spending power given to thirty Presidents over a period of 143 years.

"Congress, in effect, gave up its constitutional powers and surrendered its control over the spending policy of the government. Yet one of the most important victories in the history of popular government was that which won for the people's representatives control over the public purse. Congress never should abdicate the rights won by the blood of men determined to be free.

"Through this transfer of power over the purse-strings to the executive he has been able to override the rights of local communities and the states. He has been able to accomplish indirectly what the constitution forbids him to do directly. It is a shameful thing when our mayors and the governors of our several states must appear before the chief executive as supplicants, or else lose their share of the federal handout.

Tells of President's Boasts.

"The President spoke truly when he boasted before congress in his report on the state of the Union last January, 'we have built up new instruments of public power.' He spoke truly when he said these instruments could provide 'shackles for the liberties of the people . . . and . . . enslavement for the public.' The people of the United States never have authorized the President to set up powers that supersede their constitution. They do not want any government to have powers that could be used to shackle their liberties and enslave them.

"If I am elected I shall recommend to congress the repeal of all acts giving autocratic powers to the chief executive.

"I have listed only a few new powers asked for by the President. These powers were granted with the understanding that they were only temporary. But after the powers had been obtained, and after the emergency was clearly over, we were told that another emergency would be created if the power was given up.

Brands It a 'Mere Excuse.'

"In other words, the concentration of power in the hands of the President was not a question of temporary emergency. It was a question of permanent national policy. In my opinion the emergency of 1933 was a mere excuse.

"Upon this, it seems to me the evidence is unmistakable. As viewed by this administration, the unfavorable decisions of the Supreme court were mere annoying setbacks. They made no visible change in the drive for a stronger and stronger central government under a more and more powerful chief executive.

"If there has been a change of policy—it is time the American people were taken into the confidence of the administration and informed of its plans.

"Does the administration plan to reënact the NRA? Does it intend to return to the control of food products by Washington? If it does one, it must do the other. If we have an NRA, we must have an AAA. If we have an AAA, we must have an NRA. No nation can continue half regimented and half free.

Asks Course to Be Taken.

"Which course does this administration propose to follow? There is only one man who can answer this question, and that man is the candidate for reëlection to the presidency.

"National economic planning—the term used by this administration to describe its policy—violates the basic ideals of the American system. It starts on the assumption that the people are not capable of looking after their own affairs. It says that America's greatness was just an accident. This is not true. It is a libel on our people. From the day our nation was founded we have worked and saved and sacrificed for our greatness.

"Now this administration would put an end to individual effort. It has concluded that America must have a national economic plan. And without giving the people any choice in the matter, it has attempted to force such a plan upon our nation.

Congress Gets Its Orders.

"Congress has been told it must pass this law or that law. It has been told it must appropriate money for the President to spend as he sees fit. This has not been a question of executive leadership and advice in the drafting of laws. It has not been a question of the President sitting down around a table with experienced members of congressional committees and discussing what is best to be done.

"This administration has called upon its appointed subordinates to draft the laws. Then by executive pressure these laws were forced through congress without adequate debate. It is little wonder so many of these laws were declared unconstitutional.

"But this was not all. When any man dared criticize this policy of economic planning, the administration brought into use its gigantic propaganda machine to discredit him. Even the Supreme court did not escape. It made no difference that the court was only performing its duty when it declared unconstitutional laws which an untrammeled congress would not have passed, and a wise executive would not have signed.

PLANS FAIL TO WORK

But in spite of all these devises, in spite of the sweeping powers which the chief executive has accumulated, these plans have not worked.

"There is only one test we know in America for judging a plan. It is the test of: 'Did it work?'

"Not, 'Did it sound well?' 'Did it look well on paper?'

"It is, 'did it work?' By that test, the plans of this administration have failed.

"During the life of the NRA codes which supposedly were designed to put men back to work, 500,000 more people, according to the figures of the American Federation of Labor, joined the ranks of the unemployed. And the department of agriculture, itself, has estimated that the AAA, by its cotton program alone, destroyed in 1934 the equivalent of jobs for a million men.

"This whole economic planning has not led to the promised security. It has disturbed industry, prolonged unemployment, and delayed recovery.

Pyramids Its Regulations.

"But there is a lot more to it than this. National planning forces the government to reach far beyond the field of business. It cannot allow its plans to be disrupted by unsympathetic citizens or by a critical press. The government must force the nonconformer into line. Therefore, it has to pile regulation upon regulation and order upon order.

"The price of economic planning is the loss of economic freedom. And economic freedom and personal liberty go hand in hand.

"Remember the threat to our economic freedom in the first two years of this administration. Remember how step followed step until finally it was made a crime, punishable by fine or imprisonment, to grow potatoes, to sell potatoes, even to buy potatoes, unless they came within a quota fixed by Washington. And remember, that threat was killed because the justices of the Supreme court respected their oath of office.

Finds Brains Outside Capital.

"Now, any administration that attempts to run the daily lives of its people, to make their business decisions, to supervise their farms, is working on the theory that it is far wiser than its people. But the present administration goes beyond this. It apparently believes that with the concentration of power in Washington came a concentration of intelligence.

"But when I look around and see the automobiles on our roads I sometimes suspect that right here in Detroit there are a few brains tucked away that somehow have escaped the notice of Washington.

"I can remember when there was no automobile industry. I can remember when people first began to talk about that crazy new invention, the horseless buggy. And so far as I know, the horse and buggy went out and the horseless buggy came in without benefit of any planners in Washington.

Built Without "Brain Trust."

"The government at Washington did not build the automobile industry. The government in Washington did not make it possible for twenty million of our citizens to own automobiles. The government in Washington did not give employment to millions in this new industry and the dozens of related industries.

"What built the automobile industry that has done so much for this country and its people? The very qualities that his administration holds up to scorn—American initiative, American energy and American frugality. Yet today we are told that initiative must be controled, that energy and hard work must be restricted, that saving has become a crime against society.

"The pioneers of Detroit dreamed of producing automobiles at so low a price that they could be owned by the many. They have made their dream come true.

Industry Opposes NRA.

"The automobile industry, instead of talking about recovery, has worked for recovery. This industry has led the way back from depression. And I do not think it is without significance that this industry resisted at every turn the compulsory regulations imposed by the NRA. Indeed, one of its most distinguished leaders never signed the code of the Blue Eagle.

"The automobile industry was not content to stand still. Instead it used all the intelligence it could command to improve its product, lower its price, and enlarge its market. In this way it has returned thousands to work—real work at real wages.

"There could be no better example to show that the need of this country is not for a government that attempts to direct and manage our lives. The need is for a government that will protect our rights and foster American initiative, energy, and frugality.

Cites Duty of Government.

"It is the first duty of government to protect us from abuses—from the abuses of concentrated power, whether that power be public or private. The protection against the abuse of private power is vigilant insistence that free competition be preserved. The protection against the abuse of public power is vigilant insistence on the rights of our citizens under the constitution.

"If the federal government does not have the authority, under the constitution, to prevent the abuse of private power, it should go to the people and ask for this authority. The way is clear, the mechanism is defined by the constitution itself. I do not condemn requests for new powers when they seem to be necessary. But I do condemn efforts to obtain powers by devious methods without the people's consent.

"If the President thinks agricultural and industrial anarchy can be prevented only by the reënactment of the principles of NRA and AAA, let him say so. Let him tell us—and tell us before election day—just what amendments to the constitution he has in mind. By his silence on this he is attempting to dodge the fundamental issue of this campaign—the issue of whether he intends to change the form of our government—whether labor, agriculture, and business are to be directed and managed by government—directed and managed by politics.

"I do not believe that greater and greater concentration of power in the hands of the federal government, and particularly in the executive, is either necessary or wise. I believe that we should continue to use our 48 sovereign states to try out new ideas in the field of government. However, if I am elected and find that new powers are needed by the federal government, I shall favor congress going to the people openly and ask for such powers through a constitutional amendment. The people must be given full opportunity to debate the issues involved before they take the momentous step of changing the charter of their freedom.

"This charter—our constitution—has served us well. It served our fathers well.

"We have only to look abroad to see that in many countries the charter of freedom is no more. Let us not forget this. In many countries of this world today the people no longer have the freedom to sing in open worship of the faith of their fathers. They gather in hidden places, and while they sing the soldiery of despotism is pounding at their doors and carrying away their pastors and their priests.

"From the colleges and schools of those countries great teachers have fled, and those who remain speak not by their own belief and conscience, but by the dictates of the state. Generations are growing up in those countries who never have known the free search for truth.

"In those countries freedom of thought is gone. Freedom of speech is gone. Freedom of the press is gone. Freedom of worship is gone.

"We in America cannot ignore these warnings. We must not, out of regard for any man or men, blind ourselves to the forces that are loose in the world. It is not a question of any man or men. It is a question of human freedom."

FORD HALTED AT LANDON'S SUITE; GUARD'S SORRY

Detroit, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Gov. Alf M. Landon, invading industrial Michigan for the third major speech of his campaign in the lake states, came near being deprived of meeting Henry Ford.

Mr. Ford was waiting in the hotel suite when Gov. Landon arrived.

A guard, not recognizing the manufacturer, held out an arm to bar his entrance with a "Wait a minute."

A fellow guard interposed: "He's all right."

The arm dropped as the owner smiled and said: "Pardon me, Mr. Ford, I guess I've seen you before."

18 DRIVERS SENT TO JAIL; RECORD IN SAFETY COURT

Three Day Holiday Jams Trafic Docket.

Eighteen persons were sentenced to jail for trafic law violations by Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Safety court yesterday. It was a record number of such sentences for this court.

More than 600 persons, defendants, witnesses and attorneys, jammed into the Safety court and filled the fifth floor of the Criminal courts building after a three day holiday period brought the number of cases to a record high. There were 118 new defendants, and in addition 42 continued cases were scheduled to be heard during the day.

Convicts 2 Drivers of Same Auto.

Two drivers of the same automobile were found guilty of driving while intoxicated by Judge Graber, and they were sentenced to ten days each in the county jail. The men were Thomas Galvin, 27 years old, 463 West 24th street, and John Buggie, 44 years old, 1819 South California avenue. Testimony indicated that Galvin was driving his car when it collided with one driven by Samuel Cohen, 1537 South St. Louis avenue. The cars stopped, and Cohen warned the men to wait until the police arrived. Buggie, however, slipped into the driver's seat and drove off in the machine. Galvin was arrested, and Buggie was later taken into custody when he appeared at the police station to bail out Galvin.

Ten Days for Seven Others.

Seven others of the 18 defendants were given 10 day sentences to the county jail on charges of driving while intoxicated. They were:

Carl Strand, 27 years old, Elmhurst; Edward Gnatz, 30 years old, 3233 Fulton street; Charles Pacholsky, 41 years old, 1112 North Irving avenue; Robert Strickland, 26 years old, 5120 South State street; Joseph Clark, 31 years old, 8957 Green Bay avenue; Lawrence Block, 36 years old, New York, and William Anderson, 25 years old, Batavia. George E. Braun, 47 years old, 2753 Fullerton avenue, and Thomas McNaughton, 3226 Walnut street, also were sentenced for driving while drunk. They got five days each.

Five Reckless Drivers Sentenced.

Five of the defendants were sentenced to five days in jail for reckless driving. They were George Bauman, 20 years old, 1821 Blue Island avenue; Albert Gedmine, 21 years old, 6453 South Kominsky avenue; Elmer Olson, 42 years old, 1105 Wellington avenue; Arthur Goff, 27 years old, 234 West 113th place, and Edward Zimmerman, 30 years old, 5601 Drexel avenue.

Benjamin Segal, 52 years old, 6202 Broadway, was sentenced to serve five days in the county jail on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

Elwood Heady, 40 years old, 3745 Indiana avenue, was sentenced to serve twenty-one days in jail for reckless driving, but the sentence was considered served when the court learned that Heady had spent three weeks in jail awaiting trial.

Municipal Judge Le Roy Dawson of Los Angeles praised Chicago's methods of dealing with trafic violators after he sat with Judge John Gutknecht in the Trafic court yesterday. He termed radio broadcasting of court procedure the best educational medium that could be used.

Arraigned as Jacksnipe Hunter; Granted Delay

Guido Rosellini, 53 years old, 2318 South Claremont avenue, obtained a continuance to Oct. 20 on his arraignment yesterday before Judge Leon Edelman on a charge of shooting jacksnipe out of season. He was arrested Sunday by Peter Thanasulas, deputy state game warden, in a marsh near Calumet lake.

GOV. LANDON ATTENDS CHAPEL SERVICE WITH HENRY AND EDSEL FORD

Dearborn, Mich., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Alf M. Landon sat this afternoon in the balcony of the small, peaceful chapel of Martha-Mary at Greenfield Village. Behind him sat Henry Ford; beside him, Edsel Ford. The children sang the Landon campaign song, with the last two lines changed to:

"O, Mr. Landon, we're surely strong for you,

"We've spoken to our daddies and we're sure they'll vote for you."

The services at the chapel followed a three hour conference and luncheon at Henry Ford's home in Dearborn.

Present at the luncheon were Gov. Landon, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Edsel B. Ford, Senator Arthur Vandenberg, former Gov. Wilber M. Brucker, Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, William J. Cameron of the Ford Motor company, and Howard Lawrence, chairman of the state central Republican committee.

Gov. Landon and Mr. Ford did "not discuss politics exactly—Mr. Ford of course is not a politician," Mr. Cameron said. Mr. Ford declined to comment on the afternoon's conference, saying that his comment "will come later."

At the chapel service, Gov. Landon bowed his head as the children repeated the Lord's Prayer and the 100th Psalm.

Then, as the service was not an exclusively religious one, they sang, "The Last Roundup."

Evanston Postmaster Ill; Undergoes an Operation

Postmaster George Norman Taylor Jr. of Evanston was reported to be in a satisfactory condition last night in the Augustana hospital following an emergency operation performed earlier in the day by Dr. John Nuzum. Mr. Taylor was taken ill Monday night in his home at 2651 Eastwood avenue in the suburb.

DRIVER IS KILLED IN SUMMIT WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

William Miller, 48 years old, 1437 South Winona avenue, Berwyn, an employé of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, South Chicago works, was fatally injured yesterday when his automobile was struck by a westbound train at the Harlem avenue crossing of the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad in Summit.

Miller was crushed in the wreckage of the car, which was carried thirty feet by the train, a Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific freight outbound from the stockyards. Daniel Daley, 933 North Leamington avenue, engineer, told the Summit police that Miller apparently tried to beat the train to the crossing, which is protected by flasher signals.

H. Glenn McClug, 1414 Hood avenue, was killed last night when his automobile crashed into the rear of a truck near Wapella, Ill., 17 miles south of Bloomington.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 766 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. In the same period 588 were killed and 14,930 injured in trafic accidents in Chicago.

CROWDS WATCH FIREMEN FIGHT NO. SIDE BLAZE

Seven Trucks Blow Up in Flaming Garage.

A roaring fire wrecked the Dominick Cartage Service company garage at 1741-51 Altgeld street last night. It destroyed seven trucks inside the garage, lighted up a section of the north side, and for a time threatened to destroy a block of frame dwellings.

Truck company 21 was the first fire department unit to reach the scene. It answered a still alarm turned in by a neighbor who saw flames flickering inside the one story frame garage, which occupies a frontage of about 125 feet.

Trucks' Tanks Blow Up.

Chief Joseph Deickman of the 13th battalion arrived with the fire truck and called for more equipment. The next moment the gasoline tanks of the trucks in the garage blew up in a series of blasts. Chief Deickman turned in a 4-11 alarm.

A caravan of fire fans, which followed the sirens, drove their automobiles into Altgeld street. As more pieces of equipment arrived in response to the extra alarms the heavy fire engines had to force their way through the swarm of cars.

The heat from the blazing garage, which was now afire from end to end, scorched the exteriors of the parked cars and their drivers fled to safer ground.

Battle to Save Dwellings.

Streams of water were poured on a line of frame houses across the street from the garage. Families hastily evacuated them. The intense heat turned the paint brown and nearly ignited the wood.

Seeing the crowd growing larger and getting out of control, Lieut. Michael Loftus of the Sheffield avenue police asked for aid. Squads responded from all nearby districts until nearly 100 policemen were on hand. They soon controled the throng and succeeded in untangling the trafic jam.

According to the police, the fire started when a kerosene lamp was accidentally overturned by three men at work in the garage. The damage was estimated at $20,000 to $25,000.

William Lister Resigns as Attorney for Evanston

William Lister, veteran corporation counsel of Evanston, resigned last night, announcing he wished to devote more time to his private law practice in Chicago. He has an office at 1 North La Salle street. Mayor Charles H. Bartlett, with the approval of the city council, appointed as Lister's successor Attorney Ralph D. Shanesy, who has offices at 1601 Orrington avenue, Evanston.

TAVERN KEEPER SHOT WHEN HE BATTLES BANDIT

When a gunman shouted "Hands up!" in a tavern at 2360 Cottage Grove avenue early today John Doherty, 38 years old, part owner of the place, seized an iron bar and began to belabor the intruder. The gunman fired twice, the bullets striking Doherty in the shoulder and hip. He fell, but his last blow sent the bandit sprawling. Doherty's condition was said to be serious.

Fred Thomas, 35 years old, 324 East 25th street, a customer, grabbed the bar and beat the robber into insensibility. Police revived him and took him to the Pekin Inn station, where he gave his name as Thomas Pinc, 32 years old, 2920 South Union avenue.

Lawrence College Faculty Prefers Landon, 25 to 16

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—A straw vote taken among the faculty of Lawrence college showed the Republican presidential candidate, Gov. Alf M. Landon, polling 25 votes as against 16 for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

AUTO DEVICE TO LIMIT SPEEDERS ADOPTED IN N. Y.

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The use of a mechanical governor to limit the speed of motor cars has been officially adopted by the state to force drivers convicted of reckless driving to go at a slow pace.

Charles Harnett, state commissioner of motor vehicles, made public today the fact that licenses requiring the use of such speed governors have been issued to six persons.

The device is attached to the carburetor. It permits the regular flow of gasoline until the volume is large enough to create a speed of twenty-five miles an hour. Then the device locks the carburetor and the speed cannot be increased above that point.

One of the licenses was issued to a man who caused the deaths of three persons when he drove his car at the rate of fifty-five miles an hour over the top of a hill and increased his speed to seventy on the way down. He lost control of the car and struck a wagon.

The holder of such a license is restricted to the use of a car equipped with such a governor.

HAMILTON FINDS LANDON TIDE IS RUNNING STRONG

G. O. P. Chairman Jeers at Farley "Brag."

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

John Hamilton, G. O. P. national chairman, said at a press conference yesterday the tide is running so strongly for Gov. Alf M. Landon that "there is absolutely no question in my mind but that we'll win this election."

With the Nov. 3 polls just three weeks away, the red headed Kansan declared recent reports from the pivotal states where the battling has been most intense shows they are headed towar dthe Landon-Knox ticket.

He added that the actions of the New Deal administration in Minnesota and Nebraska indicate that James A. Farley, Democratic impresario and job dispenser, has changed his mind about the results being "in the brag," as Hamilton phrased it.

Predicts Victory in Illinois.

"Since June," said Mr. Hamilton, "I've never had any doubt that Gov. Landon would carry Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New York. We're also going to carry Illinois. I'm putting Wisconsin in the Republican column now. We are getting help from conservative Democrats, and recent reports from Wisconsin are most encouraging.

"We're going to carry every state east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio. South of the Ohio we'll carry West Virginia. West of the Mississippi we'll carry eight or ten states. I have no doubt of the results.

"Two things are turning the people against the New Deal and toward Gov. Landon. First, the accumulation of information since the Cleveland convention is overcoming the propaganda of the New Deal during the last three and a half years.

Landon a Forceful Executive.

"Second, Gov. Landon in his recent speeches has established himself for what he is and was in Kansas, a forceful, logical, clear thinking executive."

Chairman Hamilton, in high spirits, slapped the table and grinned as he commented upon a question as to whether he viewed it as a close election or a landslide.

"We're going to win," he said, "but by how great a margin will depend upon the ability of the Republican organization to bring home to the workingman that Mr. Roosevelt's pretended interest in his problems is merely lip service. If this is brought home, Mr. Roosevelt will be as badly beaten as Mr. Smith in 1928 and Mr. Hoover in 1932."

In Minnesota and Nebraska.

The Minnesota and Nebraska developments were brought in by the G. O. P. committee head.

"All sorts of evidence is coming in contradicting the statements of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Farley that the campaign is 'in the bag,'" Hamilton said. "Their actions in Minnesota and Nebraska don't carry out the victory theme song they have been trying to weave into the campaign.

"It is certain that the President would not have abandoned the Democratic candidate for senator in Nebraska in favor of Senator Norris and embraced the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota after certain Democratic candidates were thrown overboard, unless he and Mr. Farley were scared to death of the outcome.

Strikes at "Repudiation."

"In Syracuse the President 'repudiated' the communists. But the New Deal in supporting the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota is aligned with a group which is nearest to organized communist movement which we have in the United States."

Answering questions, Hamilton said he did not know whether Senator William E. Borah of Idaho would make any campaign speeches for the Landon-Knox ticket.

In regard to the Literary Digest poll he said he "still feels as Mr. Farley did in 1932, that the poll is a reliable barometer of political trends."

N. Y. VOLUNTEERS PUSH CAMPAIGN INTO 'HIGH GEAR'

Bid for 'Enlistment' of Outraged Democrats.

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The new Volunteer organization in the east, organized to conduct a militant person-to-person, house-to-house campaign in behalf of Gov. Alf Landon and Col. Frank Knox, moved into high gear today in a conclusive plan to swing bewildered and disappointed Democrats into line behind the Republican national ticket.

The first thrust of this Volunteer group of Landon-Knox supporters, who are furthering the work started several months ago in Chicago by Chauncey McCormick, was a direct bid for "enlistment" and election aid of former Democratic voters who have lost faith in the New Deal administration's extravagant policies and inability to keep its promises.

Seek 10,000 Enrollers.

Machinery was perfected today for the immediate enrollment of 10,000 such voters—Democrats, as well as thousands of Republicans and independents, who want no more of the New Deal, but desire instead, regardless of their former party affiliations, to see stable policies of government restored.

It is with this idea of crystalizing sentiment and enrolling hesitant voters of similar convictions who possibly may not go to the polls unless "stimulated," that the Volunteer organization today moved with "full steam ahead."

From the Volunteer headquarters here, under the direction of C. T. S Keep, prominent New York City real estate operator, 10,000 copies of a "Declaration of Independence by Democrats" have been printed and distributed.

Chain Letter Variation.

This unique declaration, carrying out the Volunteers' initial campaign idea of enrolling disillusioned Democrats along with the hesitant Republican stay-at-homes and discontented independents, carries designations for ten signatures, each signer to secure the signatures of ten more potential Volunteer workers for Landon and Knox. This variation of the chain letter method of wide circulation, Mr. Keep said today, already has given the Volunteer leaders in New York ample assurance of enrolling thousands of normally Democratic voters behind the Republican standard before the Nov. 3 election.

The declaration, as presented in the form of a petition to voters who normally support the Democratic ticket, cites Franklin Roosevelt's "continuous violations of the principles" of the Democratic party, his failure to fulfill public promises, New Deal wastefulness, the tendency to install a federal dictatorship, and the tendency to undermine the constitution.

Uphold Party Traditions.

Some excerpts follow:

"We are not politicians. We neither hold nor aspire to public office.

"As Democrats we believe in the traditional principles of our party as embodied in the 1932 platform.

"We reaffirm our faith in simplicity, economy, and common sense in government.

"Holding these views, we charge:

"That Franklin D. Roosevelt continuously has violated the traditional principles of the party that elected him, and has failed to perform its public promises;

"That he has conducted his administration as a personal and factional enterprise;

"That he has driven from the councils of the party those leaders who have differed with him, or has reduced them to submission;

"That he has adopted the experiments of theorists whose concepts of government are hostile to democratic principles . . . with resultant waste and confusion.

"That he has debased the civil service;

"That he has allowed a political machine to be built on the distress of the unemployed;

"That he has undermined the self-reliance of millions of our people;

"That he has usurped many of the rights and duties of congress;

"That he has broken down the rights and responsibilities of the states and local governments;

"That he has treated the constitution with contempt and attempted to discredit the courts;

"That he has squandered the people's money;

Piles Up Debt Burden.

"That he has piled up government deficits and debt burdens for generations to come.

"First and last we are American citizens who no longer will remain silent. The conclusion is inevitable that Mr. Roosevelt no longer is a Democrat, and that his continued domination is a threat to the existence of our party and the American way of life. We declare our independence.

"There is no method of casting out the Roosevelt control of our party except by voting for Gov. Landon."

He is taking the leadership in organizign The Volunteer movement in Douglas county, with plans to carry on an intensive campaign among the farmers and laborers.

SURPRISE VISIT IS PAID TO G. O. P. BY INVESTIGATOR

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—While the Republican national finance committee for New York City was preparing for a "victory week" drive for funds an investigator for the United States senate committee investigating campaign contributions descended on the committee today and spent an hour digging into its records. The quest was for the names of large contributors.

The visit of the investigator caused surprise because the records examined by him had been prepared, in compliance with the law, for filing with the clerk of the house of representatives on or before next Saturday.

In view of this officials connected with the gathering of funds to finance the Landon-Knox campaign professed to be mystified over the demand for a pre-view of the finance committee's record and what purpose the examination possibly could serve aside from a political purpose. It was suggested to Robert H. Thayer, chairman of the New York City branch, that it might be for the purpose of intimidating would-be contributors.

Mr. Thayer said that so far in the campaign there had been 39,000 individual contributors in this city alone, as compared with 32,952 in the entire country in the presidential campaign four years ago. In the entire country, he said, 375,000 individuals have contributed to the present Republican campaign.

VOLUNTEERS NOW MILLION STRONG, AND JUST BEGUN

100,000 Canvassers Aid Defense of Liberty.

Neighbors, this news item reports the celebration of one million Volunteers!

That is to say, one million American citizens who have, through a desire to maintain the American spirit in government, united their efforts to prevent what they deem a wasteful and destructive process headed toward communism and dictatorship.

When the Volunteers movement was started there remained only 57 days in which to save the country.

Three-fourths of those days have passed. But nearly 100,000 women have given their time and talents to a house to house campaign. It has been more than house to house. It has been person to person.

Women Aid More and More.

More about the women Volunteers. They have made more than 200,000 chain telephone calls. Each telephone call has been a request for more telephone calls.

More about women. There have been 10,000 regular women leaders registered out of the Volunteers headquarters. Each one of these 10,000 has made it her personal concern to register more leaders in the neighborhoods.

More about the women. They have duplicated in every political subdivision of Chicago, Cook county and in the immediately surrounding counties, repeat, they have duplicated the work of the regular Republican organization. There is a woman chairman in each ward in Chicago. There is a woman chairman in each precinct in Chicago. There is a woman chairman in nearly every block in Chicago.

Hold 250 Meetings Here Alone.

And that isn't all for the women. They have appointed chairmen in each large hotel and office building. They have done the same thing in each large industry. Women Volunteers have sponsored and carried out more than 250 [count them, two hundred and fifty] meetings in Chicago and the immediately surrounding territory. In one meeting a week ago more than 10,000 Volunteer pledge cards were turned in.

Yes, and on registration alone! In a period of three weeks there was one group of alert women which made more than 100,000 telephone calls urging the voters to get out and register. They worked day and night. The ward and precinct workers pulled door bells and helped voters on the registration days.

Again and again the women! The Business and Professional Women's League of the Volunteers has enlisted nearly 15,000 Volunteers and has rendered a mail service to 60,000 persons. In Galesburg one meeting of this group signed up 5,500 Volunteers.

Men Organized Down to Blocks.

Now we get around to the men. There are still a thousand things left in the women's reports, but they must wait for another day. Now there is a chairman of men Volunteers in each of the fifty wards in Chicago. There is a chairman of men Volunteers in each precinct and nearly each block. In some of the larger wards there are five men chairmen. Their responsibilities are divided down to the blocks. There is a chairman of men in each county town in Cook county. There are sixty chairmen and active leaders in Du Page county alone.

Every Illinois county has a chairman of men Volunteers. Each county chairman has an organization of township chairmen. The townships are divided into districts. There are Volunteer canvassers in each.

Thirty-eight downstate newspapers joined the Volunteer movement. The number increases every day. In one meeting held in Robinson, Ill., there were 7,500 persons. Every one signe da Volunteer pledge.

Midwest Activity Intense.

Practically every county in Iowa has a Volunteer unit. The same is true in each of the middle western states. Detroit has a bustling headquarters out of which a fanwise organization has spread over the state, with regional headquarters in such cities as Jackson, Lansing, and Flint.

Philadelphia has established 100 recruiting stations. When the Pennsylvania campaign started the action was spontaneous in nine counties overnight. The movement is catching on and rolling up with each day.

In New York, in Dayton, O., in Milwaukee, and, in fact, in all of the key cities the response to the idea of an independent movement against New Dealism has been contagious.

The Volunteers organized, financed, and staged the huge Landon meeting in the Chicago Stadium. That brings us to music.

Music a Powerful Factor.

The music division of the Volunteers has enlisted nearly 1,000 outstanding singers, instrumentalists, radio stars, dramatists and dancers. Music and entertainment have been supplied for an average of three political meetings a day since the campaign started. In three meetings more than 40,000 persons were entertained by the talented Volunteers. Nearly 100,000 copies of Volunteers' songs have been distributed. More than 100 recordings have been made of the principal campaign songs.

More than 500 trained speakers have been assigned out of the Volunteers headquarters to address political meetings of all kinds.

And the battle is only beginning.

Former Gov. Louis L. Emmerson and George Hatzenbuhler, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, joined The Volunteers yesterday. The former governor enrolled at the Republican headquarters in the La Salle hotel and Mr. Hatzenbuhler registered in The Volunteer offices in the Tribune Tower.

"When the history of the Republican victory is written," Mr. Hatzenbuhler said, "it will be seen that The Volunteers did as much or more than any other organization in the country to bring it about."

The Volunteer unit in the Thirty-fourth ward has opened headquarters at 3567 Armitage avenue, it was announced yesterday. Ray F. Thiesse is chairman of the unit and Mrs. J. M. McDonough is head of the women's division.

A Volunteer luncheon, sponsored by the Forty-ninth ward women's Republican organization, will be held this noon in the Sovereign hotel, 6200 Kenmore avenue. Mrs. Harry Newby is chairman of the meeting and Mrs. David H. Jackson is co-chairman.

QUINCY UNVEILS PLAQUE MARKING HISTORIC DEBATE

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Turning to a page in history written almost a century ago, citizens today dedicated a plaque marking the spot where Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas held the sixth of their seven famous debates.

In making the address of commemoration, Louis A. Warren of Fort Wayne emphasized Lincoln's reactions to slavery.

He declared that "the proclamation of emancipation was one of the most far-reaching papers ever issued. It not only liberated immediately 4 million black men held in bondage, but sounded a new and significant note in democratic government."

The memorial, designed by Lorado Taft, sculptor, stands in Washington park.

There the rugged Illinois backwoodsman who was destined to become President and the "great emancipator" pitted his relatively poor ability as a public speaker against the oratorical brilliance of the jurist.

Both were candidates for the United States senate. Douglas defeated Lincoln in the election, but the prestige the latter gained from their debates helped win for him the presidential nomination two years later.

Gov. Henry Horner came to dedicate the memorial.

A PLEA TO YOUTH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt came here tonight after a day long political invasion of Kansas to address 18,000 youths, members of the Young Democratic clubs of twelve Mississippi valley states, and assure them in ringing tones that "America has only begun to march."

Speaking in Kansas City's new municipal auditorium, he told the boys and girls that "our fight is to keep our democracy safe by keeping it moving forward."

Much of the speech was a repetition of the phrases he used in his Baltimore address of some weeks ago. But while that talk was greeted rather coldly, the organized young Democrats of the middle west whooped it up under the inspiration of Mr. Roosevelt's resounding phrases.

Paints Dark 1932 Picture.

The President spoke of the "black future" which lay ahead of the youth of America when he took office. Youth had come to the end of the road, he asserted. No one could help them but the government, he declared. He related his setting up of the CCC camps, the inauguration of the National Youth administration.

By spending many millions the New Deal has "cleared the ground of what was a social and economic wilderness," the President asserted.

In his sweep across Kansas before coming to Missouri Mr. Roosevelt left behind him a trail of political oratory in which he assailed Republicans for spreading "fairy tales" and "the gospel of fear."

Security as Confidence.

The word "security," used so often by the President in his speeches, was used by him, he said, "not in the narrower sense of old age pensions and of unemployment insurance."

"I use it in the broader sense, confidence on the part of men and women, willing to carry on normal work, and willing to think of their neighbors as well as themselves, that they will not have to worry about losing their homes; about not having enough to eat, about becoming objects of charity.

"Add to that one more objective—that all Americans may have full opportunity for education, for reasonable leisure and recreation, for the right to carry on representative government and for freedom to worship God in their own way."

Tells Three Meanings.

The three classifications of "security" and the methods he is using in an attempt to procure it were told by the President.

"First," he said, "immediate and direct assistance—including work for the unemployed; help for drouth areas, assistance to the youth of the nation.

"Secondly, protection against recognized abuses of many kinds, including the battle of the federal government against kidnaping, blackmail, and other menaces to life and liberty; the regulation of stock exchanges; regulation of some utility companies; elimination of unsafe banking practices.

"And thirdly—the reduction of interest rates, the saving of farms and homes from mortgage foreclosures; the insurance of bank deposits; old age pensions; unemployment insurance—these and many more like them give you a broad picture of the more permanent and long range measures, many of which will improve not only your lives but those of your children."

Farmers as an Example.

Mr. Roosevelt said that "the school of thought" had left Washington "that would have us believe that those vast numbers of average citizens who do not get to the top of the economic ladder do not deserve the security which government alone can give them.

"The farmers of the nation are a good example of what government can do, not only in direct help but in providing security for the future," he stated. "From a state collapse in 1932, agriculture has not only been brought back to life but has received the encouragement of government which enables it to face the future with confidence.

"We have not lost our self-respect. We have not changed our form of government. We have a net national debt which, though greater in dollars, is actually less in proportion to the income of the nation and in proportion to the wealth of the nation than the national debt was on March 4, 1933."

Kansas Crowds Curious.

In the home state of Gov. Alf M. Landon the President was greeted by large crowds who were both curious and friendly. At Wichita, where the 75th anniversary of the admission of Kansas to the Union is being celebrated, 20,000 persons heard the President speak of "whispering ghosts and bogey men" and "this silly false fear which is being preached."

Mr. Roosevelt also sought to soothe the injured feelings aroused by Jim Farley's contemptuous comment of Kansas as a "typical prairie state." Kansas is a "great farming state," the President remarked.

"Fight Over" After Election.

He prefaced his Wichita speech with an extemporaneous remark which to many of his hearers seemed to carry a note of apology for the bitter epithets he has applied to the Republican opposition.

"You know," he said, "we in the United States have a habit every four years of having a grand knock-down, drag out, Kilkenny fight, and getting over it the day after election."

He added that the election was exactly three weeks from today.

"I hope to survive those three weeks," he commented.

Members of the Presidential party were elated at the size of the Kansas crowds until informed that Alfred E. Smith attracted even larger audiences on his unsuccessful campaign across the state in 1928. Kansas has not seen a President in many decades. Woodrow Wilson came to the state while he was in office but collapsed in Wichita and did not make a public appearance.

Lashes "Fairy Tales."

If he ever wrote another book, he declared, he would have "an amusing chapter" relating ho wthe American people "on the third of November, 1936, refused to be frightened by fairy tales."

"The Republican leaders have told you all kinds of things about what this administration is trying to do," he said. "They have tried to spread the gospel of fear not only in the factories, which is an old shop worn trick, but this year they are trying to bring fear even into the homes and firesides of America."

"But I know that the people of this country have not such short memories. They remember only too well the real fear—the justified fear—felt all over the nation in 1932, to be frightened by this silly, false fear now being preached."

Money at Mass Expense.

A "devil-take-the-hindmost" policy brought the nation to the point of disaster in 1932, he contended. A few "speculators" made vast profits at the expense of the "great masses," he declared.

"In the spring of 1933 these same speculators pleaded with me for help—help of any kind—just so long as it would save them from bankruptcy," he asserted. "Most people thought they had learned their lesson. We hoped they would join with our average citizens in working for some kind of security against a recurrence of those panic years.

"Yet here they are—three years later—giving vague lip service to that word security and at the same time seeking to block, to thwart, and to annul every measure that we have taken to restrain the kind of individualism which hurts the community itself—individualism run amok."

ROOSEVELT JOSHES WHITE ON ABSENCE, BUT WHITE'S THERE

Emporia, Kas., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—When his special train reached this town today President Roosevelt emerged upon the rear platform all prepared to joke about the absence in the welcoming committee of William Allen White, the "sage of Emporia" and supporter of Gov. Alf M. Landon.

"I don't see Bill White," he remarked to the crowd. "I wish he were here because he's a very old friend of mine. No, I'll qualify that; he's a good friend of mine three and a half years out of every four."

Some one pointed out White in the crowd. Mr. Roosevelt laughed and shouted: "Hello, Bill; now that I see you I won't talk about that other six months."

"You people in Emporia get so much politics both ways that I won't bore you," he went on. "I do notice that people are taking a greater interest in their government and I am confident that several million more votes will be cast this year than ever before." The President fired a shot at the American press, a majority of which opposes the New Deal. "People are making up their own minds these days," he said. "They're not believing everything they hear and they're certainly not believing everything they read."

White, editor of the Emporia Gazette, responded to the urging of the crowd and went forward and shook hands with the President.

Experts Study Relief Setup to Work Out Economies

Three efficiency experts began yesterday an inspection of Chicago relief stations to reduce administrative expenses. The men were made available by the Chicago Association of Commerce at the request of City Relief Commissioner Leo M. Lyons. Lyons said that, although the staf recently was cut from 2,200 to 1,100 persons, he wants to ascertain whether further savings are possible. County Treasurer Gill yesterday received $995,822 in state funds, representing the first half of the October allocation to local relief agencies in Cook county.

REDS WRITE PLEA TO ROOSEVELT ON BALLOT BAN HERE

The Illinois committee of the communist party sent a letter yesterday to President Roosevelt charging that the Democratic party is doing the bidding of "Republican reactionaries" by the decision to bar the communist party from the ballot in the coming election. The decision, the letter said, "has contributed to an outright denial of the civil rights of the people, to an arbitrary withdrawal of constitutional guarantees."

The letter asked President Roosevelt to make his position on the matter clear in his speech tonight at the Chicago Stadium, and declared:

"Outright denial of democracy and civil liberties in Illinois or any other state has sinister meaning for the entire nation. You have spoken disparagingly of 'economic royalists.' But what words have you and the Democratic party for those who introduce royalist tactics into that greatest instrument of democracy—a general election?

"Will you, the President of these United States, sworn to defend and protect the constitution of the United States, remain unmoved by the spectacle of that constitution's violation?"

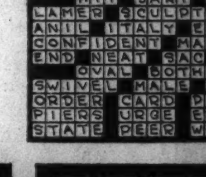
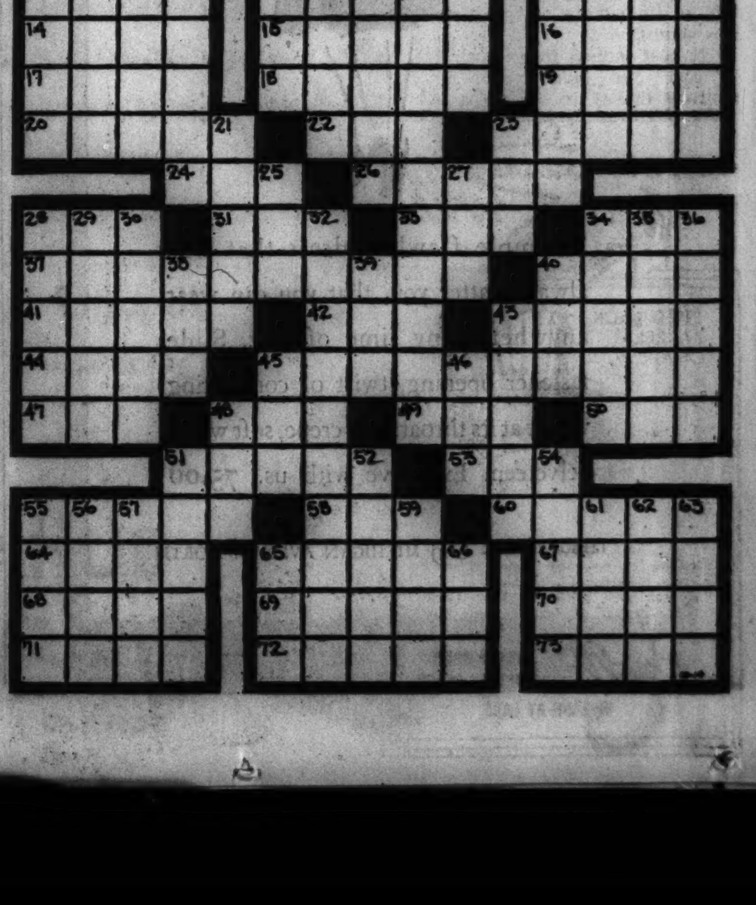
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





TEXT OF SPEECH BY PRESIDENT AT KANSAS CITY, MO.

Pleads with Youth for Support.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The following is the text of President Roosevelt's speech here today:

"It is good to see once again smiling faces, and to hear happy cheers from young America.

"I have just come through eastern Colorado and western Kansas—parts of our national dust bowl—where deep holes in the ground and swirling clouds of dust show the erosion which years of man's neglect has wrought in the soil. And in your own state you have all seen other examples of waste in the physical resources of our country—water, trees, birds, and other wild life.

"But through the years of this depression we have had destruction even more tragic than that—waste in men and women, in human skill, character, and life. Of all of the appalling waste of the days of false prosperity and recent disaster, human erosion has been the most ominous.

Take Stock of Humanity.

"There was unfortunately for a long time in the high places of government in Washington a school of thought that human waste was the concern only of private charity and local communities. We have learned a lot since those days. We no longer believe that human beings hit by flood, drouth, unemployment, or any other national disaster should be left to themselves with the sole help of such charity as may be locally available to them. It may not be enough to go round.

"Government since 1933 has begun to take stock of the human resources of the nation and it is determined to preserve them.

"As we take stock we recognize that the most priceless of our human assets are the young men and women of America—the raw material out of which the United States must shape its future.

"Nature's deepest instinct is the concern in every parent's heart for the welfare of the children. It is a law of nature which equals even the instinct for the preservation of life. Indeed, it is part of that law, for without the preservation of youth the race itself would perish. And so the highest duty of any government is to order public affairs so that opportunities for youth shall be made ever broader and firmer.

U. S. Gives Better Chance.

"We Americans have never lost our sense of this obligation. To a greater degree than any other peoples we have sought to give each rising generation a little better chance in life than the one that preceded it. The little red schoolhouse for the education of the young and the church for the training of spiritual qualities have always been the first structures to rise in every new settlement as our ancestors pushed new frontiers through the wilderness. The school is the last expenditure upon which America should be willing to economize.

"Those of us who helped build up the fantastiz jazz era of the nineteen twenties, which crashed down over our heads, must feel a peculiarly deep sense of responsibility to our boys and girls who were sunk with us in the ruins. I need not remind the young people of this country of the black future which lay ahead of them in those days. That was the era of the wanderers—boys and girls who had grown tired of living on the vanishing savings of their parents, and who had set out on the highways in all directions to look for work which they could not find.

"Those in school and those out of school could not look forward to a place in the community. The door of opportunity had been slammed in their faces. Hanging around on street corners, roaming about the country in bands vainly looking for work—there was the real danger which America faced. When the history of the dark days out of which we are now coming is written it will be said that the great marvel of this period was that those young people have come through with a full faith in democracy and with a high resolve to preserve it at all costs.

Paints Picture of 1933.

"Cities couldn't help, counties couldn't help, states couldn't help, even big business couldn't help. The youth of America had apparently come to the end of the road. That was the condition that confronted your federal government on March 4, 1933.

"Your federal government acted.

"Before it laid its hands to any other problem—and there were many of them—it set up the CCC camp to put an immediate end to that hopeless condition.

"It cost money to do that, just as it cost our pioneer fathers and mothers money to build the schools in which we have all been trained.

"We have done much in the way of a beginning to improve the things in America which have made for waste in human beings. On the farms and in the cities—throughout the nation—we are starting to remove those glaring inequalities, those deep rooted maladjustments which did so much to bring about disaster.

"The American people joined with us in 1933 to start this job. A vast majority of the American people in 1936 are with us to see it through. We have made the start in these days, confident that you—the youth of the country—will carry on to the finish.

The Reason for Program.

"That is why we have a national youth program. That is why, through our CCC camps and the National Youth administration, we are trying to keep young people at useful work or in useful education. In high schools and in colleges the federal government has lent a helping hand in keeping youth at the job of learning. Out in the woods, out in the open, the federal govenment has kept the self-respect and the health of hundreds of thousands of young people.

"The federal government for many years has spent a good many millions of dollars—well spent dollars, too—to conserve our forests, our crops and our live stock. We believe in that kind of conservation. You all know how much we have done in that way. But now we have begun to spend money on much more important conservation—to save the energy, the ability and the spirit of youth. No money was ever better spent.

"Nothing has made me happier on this trip than seeing at first hand that the youthful hitch-hiker has disappeared from our highways and from the box cars and freight trains. The youth of the land can once more look forward with confidence and courage just as we of the older generation did in our day.

Believes Youth Is Grateful.

"No greater satisfaction can come to me than the realization that the youth of America understand what we have tried to do—and approve.

"They know that the price we have paid to save our country has been worthwhile.

"America has lost a good many things during the depression. Some of them needed to go; I am glad that they have gone. We have lost that false sense of values that put financial success above every other kind of achievement. We have lost a little of our cocksureness, a little of the bumptiousness which the Pharisee had when he thanked God that he was not as other people. We have lost something of that feeling that ours is an "every-man-for-himself" kind of society, in which the law of the jungle is law enough.

"But many things we have saved. We have saved our morale. We have preserved our belief in American institutions. In this world of ours where some nations have taken perilous detours, we have faced our problems and have met them with a democracy. Within that democracy we are determined to solve them.

Saved Faith in Future.

"We have saved above all our faith in the future—a faith under which America has only begun to march.

"In that march America will have to be led by the youth of today.

"It has been our job to clear the ground of what in too many places was a social and economic wilderness. That pioneering has only begun. It will be for you to continue it.

"You will discover that in pushing forward this great program of social betterment and social security you will be met by the same opposition, the same relentless resistance which faced the frontiersmen of the early west. You will find that your fight against selfishness and injustice, against oppression, and, above all, against war, will take you into a man-sized struggle.

"I am telling you this not to discourage you, but to stimulate you. Our fight—yours and mine—is to keep our democracy safe by keeping it moving forward. In such a fight it is an unhappy place to be on the side lines. To the young people of America I say: Join with us, ours is the real struggle to continue and preserve democracy in America."

HUGE SCHEME TO VOTE FLOATERS IN N. Y. CHARGED

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Indications that a "colonization" unprecedented in political history—designed to swing New York Democratic—is under way in New York City came to light at a budget hearing today when board of election officials admitted that 1,900 new "boarding houses," the favorite habitat of "floaters," had sprung up in the city since 1935.

David B. Costuma, Republican member of the board of elections addressing himself to the board of estimate, could not estimate the number of voters registered from the mushroom lodging houses.

That the number must be unprecedented is indicated by the registration figures of last week, an increase of 560,319 over 1932, the last Presidential year. There were only 6,000 boarding houses in the city last year.

The 33 1-3 per cent increase in the number of lodging houses over the period of a year has left the board of elections, where the houses must register their "roomers," so short handed that they sought today to have included in the budget an appropriation for four additional clerks whose duties would be to check up the rooming house situation.

He said he was "not the least bit afraid of the results" of the election "as long as every one gets out and votes."

4 POPULAR VOTE GETTERS VIE FOR 2 STATE OFFICES

Attorney General Race Is Warm One.

[The second of a series dealing with offices to be voted on by the state as a whole on Nov. 3.]

Politicians of both major camps at least are agreed that two of the contests for state offices are warm races between outstandingly strong candidates. They are the battles for attorney general and secretary of state.

Both are now held by Democrats as a result of the landslide of 1932. Attorney General Kerner has as his Republican opponent Charles W. Hadley of Wheaton, a veteran campaigner with a record that makes him a strong contender.

Hughes vs. Stratton.

Edward J. Hughes, secretary of state, is opposed by his immediate predecessor in the office, William J. Stratton, conceded to be a vote getter par excellence, whose speed as a candidate was demonstrated clearly in the primary last spring when, running largely as an independent, he won this nomination from men with much stronger organization backing. Incidentally he beat the primary factions without arousing their resentment.

Attorney General Kerner is recognized politically as one of the original protégés of the late A. J. Cermak. His first public office was that of city prosecutor, to which he was appointed by Mayor Harrison in 1911. Two years later he was elected alderman of the Twelfth ward and served in the city council until 1919. He was elected to the Circuit court and in 1931 was assigned to the Appellate bench by the Illinois Supreme court.

"Happy" in Old Job.

Kerner's own campaign booklet recites that he was "happy" in the Appellate court and that it was "without any seeking on his part" that he became a candidate for attorney general in 1932. That is one way of saying that Cermak, then mayor and head of the Democratic machine, insisted upon Kerner's going on the Democratic slate.

The same campaign pamphlet recites that the present attorney general has made a record for economy in the administration of the office. It sets up that the appropriation for his office for the two bienniums of his term are $484,080 less than the corresponding appropriations of his predecessor.

After detailing some of the major accomplishments of his office during the last four years, the pamphlet adds this italicized assertion:

"He has achieved the reputation of writing opinions which are based solely upon the law and not upon any political expediency, and the testimony of impartial members of the legal profession will testify to the respect which the members of that body have for them."

Hadley Known as Fighter.

Hadley has established a reputation as a persistent fighter throughout a career that has included sixteen years as state's attorney of Du Page county and seven years as an assistant attorney general under two administrations of state department of law. Much of his state-wide reputation was gained during this latter period, when, as an assistant attorney general, he took charge of the Rock Island "gang cases" and sent the criminals and racketeers to the penitentiary.

Under the last Republican state administration Hadley was appointed chairman of the Illinois commerce commission. During nearly three years' service in that capacity the docket was cleared of old and pending cases, and expenses were kept below the amount of the appropriations from the general assembly.

Hughes Former State Senator.

Secretary of State Hughes has been in public life in Illinois since 1914 when he was elected state senator from the Twenty-first, a west side district. He served four terms in the senate and became minority floor leader in that chamber.

In his present office, Hughes inaugurated a practice of turning over to the state treasurer each day the receipts of his office which are approximately $20,000,000 a year due to the fact that the secretary of state receives automobile license fees and similar payments to the state. Following his action, the legislature enacted a law requiring daily deposits with the treasurer by all state departments.

Backed Cut in Auto Fees.

Secretary Hughes was one of the advocates and active backers of the cut in automobile license fees which went into effect last year. Hughes and Mayor Kelly urged a larger cut than was made but were blocked by Gov. Horner, who opposed any greater reduction.

Hughes also helped put "teeth" into the Illinois securities act, an advance said to have been effective in driving many "bucket shops" and swindling rackets out of the state.

The chief criticisms heard of Hughes' administration have been that the extensive printing work of his office has been slow and that for two years the automobile license plates were defective in that they rusted under winter exposure.

Stratton Has Economy Record.

Stratton's record as secretary from 1929 to 1933 was one of economy in the office. It also was marked by strict business methods. In spite of the Democratic landslide of 1932 he ran only 60,000 votes behind Hughes, although other Republicans on the ticket were beaten by pluralities ranging as high as half a million votes. As nominee for state treasurer in 1934 he led his ticket.

In the recent primary he carried forty-eight of the fifty Chicago wards and ninety-nine of the 102 counties in the state.

Campaign Notes

The Chicago women's committee for the reëlection of Gov. Horner will hold a tea in the Gold Coast room of the Congress hotel today. James Weber Linn, professor of English at the University of Chicago, will speak.

Former Senator Otis F. Glenn, who again is a candidate for the United States senate on the Republican titcket, and former United States Attorney Dwight H. Green will speak at a political luncheon of the Interfraternity Club of Chicago at 106 South Wabash avenue tomorrow at noon. Leslie J. Sorenson, president of the club, will preside.

Three thousand women are expected to attend a Roosevelt luncheon rally in the Palmer house on Oct. 24 under the chairmanship of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, Democratic national committeewoman. The committee on arrangements includes Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, Mrs. M. L. Horner, Mrs. Helen Cermak Kerner, Mrs. William S. Hefferan, Mrs. Clayton F. Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Bass, Miss Amelia Sears, and Mrs. E. O. Brooks.

COUGHLIN READY TO 'TEAR' BOSTON REPORTER APART

Boston, Mass., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin said today he was waiting over in Boston "to get a reporter" who, he claimed, interfered with a meeting between himself and Rhode Island officials of his organizations.

The reporter, John J. Barry, of Boston, denying that he had attempted to interfere with the meeting, said he would be "glad" to meet the priest.

Highly excited when he returned here from Providence where the incident occurred, Father Coughlin paced the floor of his hotel suite and called Barry an "interloper."

"I was just down there talking to my own people," the priest said. "I told the reporters that that was what it was. If I see that fellow, I'll tear him to pieces."

Barry said that when the meeting broke up Coughlin appeared with an escort of detectives.

The priest left his party, the newspaperman said, "snatched my glasses from my face, stepped against me, pushing me against the wall. It was very unexpected." He attributed Coughlin's actions to an interview which occurred earlier when Barry said he questioned him closely.

ROBBED BY TWO PASSENGERS.

When Leander Czerniawski, 3104 East 83d street, drove home from a tavern last night, he discovered that he had two passengers in the rear seat of his car. The men menaced him with a pistol and took $15.

CHEER BROOKS AND GLENN IN CAMPAIGN TALKS

Horner Taxing, New Deal Spending Assailed.

Wayland Brooks and Otis F. Glenn, Republican nominees for governor and United States senator, brought cheering audiences to their feet with a double-barreled attack on the state and national New Deal at two large massmeetings on the far south side last night.

Mr. Brooks ripped into Gov. Horner for failure to call a referendum on the application of the sales tax to food and other necessities. If elected governor, Mr. Brooks said, he would give Illinois voters this chance to express their opinion on the tax.

Mr. Glenn referred to the New Deal's excuse for its huge expenditures—the need of saving the nation from economic disaster. Then he produced evidence to show that the administration's fiscal program had left the country with as many unemployed as before and seven times as many persons on relief.

Address Two Massmeetings.

The two party leaders headed a caravan of national, state, and local candidates who spoke in the Masonic temple at Blue Island and in the Knights of Pythias hall at 11037 South Michigan avenue. Loud speakers carried their words to crowds who were unable to find seats in the packed auditoriums.

The other candidates who spoke were Harry S. Ditchburne, for state's attorney; Charles W. Hadley, for attorney general; George R. Hillstrom, for state representative; John T. Dempsey, for congressman at large; George Nixon, for the board of tax appeals; P. H. Moynihan, for congress; Maurice M. Shay, for clerk of the Superior court, and State Representative Elmer Schnackenberg, a candidate for reëlection.

As Mr. Brooks entered the Knights of Pythias hall, escorted by the R. O. T. C. color guard from Fenger High school, the crowd rose and cheered. Just before he spoke five young women, billed as the Brooks Sween Clean Girls, performed a tap dance with brooms, symbolical of the candidate's plan to clean house on the state New Deal.

Assails the Horner Taxes.

"The family with a yearly income of $1,000 pays $20 sales tax annually on food and necessities," declared Mr. Brooks. "This tax took an average of $33 from Illinois families last year. It is heaviest on those least able to bear it. It is contrary to all the principles of taxation.

"This state collects more sales tax than any other. The people should be voting to take this tax off the family purse at the Nov. 3 election. If I am elected governor I will give the people the opportunity to vote on this question of exempting food and necessities of life from the sales tax."

In total state taxation, Mr. Brooks charged, the present administration is taking $100 more than its predecessors from the average household budget. Much of this added revenue, he said, goes to support the Horner payrollers.

Glenn Attacks Spending.

"Nov. 3 will mark the climax of a grim struggle between the taxpayers and the tax spenders. The pay roll army that will invade every precinct in this state from now until Nov. 3 threatens self-government and must be defeated by the aroused taxpayers of Illinois."

Mr. Glenn in his speeches declared: "We are being told by the New Dealers that they have saved the nation from economic destruction. That is their excuse for the expenditure of 25 billions of dollars, more money than was spent by the federal government in the first 124 years of its existence.

"That is their excuse for attempting to destroy constitutional limitations which guarantee our liberties—their excuse for the repudiation of all the solemn pledges made to the voters in the Democratic platform of 1932. But what are the fact?"

In August, 1933, continued Mr. Glenn, there were 12,661,000 unemployed and 3,760,000 individuals on relief. Billions of dollars have been spent by the brain trusters, said Mr. Glenn, but today there still are 12,183,000 unemployed and more than 20,000,000 on relief.

Urges Restored Confidence.

"Restore the confidence of the business man and the manufacturer, let them be assured that they are not to be taxed out of existence or regimented by a swivel chair burocrat, and you will see how quickly jobs will be made available for those now unemployed," Glenn concluded.

In a statement from his headquarters during the day, Mr. Glenn said: "An organized effort is being made on the part of some people to spread malicious propaganda among those who are now on the relief rolls that if the Republican party is victorious relief efforts will be abandoned and once more they will be placed on their own resources.

"If the Republican party is elected real relief will be given those who are on relief, and the funds provided for this purpose will not be diverted to political purposes. Machinery will be placed in force immediately to remove millions from the relief rolls and give them jobs."

DIVORCE IN RENO WON BY WIFE OF G. V. VANDERBILT

Reno, Nev., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Catherine Farmer Vanderbilt won an uncontested divorce from George V. Vanderbilt, wealthy Greenville, N. Y., dairy farmer and great grandnephew of the late Commodore Vanderbilt, at a private trial before District Judge Thomas F. Moran here today. She charged cruelty.

Property rights and custody of a 5 year old daughter, Catherine Hegeman Vanderbilt, have been settled by written agreement.

The couple were married at New York City Dec. 14, 1929, and separated more than a year ago.

No details of the testimony or of the agreement were made public.

and Lawrence is stationed at Elgin.

Last March when Smith was directing Gov. Horner's campaign for renomination against Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, who had the indorsement of the Cook county and Democratic state central committees, Smith admitted that he had asked for donations from contractors doing state work and that he had received some campaign funds from that source.

Quoted on Interviews.

On March 12 he was quoted as follows:

"I called them [the contractors] in, interviewing them one at a time, and told them that a contribution would be highly appreciated. I talked to them, not as business manager of the highway department, but as the governor's campaign manager. I told them that any contribution would be purely voluntary.

"One contractor replied that he could make a substantial donation if he were awarded a certain road job that is pending. I told him that Gov. Horner wouldn't tolerate such deals. Another wanted to know how much I thought he ought to contribute, and I told him that was entirely up to him."

Smith said then that he had talked to about one-third of the state road contractors. He declined to reveal the list of contributions because that would not be "fair" to them.

MRS. FIELD AND HER DAUGHTER REFUSE TO SIGN THEFT CHARGES

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Wealthy Mrs. Marshall Field and her debutante daughter, Barbara, refused to sign a complaint against John Carroll, 37, accused of stealing jewelry from Barbara's parked automobile, but Carroll was held to the grand jury today on a charge of grand larceny.

Assistant District Attorney Raymond Leo, after conferring with Mrs. Field and her daughter, told Magistrate William Farrell that they had expressed "nothing but sympathy" for the defendant, who is an awning repair man.

Mrs. Field told the magistrate that her daughter "doesn't know if this man is the actual thief," but the court ordered Carroll held under $5,000 bail, remarking, "the due process of law will take care of that."

Mrs. Field told newspapermen the jewelry was not worth $30,000, as reported at the time of the theft, but only $5,000. Most of the jewelry was recovered after detectives traced Carroll by checking pawnshops.

RACKETEER RULE CONTINUES GRIP ON MINNESOTA

Alliance Between Politics and Crime Unbroken.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Minnesota's liquor rectifying rackets and slot machine operators are as active today throughout the state as they were last Dec. 9, when Walter Liggett, crusading editor and publisher of this city, was slain by gang machine gunners at the door of his home.

The income from these ventures has been growing steadily and there is little or no police interference, due to the smooth coöperation between the hoodlums and certain politicians in the council of the "People's Front" Farmer-Labor party.

The profits today come rolling in at the rate of $25,000,000 a year, according to investigators. Most of this money is taken from the pockets of farmers and laborers in the lowest income ranges. It pours in from countless sales of cheap bootleg liquor which retails at 50 to 80 cents a pint. More than a third of the total profits accrue from the merciless "take" of 10,000 nickel, dime, and quarter slot machines which are maintained despite state laws to the contrary, in every city, village, and cross-roads town.

Preparing for Exposé.

At the time of Liggett's murder he was preparing to expose the exact workings of the criminal-political combine which annually slices this choice melon of illicit gold. In the confusion and hue and cry following the slaying, which took place before the eyes of Liggett's wife, Edith, and their 10 year old daughter, Marda, the motive for the killing was obscured. But during the ten months which have followed, the real reason why the gangsters and politicians were willing to risk the public indignation and investigation sure to follow the assassination, has become apparent.

When Liggett began his crusades; started printing charges of malfeasance, misfeasance and nonfeasance against the late Gov. Floyd Olson; told how police and prosecuting officers of the Farmer-Labor party closed their eyes to gambling and liquor sales, and charged that Irving Schulberg, Isadore [Kid Cann] Blumenfield, Charley Morgan and a few others constituted a crime syndicate in Minneapolis and Minnesota, the public could hardly believe the truth of his assertions.

Allegations Reiterated.

For months the assertions were reiterated and amplified by Liggett, who was a powerful writer. He named names, mentioned specific instances of criminal skulduggery. He assailed the syndicate by identifying its leaders, gunmen and salesmen, and demanded that conditions be changed. He challenged Olson to disprove his charges or indict him for criminal libel. The governor did neither.

During the summer of 1935, Liggett was indicted on a charge of sodomy in a case alleged to have involved his immoral acts with a minor girl. Strangely enough, the alleged crime had occurred some eighteen months earlier, and it never was satisfactorily explained where the charges originated.

Liggett's only defense was that the entire matter was a "frameup." He obtained a change of venue from Hennepin county, where Olson had been prosecuting attorney for eight years before he became governor in 1930, and then fought the case out in Ramsey County courts in St. Paul.

Liggett Quickly Acquitted.

Mrs. Liggett attended every session of the trial before a jury of unusually intelligent men and women. The state produced the girl alleged to be involved and other witnesses and spent several weeks and considerable money in presenting its case. But Liggett was freed by the jury after only a few minutes' deliberation.

Although the trial was "played down" by the local newspapers, a certain amount of attention had been focused on Liggett. His charges gained more credence, and his publications reached into new fields. Then came his assassination.

Shocked business men and solid citizens of the city, convinced that there was some basis for Liggett's charges against gangsters and politicians, demanded a cleanup. Police put on the "heat" and the city became quiet and orderly.

But that did not last. By early summer the syndicate had opened a series of new gambling houses, had redistributed its slot machines, and was operating its liquor rectifying plants at full blast.

Truth Begins to Dawn.

Then it began to be learned that the conditions against which Liggett preached actually existed. Townspeople and countrymen alike learned of the enormous profits which Liggett had threatened. They saw the cheap whiskys sold in enormous quantities, and lost their money in the slot machines.

Today it is generally believed in Minneapolis that Liggett was slain for two reasons, both of which had a bearing upon the crime syndicate here. First he threatened to expose the rackets, and, second, he attacked Olson, who was alleged to be friend and protector of the criminals.

For the $25,000,000 a year income, even Liggett's death was regarded as cheap.

Today, although Olson is gone, the Farmer-Laborites still are in control and are working hard to stay there. Much of the money spent so lavishly by the Popular Front party has as its source the underworld syndicate headed now by Ed Morgan.

Under Morgan one of the most profitable manufacturing and sales organizations in the world has been perfected. In this state liquor can be retailed by only two types of commercial houses—saloons and liquor stores.

In saloons all sales must be in the form of drinks to be consumed on the premises. No drinks can be obtained in the liquor stores, and all sales must be made in package form for consumption elsewhere.

Most of the liquor sold in the state is blended spirits. While there are many of the so-called standard brands of liquor, there are far more sales of local brands.

Profit in "Bathtub" Blend.

These whiskies are blended in liquor rectifying plants in the state. The rectifiers operate under government license, some without government inspectors, and are held to comply with federal regulations if a federal tax is paid for every bottle or gallon produced.

The Minnesota laws require that the rectifiers blend old and new spirits and declare on labels just what proportion of each is used. If all these laws are complied with, and real whisky spirits are used, the liquor retails for prices between $1 and $1.25 a pint.

If, however, prohibition bootleg practices are resorted to, the whisky can be bottled for about 15 cents a pint. Such liquor is merely a "bathtub" mixture of raw alcohol, glycerin, sugar flavoring, and coloring. And the profit from its sale at wholesale prices of 40 cents a pint is more than 100 per cent. Today the state is flooded with these wildcat liquors.

DEMOCRAT CHAIRMAN OF MINNESOTA COUNTY SUPPORTS ALF LANDON

Edward W. Dolan of Worthington, Minn., wrote the following letter, which was received yesterday by the Republican national committee, in which he protested the committee's request for a $1 campaign fund contribution:

"I am Democratic chairman of Nobles county, Minn. I am wearing a Landon button and am supporting the Republican ticket, state and national. I am still a Democrat. What more do you expect out of me?"

In Minnesota the New Deal administration had Democratic candidates for governor and senator withdraw in favor of Farmer-Laborites.

JAMES REED HITS ROOSEVELT FOR PARTY BETRAYAL

Bitter Over "Perfidy" in Minnesota Deal.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—A vehement accusation of "betrayal" was directed at President Roosevelt tonight by a man who four years ago stumped the nation in behalf of his election.

The accuser was former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, a Democrat for fifty-three years. He spoke at a massmeeting in the Minneapolis Municipal auditorium under auspices of the National Jeffersonian Democrats. His address was entitled "The Rape of Minnesota."

His bitterness, Reed declared, developed from association in the national administration of New Dealers and radicals, together with the open alliance between the President and the Minnesota Farmer-Laborites. The latter, he said, had become the "tool and cat's paw of the communists."

Terms It "Act of Perfidy."

"We have the spectacle of the President causing the removal of two names from the Democratic ticket at an hour so late there could be no substitution of the Democratic candidates for governor and the United States senate," Reed said, with reference to the withdrawal Oct. 3 of the two Minnesota Democratic nominees, Fred A. Curtis and Patrick J. Delaney.

"It was first of all an act of perfidy toward the party under whose name Roosevelt still has the temerity to run as a candidate. That, however, is immaterial when one considers the fact that it was a direct alliance with an organization that has swallowed bolshevism and all of its horrible attributes.

"When I see my party betrayed I refuse to follow its betrayer. I decline to kiss the hand of any man who drives the knife of communism into the heart of democracy. I decline to be bridled, saddled, and ridden by Jim Farley into a communistic corral.

"In selecting his advisers and agents, Mr. Roosevelt gathered about him a group of individuals who, by no stretch of the imagination, can be considered as Democrats, or as anything but radicals, many of them a most dangerous type."

Among them Reed named Daniel C. Roper, secretary of commerce; Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior; Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, and Henry Morgenthau, secretary of the treasury.

"More than fourteen times the Supreme court has overturned as unconstitutional various acts of congress," Senator Reed asserted. "In every instance the Supreme court was right. In every instance they held for the liberties of the American people. In every instance they broke the shackles which Roosevelt admits he had forged for the American people."

Cites Party Platform.

In his discussion of the Farmer-Labor party Mr. Reed said that in 1934 its platform declared that "capitalism has failed" and that "immediate steps must be taken to abolish it in favor of a new system calling for collective ownership."

"The Farmer-Labor program for this year," he said, "is of the same kidney."

Mr. Reed did not declare whom he is supporting for President in his address. He said he simply is opposing Roosevelt's reëlection. In an interview, however, he declared that anti-Roosevelt votes had "not many other places to go than to Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican nominee."

Special Session Meets; Recesses Until Nov. 17

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—With no work laid before it, the second special session of the general assembly, which has met periodically for months to consider relief legislation, recessed tonight until Nov. 17. About a dozen members were present, the membership having been notified that no program would be submitted for consideration.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions, intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

ILLUSION

By CALEB

AS this is being written, a number of our buyers are scattered over the earth in quest of merchandise which otherwise would probably never find its way to our store. In these travels, fast steamers, airplanes, modern trains, and speedy automobiles are used in an effort to shorten travel time.

Consider — in contrast—Montaigne, the first essayist, who traveled from France through Switzerland and Germany into Italy in 1580 and 1581. He kept a diary He was impressed by Basel. "The least meals take up three or four hours, by reason of the slowness of the service; and, in truth, they also eat much less hastily and in a more wholesome manner than we do." He describes their cooking and says, "As they are excellent workers in iron, almost all their spits are turned by springs, or by means of weights, like clocks. . . . The roasting is a long and gradual process."

At Wangen, not far from Lake Constance, he wrote: "Here are made those scythes which are so famous that they send them for sale even as far as Lorraine." This would be about the equivalent of a Chicago product sold in Springfield.

No doubt some modern travelers harried and pressed by time and affairs, soaring above beautiful country in planes may look wistfully back three or four hundred years and think of the satisfactions of leisurely old-time travel.

We would doubt the capacity, however, of any of us to live happily in any past—knowing, as we do, the present. Montaigne says in admiration, in the same diary: "In all this part of the country there is no house, however small, in the villages, but has glass windows." It is too easy to reflect on the blessings of the slow tempos of old while we forget the innumerable disadvantages of primitive surroundings. "Among the Germans, to pay respect to a man they always go to his left side . . . . you should leave his right side free to put his hand to his weapons," says Montaigne.

The great enlarging wheel of life seems to orient and accustom us to that part of the rim on which we have our being. We cannot recapture the past. A near approach to recapturing it usually disillusions us. It is well to find and enjoy the great satisfactions which are available here and now. We believe that operating a great store provides us opportunity for helping those we serve to do just that.

COURTNEY SAYS HIS RECORD CAN SPEAK FOR HIM

His Best Campaigner, He Tells Publishers.

State's Attorney Courtney told the editors and publishers of more than a hundred foreign language, community, and suburban newspapers at a luncheon in the Bismarck hotel yesterday that instead of making an active campaign for reëlection he will let his record speak for him. He has decided, he said, that a good record every day in his office would be the best bid for votes.

W. D. McJunkin, a Republican member of the board of education, acted as toastmaster and introduced Courtney. Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Criminal court, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, and United States Attorney Michael L. Igoe joined in praising Courtney's record in office.

McJunkin Pictures Change.

"A few years ago Chicago's reputation, deserved or undeserved, was one to make us ashamed," said Mr. McJunkin. "This city was known as a gangsters' headquarters and a rendezvous for hoodlums.

"Now we have a good reputation and this city, the second in the country, is thirty-sixth in crime. Mr. Courtney has destroyed the gangs and has put 179 criminals in prison for life under the habitual criminal act. Criminals no longer will take a chance on coming here for fear Mr. Courtney will land them in the penitentiary for life. I never saw any man in any business perform his duties any more efficiently or honestly than State's Attorney Courtney."

Courtney Speaks for Himself.

Mr. Courtney said he had divorced his office from politics and had waged a nonpolitical fight against criminals and racketeers. He commended the courts and the police department for their coöperation, saying he had given encouragement to honest and courageous policemen and they had worked faithfully with him. He also thanked Mr. Igoe for the assistance of the federal prosecutors' office.

"I am in charge of one of the largest law offices in this country," Courtney declared. "A law office is expected to be run efficiently and honestly in the best interests of the clients.

"The people are the clients of the state's attorney's office and I am proud to say that it is run just as honestly and straightforwardly in the interest of the clients as is any private law office."

DOUBT NEW PEACE MOVE IN A. F. OF L. WILL BE EFFECTIVE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Labor leaders privately expressed only a faint hope today that the peace move to the American Federation of Labor executive council would bring John L. Lewis' rebel unions back into the federation.

Although Lewis declined to comment on the council's acceptance yesterday of a proposal for a peace conference, others close to the situation expressed doubt that he would make any substantial concessions.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, said last week he would be willing to talk terms with the federation only if his union and the other nine the council suspended as rebels were reinstated.

Guard Fired for Letting Prisoner Depart in Auto

Warden Edward Denemark of the House of Correction announced yesterday the dismissal of Guard August Kohr, who permitted James Concanson, a prisoner, to drive out of the jail Monday in an automobile belonging to a jail matron. Concanson, 22 years old, was sent to the Bridewell on Aug. 22 on a narcotics charge.

TRAIN KILLS WPA MAN.

John Bulla, 73 years old, 1816 Belmont avenue, a WPA worker, was struck and killed yesterday by a passenger train on the North Western railroad right of way on the Diversey avenue viaduct.

ST. LOUIS LABOR LEADER FAVORS LANDON VICTORY

Lauds Nominee's Record as Kansas Governor.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The election of Gov. Alf M. Landon as President was indorsed today by Munro Roberts, prominent St. Louis labor leader.

Roberts, who is president of the Mailers' Trade District union and a vice president of the International Typographical union, said Landon's record as governor of Kansas shows he has been sympathetic with the aims and purposes of organized labor.

He warned that union labor should inform itself as to political conditions in the United States because at the coming election the people will determine the kind of government they are to have for the next four years.

Urges Study of Issues.

"An uninformed electorate," Roberts said, "is in danger in a country where democracy prevails. We owe it to ourselves to be informed as to all of the issues in this campaign so we can intelligently support and vote for those candidates who, when elected, will dedicate their efforts to supporting and maintaining the kind of government desired by all true Americans.

"As a member of organized labor, I am supporting Gov. Landon for the presidency. I have found that as governor of Kansas he was sympathetic towards organized labor and lent his prestige and ability in furthering the cause of organized labor.

Points to His Record.

"I have found that he appointed as labor commissioner of the state a member of the carpenters' union and that all employés in the labor department are members of organized labor. I have found that in 1934, when he was seeking reëlection, the leaders of organized labor in that state praised his record and recommended his reëlection.

"Gov. Landon has stated that he recognizes the services that the organized labor movement has rendered to this country and that he wants organized labor to retain all of its rights and privileges and that it shall increase its power and influence within the constitution of the United States."

Weiller's Rank Advanced to That of Consul General

Rene Weiller, French consul in Chicago for the past five years, has been notified of his promotion to the rank of consul-general in Chicago, he announced yesterday. M. TURN-TO-LANDON LETTER CONTEST WON BY MINISTER

Best Explanation of Why Voter Quit Roosevelt.

Winners in the radio contest for the best letters outlining reasons why the writers have switched from President Roosevelt to Gov. Landon for the coming election were announced last night by William Hard, political commentator, in his broadcast over a national network. Prof. Earl DeLong of the political science department of Northwestern university, judge of the contest, selected four winning letters from among the hundreds of thousands sent Mr. Hard at the Republican national headquarters in Chicago.

The first prize of $500 went to the Rev. Albert H. Eggleston, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Kansas City, Mo. Winner of the second prize of $300 was Jack Murray of Fort Wayne, Ind., a former WPA worker. Two housewives tied for third place and each receives the full award of $200. They are Mrs. Viola Hasek of St. Louis and Mrs. L. S. Robison of Turley, Okla. The winning letters were read over the radio by Mr. Hard.

The Clergyman's Reasons.

"In 1933, I was for Roosevelt," wrote the Rev. Mr. Eggleston, "because it seemed that at last we were to have effective action toward alleviating the terrible distress caused by the depression. I have changed to Landon:

"Because I have ceased to believe in the sincerity of Roosevelt.

"Because Roosevelt cannot escape responsibility for the acts of Farley, Hopkins, Tugwell and others.

"Because millions of unemployables have been created by the bungling, wasteful methods of the WPA.

"Because of the wreckage of the principle of the civil service and the political exploitation of the hunger of millions of needy people.

"Because of the increasing cost of living and the increasing burden on all types of business caused by ever mounting taxation.

Basic Governmental Principles.

"Because I believe that the power and functions of the Supreme court must be safeguarded.

"Because I believe that the centralization of power is becoming a real menace to our institutions.

"Because I abominate the persecution of people who are opposed to the New Deal.

"Because I believe Landon to be sincere, counrageus, sagacious and fundamentally sound on social, economic and moral issues."

Murray, in his letter, said he believed 80 per cent of the WPA workers would vote for Landon. Mrs. Hasek declared that Roosevelt "has finished his end of the job."

Death of F. T. Von Albade Laid to Natural Causes

The mysterious death of Francis T. von Albade, 83 years old, president of the Consolidated Press Clipping bureau, 431 South Dearborn street, was declared due to natural causes in a verdict returned yesterday by a coroner's jury. Mr. von Albade died on Monday in the Illinois Central hospital after being found unconscious from head injuries on Oct. 4 at 71st street and Jeffrey avenue by two youths who carried him into a drug store.

PRESS FREEDOM STILL IN PERIL, EDITORS WARNED

Labor Relations Act Under Fire.

The peril of government press dictatorship under the guise of supposedly beneficial legislation yesterday was told by a publisher and a lawyer before the Inland Daily Press association meeting at the Hotel Sherman.

Elisha Hanson, general counsel for the American Newspaper Publishers' association, said the defunct NRA gave greater power over the press to President Roosevelt than Hitler, Mussolini, and Stalin ever dared to seize. He warned that the National Labor Relations act and the Robinson-Patman act were "direct efforts of the government to control the publishers' business." He expressed the opinion that both of these New Deal laws will be declared invalid by the United States Supreme court.

E. H. Harris, publisher of the Richmond, Ind., Palladium-Item, charged that New Deal activities "were designed to force the press of the United States to submit to a program of regimentation."

Attempt to Regiment Press.

Mr. Hanson declared that business cannot be regimented into a "government chain gang" without, first of all, the regimentation of the press, and that the press cannot be regimented except by force.

"But in 1933 and 1934," he said, the publishers and the citizens of this country were confronted by the greatest crisis since the ratification of the bill of rights. The National Industrial Recovery act contained authority for the restraint of the press which it is difficult to look upon today. It contained full power for suppression of the press. Neither Hitler, Mussolini nor Stalin has seized greater power than that which a servile congress sought to delegate to the President of the United States in this law."

The NRA is "out the window" now but the National Labor Relations act also contains a threat to press freedom, Mr. Hanson warned.

"Law Reeks of Hitlerism."

"This law reeks of Hitlerism at its very worst," he said. "All that is needed today to bring about governmental interference is for a discharged employé to allege that his dismissal was due to his employer's dislike for his activities in behalf of some employés' organization of which he may be a member. The interference immediately begins upon such an allegation.

"In Hitler ruled Germany the press must employ only those whom the dictator approves. It must print what he orders printed. It must omit what he forbids. We want no such system in America."

The Robinson-Patman act also is a threat to press freedom because the federal trade commission has ruled that advertising rates of newspapers come within the provisions of the act, Mr. Hanson said.

Mr. Harris in his discussion of the danger of press dictatorship described the great government propaganda mill. He charged that the government put snoopers on newspapers which are antagonistic to it.

"Evidence can be cited," he said, "to prove that the federal radio commission has been used to intimidate newspapers. The mailed fist of the federal government has been held over telegraph, telephone, and radio companies to force them to do things which the Washington government thought might eventually result in the intimidation of the newspapers.

"It has employed this same fear to force radio stations to broadcast programs spreading New Deal propaganda."

DOOM OF SMALL BUSINESS SEEN IN NEW DEAL TREND

G. O. P. Committee Cites TVA as Proof.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The wiping out of small business and the spread of governmental control of industries, forests, and mines are foreshadowed through the New Deal's activities in connection with the Tennessee Valley authority, the Republican national committee charged today.

The committee pointed to the statements of TVA executives to bear out the charges. Bernard Frank, associate of Edward C. W. Richards, director of the forestry division of TVA, was quoted as follows:

"Ultimately, through sheer necessity, the government will assume control of forests, mines, agriculture, utilities, and some of the larger and more important industries. The lesser ones will be liquidated, and the people themselves will back up many of these trends."

Plans for "Communal" Action.

Frank and Richards were handed the completed plans for "communal" action in TVA territory a year ago in March and immediately started to put them into effect, the committee said. Progress in the plan might be seen in a survey of conditions in the neighborhood of Norris dam.

"In that area, 15,000 humans have been driven from their homelands," the committee said. "Over 125,000 acres of land has been taken over by the government. Homes have been burned, families ousted, farms covered by water, bridges blasted, and higheways torn up. Personal and property rights have been completely ignored.

Told What to Raise.

"On government owned land the families are settled and are told what, and how much, they are to raise on their land. A community is to be established housing about 1,000 persons in 219 single family houses and fifteen apartment buildings. Administrative costs of the community are estimated at $350,000 annually, or almost $1,000 a day. Administration is in the hands of a TVA appointed manager and his staf.

"Owners of land, in good standing with party leaders, profited neatly on sales of the land to the government."

ELGIN SCHOOLS CLOSED AGAINST SPEECH ON WPA

Bickham Finds Hall Dark, Everyone Gone.

The board of education at Elgin is unwilling to have its school buildings used for speeches touting the benefits of New Deal programs—at least until after the election—it was disclosed yesterday. Dr. Martin M. Bickham, chief of publicity of WPA, learned of the decision when he arrived at the Elgin High school Monday night to deliver an address entitled "Illinois Moves Forward with WPA."

As one of the leading speakers for the WPA in Illinois Dr. Bickham had one of the WPA photographers act as his chauffeur to Elgin. Arriving at the school building, they found it dark, with no one to greet Dr. Bickham except Marshall E. Smith, director of the WPA adult education program in Kane county.

Audience All Goes Home.

"Just a little while ago the board of education notified me we can't use the school, and the audience has gone home," Smith told the visitor. Dr. Bickham returned to Chicago.

Paul F. Born, president of the board of education, said the board had revoked its permission for use of the school because Dr. Bickham's speech was "purely political."

He recalled that the board was criticized by some citizens two weeks ago after the high school band played at a picnic for Secretary of Agriculture Wallace at the county fair grounds at Aurora. That occasion was also "nonpolitical"—but only until Secretary Wallace started to talk. Mr. Born said that the board was not going to be fooled again.

Plans to Try Again.

Meanwhile Dr. Bickham was making plans to give his talk in the Elgin city hall next week.

"It would be on Monday, but Admiral Byrd speaks that night in Elgin," he said. "I advised our Kane county officials to choose another night. After all, we don't want to interfere with Admiral Byrd."

The publicity chief removed his glasses and watched the chain attached to them disappear in the little reel attached to his vest before making this solemn statement:

"I know there are some good Republicans on that board of education."

Divorces Former Assistant Atty. General Harry Ash

Judge Philip J. Finnegan in Circuit court yesterday granted Mrs. Edna M. Ash of 5555 Sheridan road a divorce on charges of cruelty from Harry Ash, former assistant attorney general of Illinois. They were married June 29, 1932 and separated last Sept. 5 Mrs. Ash was represented by Attorney John McInerney. Nicholas Socrates, attorney for Ash, informed the court there would be no alimony and that an out of court settlement of property rights had been reached.

WOMAN DIES OF POISON.

Mrs. Florence Chiffert, 56 years old, 7936 South Michigan avenue, died yesterday of the effects of poison taken while despondent over ill health, according to the police.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR 1936

Turn the Rascals Out.

DAVID AND GOLIATH ON THE RADIO.

The unexpected has happened in this campaign. The country is only now awakening to it.

Gov. Landon has overpowered Mr. Roosevelt as a public speaker. Six weeks ago no one would have thought it possible. Then there was universal agreement that if Mr. Landon won it would be in spite of his obvious inferiority on the platform and at the microphone.

The President undoubtedly started with every advantage. He had a practiced platform style. He had a cultivated Harvard accent and he knew all the tricks of enunciation and voice modulation. Any professional radio announcer would have been glad to exchange his art at the microphone for Mr. Roosevelt's.

And yet the seemingly impossible has come to pass. It has come in spite of the fact that Gov. Landon's equipment as a public speaker is still far inferior to Mr. Roosevelt's. Gov. Landon's accents are relatively untutored. He is still no elocutionist. His vowels are often slurred. His consonants are not always cleanly enunciated. He does not know how to use his voice to create suspense or build a rhetorical climax. Like Mr. Roosevelt, he reads all his important public addresses, but Mr. Roosevelt's never sound as if they were being read and Gov. Landon's never sound as if they were extemporized.

Gov. Landon has attained his ascendancy as a public speaker not by his manner but by his sincerity and his astonishing gift for marshaling facts. Mr. Roosevelt's speeches delight his uncritical idolators. He lulls them with generalities and rhetoric. Gov. Landon's speeches win votes. He persuades not by eloquence but by clear statement, sharp proof, and direct reasoning.

Gov. Landon has had the best of every exchange. He licked Mr. Roosevelt on social security at Milwaukee. He licked him at Chicago on the budget. Now he has licked him at Cleveland on relief. Mr. Roosevelt's pretense that his wild extravagances were necessitated by the sufferings of the people has been analyzed and disposed of. Gov. Landon has shown that with far less expense relief could have been made far more effective, and the unfortunate recipients would not have been condemned, as Mr. Roosevelt has condemned them, to a permanent and humiliating dependence.

Gov. Landon stated the facts and proved them. He stated his program and proved to his listeners that he could and would carry it out. The costs of relief have been excessive because hundreds of millions have been diverted to the building of a political machine to buy votes for Mr. Roosevelt in this election. Eliminate politics from relief and a long stride will have been taken toward the solution of the budgetary problem.

Mr. Roosevelt's dulcet tones can charm the ear but they cannot meet the kind of attack which Gov. Landon has launched. Mr. Roosevelt has been met and defeated with his own weapons and on his own ground.

A LIGHT IN THE DARKNESS.

From San Sebastian comes a ray of light in the darkness of the Spanish civil conflict. Government officials at Bilbao have released 123 women and children held as hostages for two months in exchange for the same number of women and children of government party affiliation. The exchange was arranged under the auspices of the International Red Cross and the order of release at Bilbao was given by the chief of the new Basque autonomous district, an auspicious beginning.

Perhaps this event may indicate that the most terrible stage of civil disorder is nearing its end. Exchange of prisoners in place of massacre is demanded by the ethics of modern war and both parties in Spain have injured their causes in the eyes of the outside world by excesses which have brought no military or political gains proportionate to the deep injury done to the credit of the nation and to the chances of a rational solution of Spanish problems. The anarchists are reported to have objected to the exchange, a consistent attitude, for they wish the destruction of all elements of political order or government authority of whatever pattern. But in this district, at least, they were overruled, and it is to be hoped their attempt will be a strong hint to the contestants on both sides that it is not too early to begin to prepare, if not for compromise, at least for conditions on which some sort of justice and order can be based.

In the first stage of the conflict the worst elements of human nature have had their frightful day, but the Spanish people have virtues of which a great nation can be made if they are given a chance to assert themselves.

A SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT.

Recent editorials in THE TRIBUNE suggesting changes or consolidations in our organization of defense have elicited interesting replies, as it was hoped they would. Our suggestions for an independent aviation service, for consolidating the marine corps with the army and the coast guard with the navy were not dogmatic but tentative. They were open to criticism and to dissent and were intended to provoke discussion. Two letters recently published in the Voice of the People, one from a naval officer and one from a coast guard officer, were precisely the informed and intelligent discussion we had hoped for. All the services need more of it, not only to keep their own initiative alive but to create interest in the public and inform it of the problems and conditions of national defense and public service.

Meanwhile, as to the suggestions offered and ably commented upon in the letters referred to, while we recognize the force of the objections noted, it still seems wrong to have two armies, the regulars and the marines, and two navies, one the coast guard, to say nothing of at least four aviation corps, army, navy, marine, and coast guard. Our plea was for such coordination as, upon competent and disinterested consideration, might make for greater efficiency and economy. We certainly do not favor hasty judgment. Neither do we think too easy-going an acceptance of things as they are is good for the services.

TAX COLLECTIONS IN COOK COUNTY.

The county treasurer announces that a slightly larger amount and a slightly larger percentage of the current taxes had been collected on the first penalty date this year than on the corresponding date a year ago. Last year the collection was 72½ million dollars. This year it is 75½ million. A year ago the collection was 36.35 per cent of the total billed. This year it is 38.47.

If this is an improvement it is so slight as to be of little significance so far as the financial future of the local governments is concerned. There is even reason to doubt that the figures present a true comparison. Many of the taxpayers received credits for previous excessive payments, in accordance with a recent legislative enactment. Those credits were accepted in payment on the current tax bills and it is not clear from the county treasurer's statement whether the amounts so credited are included in the collections. Probably they are; and if so, the total of new money received for the local governments must be correspondingly reduced.

On Sept. 28 all of the personal property taxes for 1935 and half the real estate taxes should have been collected. To maintain the finances of the local governments in a sound condition at least 60 per cent of the total amount billed should have been collected on the penalty date. In fact, the collections fell well below 40 per cent.

The outlook for the local governments is therefore ominous. Unless expenses are sharply reduced, and at the same time heroic efforts made to collect the sums now overdue, the city, the county, the school board, and all the rest will shortly find it increasingly difficult to meet their pay rolls and their bills for supplies. We are heading for another crisis in local finance comparable to that from which the community emerged a few years ago. It is to be hoped that other public officials will, like Mayor Kelly, see the danger before it is upon them and start their retrenchments at once.

Editorial of the Day

IF THIS BE TORYISM—

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Some of the readers of this newspaper, in commenting upon its editorial of last Sunday, "For President, Not Mr. Roosevelt," are charging the Post-Dispatch with desertion of its old faith in favor of Toryism and reaction. One reader puts it as follows: "You have served the cause of liberalism and humanitarianism well in the past and they will suffer by your desertion at the present crisis. In the name of Jefferson, of freedom, of patriotism, of the Supreme court, the old foe is fighting under Hearst and the Liberty league, and you have joined them."

Another reader says that the Post-Dispatch has been replaced "by an insidious sheet, masked by the same name, that will prepare the minds of its readers for the jettisoning of democracy and the establishment of Landon Fascism."

We realize how deeply men's passions are stirred in the heat of a political campaign and how ancient party loyalties pull at the heart. At such a time men are often hypnotized by party labels, by personalities, and by sentimental attachments. It is not easy to take an objective view of the issues to be decided in so momentous a presidential election as the coming one.

We have striven to take such an objective view, and the result was fully stated in the editorial of last Sunday—a rereading of which we suggest to those critics who are charging us with Toryism and reaction.

We believe that the Roosevelt administration has attempted to set up in the United States a government with vast and centralized authority over the economic life of the nation and that the guiding philosophy of the administration is in that direction.

We know that such a government can only be set up in defiance of the American tradition of local self-government.

We know that such a government would be in plain defiance of the intent of the constitution.

We know that the Roosevelt administration, instead of coming out openly for an amendment of the constitution to legalize its acts, has attempted to amend it by subterfuge and indirection.

We know that Mr. Roosevelt, by his policies, has reversed the philosophy of the Democratic party and violated his own platform pledges.

We know that a subservient congress has invested Mr. Roosevelt with more and greater powers than have been possessed by any other peace time President in our history.

We know that for congress thus to abdicate its function, placing huge legislative powers in the President's hands, is to destroy the system of checks and balances by which our forefathers wisely sought to protect us against the evils of dictatorship.

We know that the drift of Mr. Roosevelt's policies is toward a different kind of government from the one we now have—a federal empire ruled through the agency of a huge burocracy, under which local and state prerogatives would wither and die and the destiny of the people would be decided by remote control from Washington.

We are opposed to these basic changes in the American form of government, particularly since they are being made so subtly and with such indirection that many people are not aware of what is happening.

We do not believe that such changes can minister to the happiness or to the prosperity of the people.

We do believe they can be brought to final accomplishment only at the sacrifice of human liberties.

If it be Toryism to regard with apprehension a subversion of the American system in favor of a new and untried system, we plead guilty.

If it be reaction to oppose a centralized, one man government, leading ultimately to dictatorship, we are reactionary.

If to be "liberal" and "humanitarian" means to follow a path destructive of America's fundamental political institutions—tried in the crucible of 150 years—we cannot wear those labels.

For more than fifty years this newspaper has devoted itself to the ideal of democracy, believing that its exercise is essential to the happiness, well-being, and freedom of the people.

It clings to that ideal today and it opposes an administration whose continuance in office menaces that ideal.

Beyond the tags and labels and shibboleths that are being used to befog the air today lies the real issue. Shall we set up in America, in defiance of the American tradition and in defiance of the plain intent of the constitution as it now stands, a government with vast and centralized authority over the economic life of the nation?

Our answer is, "No!"

WHEN MEN WERE MEN.

My childish imagination reaches back to a farmer neighbor in Minnesota. His weekly trip to town in pre-prohibition days always meant free rein on the return trip for his galloping horses; at dusk you'd hear the clattering wagon and his voice raised in song. On just one occasion the song was discarded for stronger expressions. Halting the lathered team at our front gate, Lars cried out for a pair of pincers, which were furnished. Giving one more loud yell, he yanked out his own aching tooth. Then, having taken a deep draught of whisky, he rode away. And as he crossed the hilltop his song was floating back.

Not suddenly but by degrees
I've risen from my bended knees,
Unfolded my hands, stretched the crook
From my neck which was bowed too long.
Now look!
My adoration didn't change
You one whit, how strange,
You're practically what you began
By being, just a nice man.
Not suddenly but by degrees
You changed from man to god and these Calluses I've got from kneeling
Need softening and careful peeling.

WE RATHER LIKE that definition of the most horrible of sins: "The Abuse of High Privilege." It is pleasantly vague, like a prize winning novel or the legal formula for valuation of public utility properties. And who shall say him nay or disapprove, so long as he does not abuse his freedom of choice?

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

MAKE ROOM FOR AIR.

THE cry of the one with a plugged nose is "Give me air." Of course he can breathe through the mouth, but that is not nature's way. If we take both food and air via the oral cavity we compel that avenue to do double duty. No! the nose was built for respiration, to strain out dust, to supply moisture, and to "condition" the air. If deformities are present anywhere along this normal passageway trouble is bound to follow. We might just as reasonably use the nose as a highway for food as the mouth for breathing.

What are some of these obstructions? Let us consider one type that is fairly common—namely, polyps. Clinics have reported their recognition in about 5 per cent of all patients—growths that are sufficiently sizable or numerous to produce symptoms. The decade at which they occur most frequently is between 20 and 30, although they do form in young persons, particularly in those of high school age.

What are polyps? They are outgrowths of the mucous lining of the air passages and arise from the coverings of the nasal bones or from the interior of the sinuses. Now and then a solitary mass will be found in an antrum [the hollow space within the cheek bone]. Ordinarily they are broken in the process of removal, but in appearance they resemble an oyster or the pulp of a grape. In some patients they may be so large that they can be observed hanging down at the back of the throat or even protruding from the nostrils.

In size they may vary from that of a pinhead to five inches or more in length with a diameter of an inch. If they are attached by a stem [pedicle] they may move back and forth with each respiration. In fact, they may serve as a check valve permitting the exit but stopping the entrance of air or vice versa. The voice is interfered with because of the artificial dams thus erected.

Irritation is the primary cause. This may be associated with infection or with an allergic phenomenon such as urticaria, hay fever, or asthma. In such a situation the congestion of the membrane becomes extreme and overgrowth of some of the cells occurs. Some substance has brought on a dilatation of the blood vessels—a pouring out of mucus—and we have the typical condition which we know as hay fever. Polyps may be part of this picture.

The patient may be utterly unaware of the nature of the trouble and his chief symptoms are difficulty in getting air through the nose, sneezing, and a profuse watery discharge. Sometimes headache is a prominent accompaniment due to the slowing of the natural drainage.

We must regard these tumorlike bodies as symptoms of some underlying difficulty and the cause must be searched for and found. More often than not it will be identified as a form of allergy—a peculiar sensitivity to food, fur, feathers, dust, or some protein substance. Skin tests may aid in the diagnosis and point the way to the proper vaccine. When no source can be found, bony spurs or a portion of the nasal septum may be cut away.

Recently the suggestion has been offered that the use of radium needles will offer a permanent cure and for the last few years W. G. Scott-Brown has been employing this element with excellent results. Following his plan the polyps were first extirpated with a snare and generous drainage openings were provided from the sinuses. After an interval of a few weeks radium needles were applied and left in place for approximately six hours. In the cases reported by Brown no further trouble was encountered.

Two things should be considered in connection with crops of polyps, especially in young people: [1] that there may be a basic allergic fault; [2] that even after surgery they may reappear at intervals. Radium offers a safe and practical way for their complete eradication.

QUESTIONS ON PARALYSIS.

Mrs. W. writes:

1. I had always thought that infantile paralysis was spread not so much from person to person like scarlet fever, etc., but from a certain specific source. This belief came from reading that scientists thought the germ was found in eggs of certain insects, deposited on fruits and vegetables. Is this true?

2. One hears that it never affects more than one in the same family. I know this is not true, but if it is spread from one person to another through contact why doesn't it run through the entire family?

3. My observation is that the healthiest and most robust people get it. Is this correct?

4. Why is it that, when there are only a few cases around, children are the ones to get it, and when it assumes an epidemic character adults are afflicted?

5. Is there a serum to be given well persons to render them immune, and, if so, is it readily accessible?

6. How soon after exposure is a case apt to develop?

REPLY.

1. We know that poliomyelitis is caused by a filterable virus which gains entrance via the nerve endings, which come close to the surface of the mucous membrane of the nose. Just how it is spread is not known. At one time it was thought that the stable fly was a carrier. This was later disproved. The secretions of the nose and the mouth of afflicted persons may carry the virus.

2. Because of individual resistance or of constitutional susceptibility. This may account for the fact that only one child among several in a family may contract the disease. There are many instances in which two or more children in the same household have been attacked.

3. Not always, but frequently.

4. It is believed that children are more receptive to the virus. In widespread epidemics the age of incidence rises and includes adults. Eighty-five per cent of the cases occur in those under 4 years of age.

5. There is no accepted antitoxin or vaccine. Neither the Brodie nor the Kolmer vaccine is advised. Convalescent serum is available in various centers and is thought to be helpful. There is a difference of opinion as to its value.

6. This is not definitly known, although it is stated to be from 3 to 7 days. Cases have been known to develop 30 days after exposure.

PROBABLY CONJUNCTIVITIS.

W. B. writes: My eyes are red and puffed up. The lids are very sore-looking. Some one told me I had granulated eyelids. What can I do?

REPLY.

A TAX ON WAGES.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 6.—I note in the papers where the Chicago office of internal revenue is appointing a large force of men and women to collect the New Deal's social security tax which begins next Jan. 1. This law was passed by congress about a year ago, but they were very careful not to put the collection of this obnoxious salary and wage tax into effect until after the election.

Of course it will be fine for the new employés to get from $100 to $200 per month [and thousands of others throughout the country getting the same], but how about the millions of poor devils on wages and salaries who will have to pay the bills?

This compulsory tax on pay rolls for old age pensions is unjust and impracticable. Why force it on those who do not want it? What good will this tax do workers who are 40 to 50 years old? To get a pension of $25 per month one will have to earn $125 per month steadily for the next twenty years, and to get a pension of $50 per month one will have to get a wage of $125 per month for 40 years before one starts getting his pension.

The workers are now getting such small pay and are confronted with steadily rising prices of everything they buy that it takes all they can rake and scrape to get by, let alone have a new wage tax slapped on them by a burocratic government in Washington.

When the employers pay their part it means either they will pass it back to the workers in lower wages or increase the prices of their products, which means a big increase in the cost of living. As a worker I am against this salary tax for the above reasons.

THOSE FOREIGN LOANS.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—In the address the other night by the President the point was made that the money loaned to foreign countries by the preceding administration was about equal to the increased debt which the present administration has incurred in money expended here at home. This statement made quite a hit, judging from the applause.

There is only one trouble with the above statement—namely, that it is not true.

The money loaned foreign countries during the preceding administration was not loaned by the administration at all. The loans were made through banks and private investment houses and let it not be forgotten Franklin Delano Roosevelt was the president and active member of the board of directors of one of these houses. The loans were not an administration affair at all and were a pure speculation on the part of the people who loaned the money.

Would it not be well to clear the impression that the President tried to convey, that these foreign loans were negotiated and made by a Republican administration?

A.—81 per cent greater under Roosevelt.

Q.—Has Postmaster General Farley urged voters to vote Democratic because of relief allotments?

ARRESTED.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Last Friday morning, at three minutes to 2, to be exact, my roommate and I punched the time clock where we are employed and started walking from the loop, down Clark street, tired from a hard night's work and eagerly looking forward to a nice long sleep.

At five minutes after 2 we were on our way to jail as a result of being picked up by a squad car. Only eight minutes had elapsed from the time we walked from the loop to Ontario street, yet we were charged with loitering.

The arresting officers did not care to hear our story, but promptly locked us in a cell and told us to tell it to the judge.

Although we told them it was necessary that we take that street every night they said that either we take the street car or get picked up every time they see us.

We stayed in jail until almost noon when we were informed by a rather pleasant faced man [who we later learned was a lawyer] that the judge was upstairs and for $5 each he would take us before the judge and we would be promptly discharged.

Fortunately we did not have the $5, because not more than five minutes after the shyster's proposition we appeared before the judge and without any questions being asked, and with merely a wave of the hand, we were dismissed.

I received little consolation next day when I complained to the police captain, as the world series was being played at that moment and he seemed to have difficulty in trying to converse with me and at the same time hear the play-by-play details of the game.

I do not consider myself a hardened criminal yet; however, I agree with many people that, if you are not a criminal and you have very many affairs with Chicago's guardians of peace, you will soon become a criminal.

NO AMERICAN COMPANY WOULD TAKE IT.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE flies the American flag on its front page and every day asks its readers the question, "What are you doing to save your country?"

Today's TRIBUNE bore a full page statement regarding Correspondent Jay Allen, wherein you boast of taking out a $50,000 life insurance policy, and to be sure, it is with a foreign company—Lloyd's of London.

Aren't American insurance companies good enough? Don't the premiums employ American workers, and aren't they invested in American institutions? Have you no faith in America? What are you doing to save America besides printing a lot of blah? Pfooey.

PUBLIC BILLBOARDS.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Of all the brazenness! Using police cars and park trucks as billboards to advertise a football game in Soldiers' field between two schools from other cities. It's bad enough to commercialize amateur football by playing the game in Chicago, but to extend the use of public facilities for promotion is the limit.

VICTOR H. STROMQUIST.

WEASEL WORDS.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Your front page article by Clifford Raymond is a mistake based upon mistaken understanding of what Roosevelt said.

Roosevelt did not repudiate communism. He repudiated the support of any advocate of communism or any other alien "ism." A very distinctive difference.

It was reported some time ago that Roosevelt takes hours to prepare a single phrase. Why does he do this? Just so the Clifford Raymonds—all of us—will take from his words what they superficially mean—not what he means! What does his use of the word alien mean? Just that Tugwell, Frankfurter, Ickes, Hopkins, Perkins, yea, even Farley, are not aliens but Americans, therefore their "isms" are American "isms," not alien.

Every utterance of our [ouch] President is full of the same double meaning, only your writers are not sufficiently suspicious to smoke him out. Look suspiciously upon his next speech and see if this is wrong!

ESTATE PROBLEM.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am administratrix of the estate of an attorney. I have an attorney handling the estate, but would appreciate knowing: [1] I understand the administratrix's fee is 6 per cent of all personal property [in this case there is no real estate]. What is the legal fee an attorney should charge and out of what funds is this fee paid?

If the party named as executrix in a will has money in trust for the person making the will at the time of his decease [2] is it legal for the executrix to withdraw money so held in trust in order to ship the remains to its final resting place, and then, of course, account for the money in the regular way?

3. Otherwise, how would the money be obtained? If the person named as executrix and the other surviving heirs agree to not probate the estate [4] is that legal, or is it necessary to probate?

I realize I could ask [5] the attorney these questions, but I prefer your advice in the matter.

M. L.

1. The Illinois statute says not over 6 per cent. In our opinion the attorney's fees should be paid out of this percentage, but some lawyers would disagree with us.

2. Yes, as far as the relationship between the executrix and the estate is concerned. Your reference to "withdrawing" the money implies that other persons may be involved and such persons could insist that the executrix qualify as such before making the withdrawal.

3. You are in a better position to say what credit is available than we are.

4. Yes, if the arrangement is satisfactory to all parties including possible creditors and future purchasers of real estate.

5. If an attorney has been employed in the matter he is in a better position to advise you than we are.

MOSCOW RENEWS VICIOUS ATTACK AGAINST LANDON

Reds Worried by Growing Strength of G. O. P.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Oct. 13.—Although avoiding an open endorsement of President Roosevelt in his election campaign, the August number of the Kommunistieceski international, which has just arrived here from Moscow, again confirmed that the American communist party is supporting Democratic candidates by actively supporting the Farmer-Labor party.

The intense interest of the Moscow Kremlin in the American campaign is indicated by the publication of two articles in the magazine, which is the official publicaton of the communist international, discussing the election.

The chief problem confronting the communist party in America, the journal repeated, is to defeat Gov. Alfred M. Landon and the Republican party. It did not mention the article published in the July issue, in which Earl Browder, communist candidate for president said, the communist party intended to support President Roosevelt, even though it failed to agree with his policies, because it thought Gov. Landon must be defeated. Browder is carrying out the instructions of the Kremlin in the United States.

Reds Fear "Strong Hand."

The August issue of the journal expressed fear that victory for the Republicans will give the United States a President with a "strong hand." President Roosevelt, the magazine said, is vacillating between liberal and radical policies. The journal bitterly attacked the Republicans for their conservative, America first policy, which it alleged to be leading America toward Fascism and war.

Just whom America is going to fight was not mentioned by the Kremlin writers, who resorted to virulent epithets in describing the Republican party and its candidates. It is considered significant that President Roosevelt was not attacked in the articles.

The growth of Republican sentiment in America amazed the journal, which said this development proves that the American branch of the communist international is following the correct policy by supporting the Farmer-Labor group, which it again explained is supporting Roosevelt.

Assails Union Party.

American reds also were reported by the journal to be working energetically among labor unions with the propaganda that Landon's election means destruction of labor organizations and the end of prosperity.

The position of the Republican party has undoubtedly strengthened, according to Moscow opinion, which blames the Union party for stealing Democratic votes. For every voter which the Republicans lose to the Union party, the Democrats are losing eight, according to the paper. The activity of the Union party is called especially dangerous because it is taking the more radical part of President Roosevelt's following, who are said to be disillusioned with the President's leniency toward reaction.

President Roosevelt's weakness, according to Moscow, is his failure to be revolutionary enough to obtain the support of the great group of disatisfied Americans which the communist international claims is ready to follow a radical leader.

Sees "Fascist Danger."

"A large mass of American voters," continued the journal, "who represent organized labor, realize the danger of Fascism and reaction in America and recognize the necessity of forming a Farmer-Labor party. However, many of them have rallied to the support of President Roosevelt. It is significant that the Labor party founded in New York by labor's Nonpartisan league is being supported by President Roosevelt and also the candidate for the post of governor of New York is the present governor, Herbert H. Lehman, a Democrat."

REVERSE FATHER'S SENTENCE TO JAIL IN ODD SUPPORT CASE

The Appellate court in a two to one decision yesterday reversed a Superior court order entered by Judge Rudolph Desort last January committing Dr. Thomas L. Dwyer, 6517 Harvard avenue, to jail for contempt for failure to pay $10 a week to his divorced wife Frances, 35 years old, for support of their son, Thomas E., 11 years old.

When Mrs. Dwyer, a pharmacist employed in the Ravenswood hospital, divorced her husband, a former coroner's physician, in 1927, her parents adopted the Dwyers' son. The grandparents suffering financial reverses, Mrs. Dwyer had their adoption set aside and legally adopted her son on Dec. 21, 1934, after testifying she was well able to support him.

In January, 1935, however, she won a court order compelling her former husband to pay $10 a week for his son's support. For failure to pay, Dr. Dwyer was ordered to jail for six months. The Appellate court ordered Dr. Dwyer freed of the jail sentence on the ground that adopting parents assume all responsibilities for foster children, absolving the real parents of all obligation, and Dr. Dwyer was not a party to his former wife's adoption of their son. The majority opinion was signed by Judges John M. O'Connor and David F. Matchett. The minority opinion by Judge John H. McSurely held that the adoption by the mother restored the child to both parents.

SECOND SUICIDE EFFORT SUCCEEDS.

SEEK TO SILENCE RADIOS CARRYING BROWDER TALKS

Demand NBC Licenses Be Revoked.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—A formal demand that licenses of National Broadcasting company stations be revoked because they allowed Earl Browder, communist candidate for President, and other Red speakers to use their facilities was made on the Federal Communications commission today.

There was considerable doubt whether the FCC, a New Deal agency possessing a throttle hold over radio through its licensing powers, would act upon the request before election. A factor in the situation is the support given to President Roosevelt by Browder and the communist party.

Charges Plot Against Government.

The complaint before the FCC was filed by the National Civic federation, with headquarters in New York, through its attorney, Archibald E. Stevenson. It was based on charges that Browder and James Ford, colored and communist candidate for Vice President, were involved in an "unlawful conspiracy in violation of the criminal code of the United States" to overthrow the government with violence.

The radio speeches involved were given by Browder on Aug. 28 and by Ford on Sept. 21 over the red network of the broadcasting company.

The object of the communist party, according to the federation's protest, was "to attempt the establishment of a soviet form of government in the United States in place of the form of government guaranteed by the constitution and to do so by various illegal means, including conspiracy to overthrow, put down or destroy by force the government, to oppose by force the authority thereof, and to teach the doctrin that organized government should be overthrown by force, violence, and unlawful means."

Cites Communist Publication.

The complaint called to the commission's attention a publication entitled "Program of the Communist International," issued by the Workers Library Publishers, Inc., of which Browder is president. The book spoke of a "revolutionary upsurge" declaring that "the conquest of power by the proletariat is the violent overthrow of bourgeois power, the destruction of the capitalist state apparatus," etc.

The acts and utterances of the communist party, according to the federation's brief, constituted a crime and a felony on the part of officers and members, a seditious conspiracy within the meaning of section 6 of the United States criminal code. This statute provides punishment for conspiring to destroy the government by force.

The communist party was not a political party but a society paying in dues, a fraudulent device to recruit members and carry out the objects of the Third Internationale at Moscow from whence its orders came, the brief said.

Because of these purposes, the federation declared, the FCC should find that neither Browder nor Ford were legally qualified candidates. The federation demanded a public hearing and asked that communist leaders and their literature be haled in to testify.

The FCC had previously taken the stand that Browder had as much right to the air as any other party candidate. This was in the case of WCAE, a Hearst owned station of Pittsburgh, which was warned by the FCC to carry Browder's speeches.

REDS FOR ROOSEVELT

Claude Lightfoot, colored, who is Communist nominee for attorney general of Illinois, addressed the Browder-for-President club composed of University of Chicago students at its first meeting on the Midway campus yesterday.

Lightfoot is campaigning despite the fact that the Communist party has been barred from the ballot in Illinois. He explained that the Communists desire the reëlection of President Roosevelt because he is a man they can influence.

"Roosevelt is a man who yields to popular pressure," Lightfoot declared. "This pressure has been exerted by the working class, and the Communists want to be among the elements which force concessions from Roosevelt.

His View of the Issue.

"The issue in this campaign is not between socialism and capitalism, but between fascism and democracy. We believe that the Liberty league will eventually resort to force of arms and terrorism to gain its Fascist goal, and we believe that to vote for Landon will be to encourage the Liberty league.

"Consequently the Communist party does not favor the election of Alfred Landon. It seeks to be among those who will exert pressure on President Roosevelt and swing him further to the left."

For the first two years after the election of Roosevelt, capitalism favored the New Deal because it believed Roosevelt would save capitalism, Lightfoot said. This support fell away when there was no genuine recovery, Lightfoot continued. He said the Liberty league was formed to promote increased profits by reducing the wages of workers.

Fifty-three students attended the opening meeting of the Browder-for-President club which was held in the Harper library assembly room. The president of the organization, Miss Virginia Schwartz, a junior, announced that the purpose of the club is to demonstrate that the Communists propose to come into power by legal means, not by violence.

HUNT ROOSEVELT BUTTON TAKERS IN LOOP CROWDS

They Are Free, but 300 Girls Have Troubles.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Roosevelt buttons were distributed in the loop yesterday by 300 girls, members of the Young Democrats of Cook County. Carrying market bags full of the emblems, the workers buttonholed all passers.

If a man wore a Landon sunflower, they compromised with a gay "Roosevelt button, mister?" but if a man wore three Roosevelt buttons, the girls pinned on two more.

One girl estimated that one out of every three passers took a button. Another estimated one out of every five, but Miss Madeline Wisa, 3619 West 26th street, who was "buttonholing" at State and Madison streets, lamented bitterly about those who scorned her offerings.

"You know," she confided, "they could just be nice about it and pass on by, but when I said 'Roosevelt button, gentlemen?' to one group of men, one of them turned around and laughed and joked at me. Most of them just look."

Deep South Feels Deeply.

With that she bent down to retrieve a button tossed back at her and started again, as she arose, with her "Roosevelt button, mister?"

"Listen, sister," a large, lean "mister" replied, as he shook a determined head. "I just come from Birmingham—Birmingham, Ala.—and I brought back five Landon sunflower ties with me. What do you think about that?"

"Roosevelt button, lady?" was Miss Wisa's reply, as she pressed a button, full of stars, flags, and a red map of Illinois, toward a woman shopper.

"Not for me. I should say not," responded the woman with mounting indignation. "I wouldn't be guilty of wearing one of those things."

"Now isn't that a shame?" asked Miss Wisa, in an aside as she looked at the pile of buttons deep in her market bag. "You'd think she could keep still about it."

A tall woman in a purple cardigan sweater came stringing along. "No, no," she shook her head. "No, I believe in it, but I don't want to be branded. I stay out of politics."

"Well, the principal trouble," Miss Wisa explained judiciously, as she gazed sorrowfully after the purple cardigan, "is that people think we're selling the buttons."

A Pre-Election Decision.

Later in the day, a Landon Volunteer approached a Roosevelt worker on the southwest corner of State and Monroe streets.

"I have fifty Landon sunflowers here," she said, "and I wonder if you'll count out fifty Roosevelt buttons, and let's see who gets rid of the fifty first."

"I will not!" the Roosevelt worker replied.

"Well," the Landonite said, "you don't mind if I stand here beside you with my sunflowers, do you?"

"Roosevelt button?" barked the Young Democrat. "Landon sunflower?" called the Volunteer.

A wizened little man addressed the Volunteer: "Can I have five? My family wants some, too."

This Is Getting Serious.

"Roosevelt button?" cried the Young Democrat.

"No," said a young man, pressing past her. "Here's what I want, a sunflower."

"Now, listen, here—" expostulated the Young Democrat, her voice vibrant with rage.

"Landon sunflower?" beamed her rival.

By ones, twos, and threes the yellow emblems were gone.

"Less than four minutes," the Volunteer called triumphantly. "I'm sold out!"

"Pooh!" replied the Young Democrat. "I've emptied two market bags of buttons today."

Woman Wins Court Delay with Story of Sick Baby

Mrs. Warbun was arrested in a loop store last Friday. She told police she and her baby lived at 2826 West [illegible]8th street, Blue Island. Police were told that Mrs. Warbun was not known there. The woman reiterated her story in court yesterday.

JESSE JONES OF RFC ADVOCATES EASING TAX ON SURPLUSES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Advocating modification of the surplus tax act, Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation at the same time tonight disputed charges that the administration is antagonistic to business.

Recovery has so progressed since enactment of the surplus taxes, Jones said, that the law can be amended to "encourage expenditures for modernization of all character" without unduly affecting treasury receipts or "delaying treasury plans for balancing the budget." He also advocated some other provision for debt burdened institutions.

PAROLED CONVICT GETS 20 YEARS AS CRIME REPEATER

CRIMINAL COURT.

Joseph Hickey, larceny of an automobile, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Lawrence Wayne, robbery, sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary under the habitual criminal act by Judge Benjamin Epstein.

Lawrence Wayne, alias D. W. Chapman, 30 years old, a PAROLED CONVICT, was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary by Judge Benjamin Epstein in the Criminal court yesterday under the habitual criminal act.

On Sept. 3 Wayne used a toy gun to hold up the Feld's Frock shop at 20 East Adams street. He forced three employés into a rear room of the shop while he looted the cash register of $52. Two of the employés, Miss Margaret Hill and Miss Hazel Hennessy, slipped through a rear door and summoned a policeman, who arrested Wayne as he was leaving.

Wayne also admitted robbing a hosiery shop at 4626 Sheridan road, but this charge was nol prossed.

FLIES TO NEWARK TO MEET THE HAT THAT SAW WORLD

Newark, N. J., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Albert E. Wickey, 60 year old St. Louis retired freight handler, arrived today at the Newark airport from Chicago and will be here tomorrow to greet his hat which five months ago started on a trip around the world.

In those five months Wickey, the man, who had never been away from St. Louis until he flew here, has taken a vicarious trip around the world, seeing its wonders through the top piece.

When Wickey retired on a pension last spring after eighteen years as a freight handler he threw the battered hat away. Fellow employés fished it out of an ash can, put a tag on it asking expressmen to "give it a good ride," and placed it on a train.

The hat has been riding ever since—and so has the man, in his imagination—to California, Central America, all around South America, Germany via the Graf Zeppelin, Europe, Africa, India, Australia, and the orient by the airways, then from Hongkong to Manila on a steamer, to San Francisco on an air clipper, Alaska and back to Seattle by steamer and airliner and, finally, to Newark.

'BIG BOY' CITED FOR CONTEMPT AGAIN; 3D TIME

The third contempt writ against William Cannady, alias "Big Boy Kennedy," 3130 South Union street, was issued yesterday by Judge Cecil Smith in Municipal court. The second of such writs expired yesterday.

On Sunday, Sept. 13, Cannady appeared at Judge Smith's home with Benny Berof, a professional bondsman, and asked the judge to sign a worthless bond for the release of Louis Swinberg, a pickpocket with a long record who was held on a charge of larceny. Judge Smith complied with the request.

Berof is now serving 90 days in the Bridewell for having said that Swinberg, who did not appear when his case was called, was a reputable citizen. Judge Smith wants to ask Cannady why he also spoke for Swinberg's good character. Balifs have been unable to find Cannady.

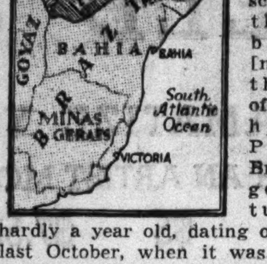
NEW DEAL BRINGS PROSPERITY—TO BRAZIL JUNGLES

Natives "Roll in Wealth" on U. S. Nut Pact.

[American dairymen have made strenuous protests to the United States department of state against the reciprocal trade treaty with Brazil under which babassu nuts and babassu nut oil can be imported to the United States duty free for three years. They contend it harms their industry by encouraging production of imitation butter. The National Dairy union informed Secretary of State Cordell Hull in August that "practically every pound of babassu oil can be used in edible products, thus competing not only directly with cottonseed oil, lard, and butter, but both directly and indirectly with corn oil, soy bean oil, peanut oil, and tallow." The following story reveals the other side of the picture—that of the Brazilian "coboclo," or native.]

BY ANTHONY PATRIC.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 13.—A new prosperity—some observers have dubbed it the whoopee era of babassun—has descended on the "caboclos" [natives] of the states of Maranhao and Piauhy, Brazil. The good fortune is hardly a year old, dating only since last October, when it was rumored the United States intended to sign an agreement with Brazil allowing babassu nuts and babassu oil free entry.

The agreement was duly signed and became effective last Jan. 1 for three years. It provided not only free entry, but also that the United States would impose no internal taxes on babassu nuts or oil during the life of the agreement.

Live "Life of Riley."

Since October, therefore, and especially since January, many Brazilian "caboclos" have thrived beyond their own expectations. Many found that by working, even leisurely and only occasionally, they could earn more money than they ever dared dream of and live a sort of "life of Riley."

The United States' agreement makes it possible now to market babassu nuts, which three business firms previously found they could not do. A New York company gave up the project after three years, although it had obtained from the state of Maranhao a land concession larger than Henry Ford got in Para for his modern rubber farm.

Then a Belgian diamond merchant promoted the Companhia Tyryassuense Limitada, which also got a large land concession in the municipality of Tury-Assu on the coast. It found the babassu undertaking unprofitable after two years.

French Baron Tries It.

Finally Baron de Lagetellerie of France came to Maranhao with about 5,000,000 French francs. His organization, the Companhia de Culturas Tropicaes de Maranhao, could not export the babassu nuts collected by its men.

In 1929 a large American soap manufacturing company tried to close contracts with firms at Para, Maranhao, and Piauhy for from 6,000 to 10,000 tons of babassu nuts monthly. Most exporters would not hear of it.

"There is no babassu industry in our country," they said. "The caboclo will never take the trouble to collect nuts at such a low price."

One firm offered to take up tentatively a contract to deliver from 5 to 10 tons of nuts monthly.

How Things Change.

How things have changed! Now, in the minds of many northwestern Brazilians, babassu nuts mean what rubber meant in the Amazon valley. Statistics show that the exportation of babassu nuts from northwestern Brazil was about 75,000,000 pounds for the first eight months of this year. Of this 56,000,000 pounds were shipped to the United States.

Shipments of babassu nuts from Brazil were almost nil in September, 1935. The next month 500,000 pounds were shipped to the United States alone. In November and December exports from the ports of Sao Luiz de Maranhao and Tutoya to American ports reached 14,500,000 pounds.

Babassu nuts are produced by palm trees which grow in the wilderness in patches of more than 100 trees each. The nuts are about the size of a lemon. As many as 400 grow in one bunch. The coboclos tramp through the wilds until they find a grove of the trees, then pick up the nuts and sack them. Each nut contains eight to twelve almonds, from which 60 to 70 per cent of oil can be extracted.

Wets Win in Decatur Vote; Taverns to Open Sundays

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Decatur "wets" today defeated "drys" by the narrow margin of 980 votes in a referendum on Sunday tavern opening. The referendum vote makes it mandatory for the city council to repeal its ordinance requiring taverns to close on Sunday. Voters also approved a special two-thirds mill recreation tax in the referendum.

WAKE ISLAND, Oct. 14 [Wednesday.]—(AP)—The China Clipper, bearing newspaper men as passengers preliminary to opening of regular trans-Pacific air transport service, left Wake at 5:03 a. m. today [1:03 p. m., Tuesday, Chicago time], for Guam. The 1,600 mile hop is part of the 8,000 mile flight from Alameda, Cal., to Manila. The big flying boat had been held at Wake since its arrival Sunday because of a typhoon that swept the Philippines, and by heavy seas at Guam.

Hawaii Clipper Off for U. S.

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 14.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—The Hawaii Clipper, trans-Pacific seaplane, hopped off at dawn today, en route to Alameda, Cal., with H. R. Ekins, one of three newspaper men racing around the world by established means of transportation, aboard.

Ekins was far ahead of his two competitors, Dorothy Kilgallen and Leo Kieran. They expect to reach here in time to make the flight from Manila to Alameda aboard the China Clipper.

JURY DISAGREES ON 3 WELSH FOES OF BRITISH RULE

Defendants Defend Firing of Bombing School.

CARNARVON, Wales, Oct. 13.—(AP)—A dour Welsh pastor testified today that he and two other Welsh Nationalists were justified in burning buildings of a British bombing school because:

"The English government's behavior in the matter of the bombing school is exactly the behavior of the new antichrist throughout Europe."

Charged with malicious destruction of the king's property, the obdurate preacher, the Rev. Lewis Valentine, gravely insisted in court that his actions had been motivated by his "responsibility for the kingdom of God in Wales."

Jury Disagrees on Guilt.

The jury deliberated 40 minutes and then announced a disagreement. Valentine and his co-defendants, Prof. John Saunders Lewis of Swansea university and D. J. Williams, school teacher, were bound over for trial at the next assizes.

Specifically they were charged with causing $10,000 damage by burning buildings of the Royal Air Force Bombing school at Pwllheli, Wales.

As suddenly festive crowds of Welshfolk carried the defendants on their shoulders to the street after the trial, Valentine exhorted the populace on the subject of "governmental iniquity."

The street demonstrations climaxed a day of testimony in which the defendants insisted their confessed incendiarism had been made necessary by a British government "threat against the nationalism and peace-loving beliefs of the Welsh people."

Recognizes "Higher Law."

"We are accused in this dock of challenging the antichrist," Valentine intoned somberly. "If you find us guilty, the world will understand that the English government may destroy the moral character of the nation.

"The establishment of the bombing field would make imminent the death of our Welsh nation. This we cannot endure, for the nation is sacred and holy."

The judge demanded that the witness confine his remarks to those relevant to the case before him.

"We acted in fear of God," Valentine continued, against "immoral violation of the natural rights of the Welsh nation by the British government.

'It is my responsibility for the kingdom of God in Wales that urged me to strike the blow for Wales. Our allegiance to Christianity is infinitely higher than our allegiance to the laws of England."

He had been preceded on the stand by Lewis, who testified with frequent lapses into Welsh.

The burnings, he testified, were "an effective protest" against both the military aspects of the school and against the blot on the Welsh landscape that the Nationalists considered the buildings.

Stubbornly insisting they would testify only in Welsh, the defendants finally were prevailed upon to enter not guilty pleas in English.

During the testimony police had to disperse bands of young Welsh folk who sang native songs outside the courtroom.

SCHOOLS' PLANT COST TOO HIGH, PROFESSOR SAYS

The Chicago board of education is devoting too much of its 1936 budget to business administration and plant operation, thereby forcing a reduction in instructional expenditures, Prof. William C. Reavis of the University of Chicago said yesterday in an address before the Rotary club in the Hotel Sherman.

"Appropriations aggregating $2,139,978 are made in the 1936 budget for administration and general control, or 4.2 per cent of the total budget for current expenses," Prof. Reavis said. "This is 2.3 per cent higher than the comparable appropriation for New York in 1936."

Prof. Reavis said Chicago spends 29.7 per cent of its school dollar for noninstructional purposes, which is more than nine other large cities spend for the same purpose. The average for cities over 100,000 population is 21.9 per cent.

PARDON BOARD HEARS PLEAS OF FIFTY CONVICTS

The state pardon board took under advisement some fifty pleas for clemency in Springfield last night after spending the day in hearings.

Among the cases was that of Samuel Howard Dorr, former Chicago insurance agent, who is serving a life term in prison for the murder here of William J. O'Brien. Dorr was convicted by a jury in 1930 on evidence that he conspired with O'Brien's wife to murder her husband in order to collect insurance.

"It was a cold blooded murder," Donald O'Brien and his son, Donald Jr., father and brother of the murder victim, told the board.

Mrs. Mary Davis asked leniency for her son, Joseph Crown, who is serving a life sentence for the murder of Policeman Frank J. Blazek of Chicago. Crown was sentenced in 1926.

FINED FOR ROW IN Y. M. C. A.

Sigmund Zaleski, 56 years old, 1800 Division street, was fined $1 by Judge Thomas A. Green in the Jury court yesterday on a charge of creating a disturbance in the Division street Y. M. C. A. on Oct. 3.

Weighs 200 Pounds

What its makers claim to be the world's largest sausage, 18 feet long, 7 inches thick, and weighing 200 pounds, was presented yesterday by Oscar F. Mayer, packer, to the Angel Guardian orphanage, Ridge and Devon avenues. There are more than 800 children in the institution. The huge sausage was manufactured as a feature of the meat packers' convention now being held at the Blackstone hotel.

NEW TREATMENT AVOIDS KNIFE IN PROSTATE CASES

Restores Virility, Too, in Many Men.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 13.—(AP)—New discoveries in the treatment of prostate gland trouble whereby the potency of man can be restored and the need of surgery eliminated in most cases were related to the international medical assembly today.

Dr. L. F. Hawkinson, Brainerd, Minn., explaining this recent work with the prostate gland, demonstrated what he said was the potency of male sex hormone in synthetic crystalline form.

Most prostate ailments in man now are treated by surgery with removal of part or all of the gland. In benign cases, Dr. Hawkinson claims he can correct the ailments by injections of the male sex hormone in most cases.

Reports Rapid Results.

"So far," he said, "we have had very encouraging results. We have been able to reduce the size of the gland to normal in three or four weeks."

In the case of one 76 year old man, who had been impotent for six years, Dr. Hawkinson said he had restored the patient's potency by the injection method.

The hormones Dr. Hawkinson has used have been made from hog and cattle gall stones. He has used them on roosters with surprising results.

Capons Roosters Again.

In one experiment, he caponized four roosters at the age of six weeks. Ten weeks later he injected the synthetic male sex hormone in three of the birds.

Every one of the three within the next three to six weeks developed a healthy, large sized comb like a normal cock, and all crowed like normal birds. They exhibited the characteristics, he said, of a normal male.

Dr. Hawkinson said he had been told by a Berlin, Germany, research worker that to his knowledge this was the first time that such striking male characteristics had been restored in a capon.

Admits Hiring 2 to Smash Window of Rival Store

Irving Bullard, 46 years old, 164 North Lotus avenue, owner of a school supply store at 5441 West End avenue, confessed yesterday to Investigator Gus Bartels of the state's attorney's office that he paid $5 to two men to toss a brick through the window of Louis Stein's store at 5461 West End avenue on Oct. 1. Bullard was implicated by the two men, Carl Nicoletti, 24 years old, 5412 Quincy street, a PAROLEE from Pontiac reformatory, and James Bianco, 26, of 5420 Flournoy street, who had been arrested by the Austin police.

FRENCH ATTACK NAZI PROTEST ON HITLER 'INSULT'

Claim Germany 'Meddles' in Paris Affairs.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Germany's official protest that a French communist leader had "insulted" Adolf Hitler tonight evoked countercharges from French leftists that the reich had "meddled" in French internal affairs.

The communist party called Germany's action an "intolerable intrusion," and announced it would publish the full text of the speech by the party's secretary general, Maurice Thorez, which German officials said contained the remarks derogatory to Hitler.

The German protest, delivered orally by its chargé d'affaires at Paris to a French foreign office official, led to fears Germany might seize the alleged insult as justification for not attending any future Locarno conference.

Claims Remarks "Magnified."

The remarks of Thorez, official quarters said, had been purposely "magnified" by the official German press as justification for German nonparticipation in Locarno talks. Besides Germany, Locarno signatories are Great Britain, France, Italy, and Belgium.

The protest coincided with the Paris arrival of Maxim Litvinov, Russia's foreign commissar, for talks with French Premier Leon Blum.

The German embassy had charged:

1. That Thorez said French communists "prefer an honorable Negro to a dishonorable Hitler," and

2. That the communists had displayed cartoons showing Hitler, with a gleaming bulbous nose, holding a bloody knife in clenched teeth as he sat atop the crumbling pillars of "culture, religion, and art."

Disturbed by Border Meetings.

The main point, a German spokesman said, was Germany's disturbed attitude over the French government's allowance of communist propaganda meetings in Alsace-Lorraine last week-end.

French Leftists replied that, after all, communists in every nation on the globe delighted in unkind caricatures of Hitler, so why should the French communists be singled out?

Though the press of both nations is aligned against each other bitterly, diplomatic spokesmen said that the oral protest by Dirk Forster, the German charge, to Paul Bargeton, director of political and commercial affairs for the French foreign office, had been "entirely friendly."

Anxiety was expressed in some circles, however, lest the threatened diplomatic breach might nullify the financial rapprochement between the nations which resulted from the recent Paris visit of the reich minister of economics, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht.

MOSLEY DEFIES REDS TO BREAK UP BRITISH FASCIST ORGANIZATION

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Sir Oswald Mosley, leader of British Fascists, tonight defied the communist party to break up his organization. Scorning the suggestion that his "lads" part with their black shirt uniforms, as demanded by the communist party in a note to Home Secretary Sir John Simon, Sir Oswald declared:

"Let them [the communists] quit crying until the government passes such a measure."

The communist party note, which also asked the government to close the doors of 500 Fascist party branches throughout the United Kingdom, probably will be considered by the cabinet tomorrow, along with complaints about Fascist "rowdies" from other sources.

Mosley has declined to reveal the exact size of his forces. Some idea of the membership may be gained, however, by the fact 7,000 uniformed members of both sexes recently staged a demonstration here.

BRITAIN WATCHES U. S. COLONIZING OF JARVIS ISLAND

Ship Seen Scanning Potential Air Base.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A report to the interior department today indicated Great Britain is watching with interest the American colonization of Jarvis island, potential air base in the south Pacific.

Richard B. Black, interior department representative at Honolulu, said Hawaiian youths serving as American colonists on Jarvis reported an unidentified British warship remained all one day off the island last month. The ship, they said, then sailed away without attempting to put a landing party ashore.

Other information led officials here to express the belief the vessel was the cruiser Wellington, recently reported in the nearby south Pacific.

Island a Mere Sandbar.

Jarvis, a mere sandbar more than 1,000 miles south of Honolulu, is strategically situated on a potential United States-Hawaii-New Zealand air route. Over it, and Howland and Baker islands, 1,000 miles to the west, American sovereignty was formally asserted in March last year. Four youths from Hawaii since have lived on each island. The interior department pays them $3 a day and provides all supplies.

The Jarvis colonists have a radio which is used experimentally to communicate with Honolulu, it was said at the interior department, but those on Howland and Baker are without communication with the outside world except when a coast guard cutter arrives from Honolulu every three months.

Britain Takes Action.

The visit of the warship to Jarvis followed a London report that Great Britain recently reasserted its sovereignty over the Phoenix islands, a group of eight with a population of about 60, just over the equator and about 200 miles south of Jarvis. The state department said it had not been notified of such action, however.

FRANCE RECEIVES W. C. BULLITT AS U.S. AMBASSADOR

Envoy Promises to Try to Unite Nations.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Ambassador William C. Bullitt, who was first United States envoy to soviet Russia, pledged himself to efforts to reinforce Franco-American friendship on the basis of loyalty to "liberty, democracy and peace" in presenting his credentials to President Albert Lebrun today at Elysee palace. Lebrun replied he would find the French unanimously in accord with his efforts.

The new United States envoy, who succeeds Jesse Isidor Straus, resigned prior to his recent death, brought greetings to President Lebrun from President Roosevelt "for the happiness and prosperity of your great country."

Will Strengthen Ties.

"My mission will be to strengthen the friendly relations that already exist between our countries," said Ambassador Bullitt. "I pledge you every effort within my power to strengthen, if possible, the traditional friendship which long has existed between our countries."

Replying to Ambassador Bullitt, Lebrun said:

"The secular friendship uniting our two nations corresponds in a manner never more clear to the instinctive wishes and thoughts of our two peoples. The principles of liberty, democracy, and peace are to both peoples the objects of a veritable cult. For both, they constitute the most precious patrimony and remain the laws of pacific progress and human dignity."

Touched by Greetings.

Lebrun declared he was deeply touched by the greetings from President Roosevelt.

He expressed in turn his "warmest wishes for good fortune for him personally and for the nation he directs with such brilliance."

The President paid tribute to the late Ambassador Straus as a "great diplomatic representative, an eminent citizen of profound liberal spirit and a devoted friend" whose death caused "real sadness" in France.

DORIOT, POTENTIAL FRENCH DICTATOR, TO FIGHT FOR 'LIBERTIES'

PARIS, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Sometimes described as a prospective "dictator of France," Jacques Doriot, founder of the French Popular party, announced tonight he was ready to join other rightist leaders in demanding that Socialist Premier Leon Blum's government "maintain constitutional liberties" in France.

Writing in the "Emancipation Nationale," Doriot denounced the government's decision to curb political meetings as an attack on the "inalienable liberties of French citizens and parties." Simultaneously he attacked the Communists as being responsible for the government's action and prophesied they would "not stop there" in the "campaign to wreck all liberty in France."

Doriot quit the communist party after a visit to Moscow in 1934. His program calls for the establishment of a dictatorship under a corporate state and the integration of French economy with that of her colonies.

STEAL NINETY MEN'S SUITS.

Plymouth, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Burglars who timed their work to avoid two night policemen forced the lock to the front door of the J. C. Penney department store here last night and escaped with ninety men's suits. Cary Burzer, manager, estimated the loss at $1,440.

FRANCE, ITALY AGREE TO CURB 'SUB' WARFARE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Unrestricted submarine warfare and its attendant horrors are to be outlawed by the world's leading naval powers once and for all, it was asserted today. France and Italy, the British foreign office announced, have agreed to sign the protocol making up part four of the London naval treaty of 1930 forbidding the use of submarines except under strict limitations.

The United States, Great Britain and Japan accepted the protocol when the treaty was signed, but with the restriction that others also must accept. The pact has no time limit, being binding until superseded or dropped by common agreement. It forbids the sinking of unarmed merchantmen unless they refuse to submit to search and in any case provides they must not be sunk unless the passengers and crew are carried to safety. A ship's boats are not accepted as safety unless in easy reach of land.

Actually this merely underlines the generally accepted principles of international law which were freely violated by Germany in the last war, but it is felt their embodiment in the form of a treaty may add authority.

JERUSALEM CUTS CURFEW; CITY NEARS NORMALCY

JERUSALEM, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The curfew which has paralyzed night life here today was ordered shortened by two hours as conditions rapidly approached normal following official termination of the Arab general strike against Jewish immigration.

Reports of shiping and sabotage against Jewish settlements came from Rishon le Zion, Ness Ziona and Kfar Tabor, at the foot of Mount Tabor.

The curfew period in Jerusalem will run from 9 p. m. to 4 a. m. instead of starting at 7 p. m. Reports were current that the curfew would be abolished Thursday.

LINCOLN NOTE ON ITALIAN EUROPE BRANDED FAKE

1853 Letter Saw Rome as Continental Capital.

ROME, Oct. 13.—(AP)—A much disputed letter in which Abraham Lincoln supposedly envisaged Rome as the capital of "the United States of Europe" was labeled a fake today.

In the letter, purported to have been written in 1853 to a lieutenant of Giuseppe Mazzini, Italian liberator, Lincoln was supposed to have approved Italian territorial expansion.

Henry Furst, a writer, of New York, told a national convention of experts on America the letter was not authentic.

Style Florid and Rambling.

Furst substantiated the opinion of Prof. Matteo Bartoli of the University of Turin, who declared the letter was spurious for a variety of reasons.

They agreed the florid, rambling style of the message was incompatible with Lincoln's terse, matter of fact manner.

Their most damaging evidence was the letter's reference to "Venezia Giulia," a province which did not come into existence until 1860, seven years after the date of the message.

They pointed out also that the original persistently has been withheld from scholars.

Aims to Lay Ghost of Fraud.

Furst was warmly applauded when he told the assemblage he wished "to lay the ghost of this old fraud once and for all."

The latter, dated from Springfield, Ill., before Lincoln became President, was published first by the Historical Society of the Italian Renaissance in 1931, with the consent of the Italian government.

It met almost immediate fire from skeptical students of Lincoln, and the late Henry Nelson Gay, American historian, declared it was not genuine.

Before its publication the letter was used in an effort to influence President Wilson at the Versailles peace conference to favor Italian claims to the Dalmatian coast.

The Letter.

Predicting Rome would be the capital of the United States of Europe, the letter referred to ancient appelations of Rome as the world capital and said:

"The privileged geographical position itself of the Eternal City justifies in the eyes of every one this augural prophecy—that most glorious Rome, which gave civilization to all the terrestial globe, which discovered us, created, redeemed, educated, and nourished us morally with her indestructible laws."

The letter recommended Italy, merely a geographical name for independent states in 1853, should be unified and should include the three major islands of the Mediterranean—Sardinia, Corsica and Sicily—as well as the provinces of Lombardy and Venice, the Tridentine and Julian Venice [Venezia Giula].

The letter, addressed to Macedonia Melloni, a scientist and patriot of that time who was director of the Vesuvius observatory, is owned now by Nino D'Althan, a descendant both of Melloni and Count Camillo Cavour, statesman of Italy's unification.

Tear Gas Routs 200 from Canadian Relief Depot

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Tear gas routed more than 200 men who broke into a relief depot today after slugging a police officer. Seven were arrested and a number injured. The men ran in the direction of the British Columbia employment office several blocks away and then apparently decided to head for their usual meeting place on Cordova street.

Springfield Sergeant Again Heads Policemen's Group

Moline, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Myran C. Cantrall, detective sergeant of Springfield, was reëlected president of the Policemen's Benevolent and Protective association of Illinois at the closing session of the organization's first convention here today. Rollo Blunt of Champaign was elected first vice president.

FRUSTRATE BOMBING OF SPANISH VESSEL IN FRENCH HARBOR

MARSEILLES, France, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Customs guards frustrated an attempt to blow up the Spanish sailboat Cala Pi, a 197 ton wooden craft, at the docks here today. The ship's crew is loyal to the Madrid government.

The guards discovered a burning fuse on the dock, traced it, and found on the bridge of the ship a basket packed with seven bombs charged with dynamite and other high explosives. Artillery men were summoned and removed the bombs.

The Cala Pi, registered at Palma, Mallorca, arrived in Marseilles last night from Barcelona with a cargo of melons and rice to be transferred to another freighter for shipment to the United States. Officials stated they believed the bombing attempt had been made on the Cala Pi by mistake and been intended instead for the Margarita Tabernera, which had left the same dock shortly before with a cargo of sugar for Barcelona.

CATALONIA VOWS FIGHT TO END ON SPANISH REBELS

BARCELONA, Spain, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Determination of Catalonia to "go to whatever end necessary" for victory against the Spanish Fascists in the civil war was expressed today by President Luis Companys.

"We're not fighting for Madrid or any other government," he declared in an interview. "We're fighting for the liberties, the greatness and the traditions of Spain, for honor, for the Spanish republic and for the interests of civilization.

"The rebels represent reaction in its most frightful form—absolutism. They are directed by a military burocracy which has been strangling the independence of civilian life. It is a burocracy which has gone from one disaster to another, from Cuba to Morocco," he said. "We will not lay down our arms until we have conquered. Catalonia has a free border because we defeated the rebels in the first fight. The enthusiasm and courage of Catalonia will never fail because this fight is bound to have great influence in the rest of the world."

RUSSIA SUBMITS SECOND NOTE TO BAN AID TO SPAIN

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Moiseyevich Kagan, Russian representative, presented a second protest note to Lord Plymouth, chairman of the Spanish nonintervention committee, tonight.

The note asked that the committee be reconvened at the earliest possible date to consider again Russian protests that Germany, Italy and Portugal aided the Spanish insurgents in direct violation of the neutrality pact. The new note was authoritatively understood to present concrete proposals designed to prevent future violations of the agreement.

It was recalled that the official communique issued after last Friday's committee meeting on the Russian charges said: "In view of the fact that no concrete proposals were before the committee on this occasion, no action could be taken."

AIRLINE FLYERS WARNED OF BEAM AT PITTSBURGH

U. S. Decides Signals Are Inaccurate.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Air line pilots have been warned by the bureau of air commerce not to land at Pittsburgh when the ceiling is less than 4,000 feet above sea level, officials of the bureau disclosed today.

Trouble with radio flying beams in the mountainous areas near that city was given as the reason for the new ruling which officials described as a "precautionary measure."

Pilots were advised to use signals from the two Pittsburgh aeronautical radio stations only as "homing devices" until further notice. The bureau added that the beams must be used with extreme caution because of reported fading and other signal failures.

Five Firms Get Warning.

The notification was sent to five companies, Transcontinental and Western Air, Central Airlines, American Airlines, Pennsylvania Airlines, and United Airlines.

Last April a TWA airline carried twelve persons to their deaths when it crashed while on its way from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh. The pilot, one of the victims, was believed to have become confused in determining his course by radio beams and to have left the route he had mapped.

Only two persons aboard the ship survived when it crashed on the granite slope of Chestnut ridge near Fairchance, Pa., about 35 miles south of Pittsburgh, where it was headed. Stewardess Nellie Granger, one of the survivors, was accounted the heroine of the crash for her rescue work and for running four miles through deep mountain undergrowth to summon aid.

Beams Helped Confuse.

Investigators for the bureau of air commerce reported that Pilot Otto Ferguson had proposed to fly a direct compass course from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh, but that he miscalculated his drift and was not able to determine from the several radio beams he crossed that he was not on his mapped course.

In the early investigation it was believed a faulty beam had led the pilot off his course, and President Jack Erye of TWA blamed an experimental type of beam that had been installed at Pittsburgh only a short time before.

Uruguay Bars 'Rogues, Dope Fiends, Vagabonds, Drunks'

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Uruguayan parliament today barred undesirable citizens from entering the country and authorized expulsion of extremists. The new statute prohibits the entrance of "common transgressors, rogues, drug fiends, vagabonds, customary drunks and persons expelled from other nations." Expulsion of "foreigners professing dissolvent ideas" was included in the new law.

M'NAIR CHANGES MIND; DECIDES HE'LL BE MAYOR

Cancels Resignation to Pittsburgh Council.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—William N. McNair, who submitted his resignation as mayor of Pittsburgh last week, notified the city council today that he has revoked his withdrawal from that office.

A letter he sent to the city clerk's office by Gregory Zatkovich, former city solicitor, read:

"I hereby revoke and recall my letter of resignation bearing date of Oct. 6, 1936, and withdraw same from your further consideration." It was signed, "William N. McNair—mayor."

The council accepted McNair's resignation last week and Cornelius D. Scully, president of the group, automatically became acting mayor. Scully and other members of the council declined to comment immediately on the situation except to say that they regarded McNair's resignation a "closed incident."

Election Scheduled.

The council had announced it formally will elect a mayor on Oct. 19.

Zatkovich, who had been discharged by Scully, said court action may be instituted if the mayor's right to rescind his resignation is not recognized. He said he based his contention on the council's procedure after the resignation.

Zatkovich pointed out that the council accepted McNair's resignation the same day he resigned and Scully was sworn in immediately, contrary to the rule that no law or ordinance may be passed finally on the day of its introduction "except in case of public emergency and then only when requested by the mayor and approved by the affirmative vote of all members of council present."

McNair, fun loving, debonair, and decidedly individualistic, who has had numerous of his activities termed eccentric during the turbulent two years and nine months he was Pittsburgh's chief executive, explained his latest action as justified.

Tells Why He Resigned.

"I resigned to focus public attention on the impossible situation into which I had been forced," he said.

His resignation came after he had discharged James P. Kirk as treasurer and the council rejected his nomination of William B. Foster for that post.

"When I resigned," McNair continued, "I was of the opinion the office would not be vacant until legally declared so by an ordinance of council, and that if I desired I could withdraw my resignation at any time before that was done. I had not decided then whether to do so or not."

CHEF DETAINED IN MURDER OF MODEL IN EAST

Weymouth, Mass., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The state held 50 year old Oscar Bartolini, Quincy chef, in cell 13 of Dedham jail tonight as a material witness in connection with police investigation of the gruesome slaying of Grayce Asquith, blonde Weymouth widow and model.

Bail was set at $50,000 when Assistant District Attorney George Arbuckle, in nearby Quincy, formally told the court that Bartolini "is not under arrest, but evidence warants asking high bail."

His detention came 24 hours after discovery in Bartolini's home of burlap sacking similar, detectives said, to that in which the legs of Mrs. Asquith were wrapped when found eight days ago in Boston harbor.

If You Have "Acid Indigestion"

ALKALIZE STOMACH ALMOST INSTANTLY THIS AMAZING "PHILLIPS" WAY

DR. SMITH TOLD US TO USE GENUINE PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA. IT ALKALIZES AN ACID CONDITION ALMOST IMMEDIATELY. WE'VE FOUND IT WONDERFUL.

SIGNS WHICH OFTEN INDICATE "ACID STOMACH"
Pain after Eating, Feeling of Weakness, Indigestion, Sleeplessness, Nausea, Mouth Acidity, Loss of Appetite, Sour Stomach, Frequent Headaches.

On every side today people are being urged to alkalize their stomach. And thus to ease the symptoms of "acid indigestion," nausea and stomach upsets. For perhaps the vast majority of stomach upsets come from an excess of acidity.

To gain quick alkalization, just do this: Take two teaspoons of PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA 30 minutes after eating. OR—take two Phillips' Milk of Magnesia tablets, which have the same antacid effect.

Relief comes almost at once—usually in a few minutes. Nausea, "gas"—fullness after eating and "acid indigestion" pains leave. You feel like a new person.

Try this way. You'll be surprised at results. And try it particularly if you've been using some less natural and less effective way of overcoming acids. Get either the liquid "Phillips" or the remarkable, new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. Each one equals a teaspoon of the liquid, and they're delightful to take and easy to carry with you. Only 25¢ for a large box at all drug stores.

A 10-Day Vacation At French Lick Now will condition you for cold winter days ahead

Glorious Indian Summer days; magnificent Fall coloring and scenery will make your stay here unforgettable

WITH winter days not so far distant, now is the time to fortify your health. And the most pleasant and effective way to do this is to spend ten days at French Lick Springs.

Glorious, warm, sunshiny days lure you into the open. Crisp, cool nights invite restful, energy-building sleep. While the famous Pluto Baths and Waters tone, revitalize your system.

For pleasure, two superb golf courses are at your disposal. Spirited horses for riding on enchanting, wooded bridle paths. The most modern equipment for trap and skeet shooting.

So plan a "Health Holiday" this Fall at French Lick, where leaders of Industry, Society, and tired business men come each season to prepare themselves for the long winter months ahead. You will leave with regrets, but actually feel like a new person.

Accommodations are filling up more rapidly than they have for six years. We urge you to make reservations promptly to assure accommodations you desire. Or write for handsomely illustrated book.

How To Reach French Lick
Take Monon trains leaving Chicago twice daily—9:15 A.M. and 9:17 P.M.—Central Standard Time. (10:15 A.M. and 10:17 P.M. Eastern Standard Time) or Motor Direct.

Market place of the Millions

▲ Dreams, hopes, plans, savings—all go into the securing of a new home. First step for most Chicagoans is to read the Tribune want-ads.

Things to buy . . . things to sell . . . jobs to be had . . . opportunities for the asking . . . homes, from farms to penthouses . . . here in the classified columns of the Chicago Tribune the people of Chicago meet each day to exchange their goods and services, and often to alter the very courses of their lives.

EMPLO NT
OFF

◀ The Tribune is regarded as a friend by thousands of Chicago men and women—for, through it, they got their first jobs.

"It's just exactly what we want! I'm certainly glad we decided to look through the Tribune used-car ads before we started out." ▶

• THE CLASSIFIED SECTION is where the readers of a newspaper become the advertisers. They have only a limited amount to spend, and the money they do spend must bring results.

Year after year, the people of Chicago invest more money in the classified columns of the Chicago Tribune than in all other Chicago newspapers combined, for the very good reason that they get more out of them.

In a typical recent issue, Chicagoans offered

Used cars worth $418,000
Real estate worth $5,600,000 in Tribune want-ads which mentioned price. And the range of these prices shows the broad coverage of all classes of people which the Tribune provides.

Automobiles were offered from $25 to $3195. • Real estate ranged from a $150 lot to a $125,000 country estate. • Apartment rentals varied from $10 to $250 a month, with $40 the median. • Jobs ran the gamut from messenger boy to general executive.

Guide-Posts for National Advertisers

These little advertisments are guide-posts which mean much to national advertisers. When readers become advertisers, the ads have to produce . . . because the readers are constantly checking the returns, day after day.

It is because of this intimate association which is established when the reader becomes the advertiser, that Chicago Tribune representatives are thoroughly trained in classified work before they call on retail or national advertisers.

One Million MORE Mouths to Feed

When you want to sell, you have to go where people are . . . and the Tribune furnishes you a circulation in excess of 1,000,000 on Sundays, and over 800,000 on week-days.

It gives you 237,000 more families in Metropolitan Chicago alone on Sundays than any other Chicago newspaper . . . 256,000 more families on week-days.

Counting four persons to the family, this means approximately one million more mouths to feed in the rich and growing Chicago area . . . one million more bodies to clothe . . . one million more wants of various sorts to satisfy! No wonder the Tribune is the recognized want-ad medium of Chicago, and the newspaper with more retail and national advertising successes to its credit than any other in Chicago.

The Tribune rate per line per 100,000 circulation is among the lowest in the publication business. It is definitly the lowest per sales return in Chicago.

Let a Tribune representative, or your own advertising counsel, tell you the full story of how Chicago Tribune reader interest and dealer support can be put to work for you.

Country estate for sale—$125,000

• Both are advertised in the Chicago Tribune. Their owners know that the Tribune covers Chicago from top to bottom, and through it they can reach exactly the persons they want to reach.

The Tribune gives you both mass and class circulation. The wide range of its want-ads proves that you can use this one newspaper to tell your story to any body of people you want. Tribune want-ads boil with greater activity than those published in any other Chicago newspaper. They get better results for their reader-advertisers—just as Tribune display advertisments get better results for retail and national advertisers.

COMMUNITY FUND NETS $517,000 IN 1ST FIVE MINUTES

2,000 Leaders Open Drive at Meeting.

Pledges totaling $517,450 were announced in the sixth annual campaign of the Community Fund of Chicago five minutes after the $3,400,000 drive officially opened at the Palmer house last night.

The first day's pledges, 138 in all, were contributed by corporate bodies and larger individual givers, classified in the sponsors' division, of which Dexter Cummings is chairman.

These advance pledges of more than half a million dollars represent an increase of six per cent over the advance pledges of 1935, according to James B. Forgan, chairman, who told an enthusiastic audience of 2,000 campaign leaders that Chicago at last has become "community fund conscious."

490,631 Employés Organized.

Already, he said, 490,631 employés have been organized for the purpose of contributing to the fund, with its 154 affiliated private welfare agencies. This number, he pointed out, almost equals the entire number of individual employé givers in 1935. And, he predicted, the total will be 700,000 before the termination of the drive.

"Everywhere I have been I have received wonderful responses," Mr. Forgan reported with pride. "We are well ahead of last year with every indication of a speedy completion of the campaign and a vertical increase in the amounts pledged."

With last night's meeting, organization ended and "selling" began, as T. J. Carney, vice chairman in charge of the industrial division, phrased it. Edward L. Ryerson Jr., president of the fund, defined the relationship between public and private welfare agencies. There is, he asserted, neither duplication nor overlapping. The one, he said, cannot exist without the other.

Tells Relation of Two.

"It's not a question of whether the public charities [federal relief] should take over the private or vice versa," he said. "We know that the private agencies are in many fields which the public agencies do not touch. Both are needed."

This statement was upheld by Mayor Kelly, who predicted that the load now resting on the private charities soon would be much heavier than it now is.

"Even if relief functioned as it should, it would not be sufficient," he said, "but relief is not functioning as it should. So there is even more on the shoulders of the Community fund than we realize."

Rabbi Goldman Speaks.

Rabbi Solomon Goldman, as principal speaker of the evening, told the workers that the essential problem of the campaign lay in the age old question of mankind—"How much of myself belongs to me, and how much of me belongs to others"

In certain European countries, where dictatorships are the order of the day, the suppression of individuality is all pervading, he reminded his audience. But the American way, he assured them, is "the giving of individuality through opportunity."

"Your Community fund," he said, "is this embodiment of the American way, and it's the American way forever to remind human beings what they owe to their followmen."

HER BABY TURNING TO STONE; MOTHER TELLS OF DISEASE

Arcadia, Wis., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Delores, 2 year old daughter of Mrs. Aloysius Breska, is turning to stone. Mrs. Breska, wife of a local tavernkeeper, said today the child has lost use of her right arm and only is able to turn her head slightly. "We've given up hope," the mother added.

Doctors who treated the child at Madison said only time can tell the extent to which other muscles of her body will become rigid. The illness began a year ago. All efforts to halt the bone material deposits in the girl's muscles have been unavailing.

"Delores doesn't seem to be in any pain," her mother said.

LIFE FULL OF INS AND OF OUTS FOR BURGLAR HOLLIS

He's In Again, 11 Days After an Out.

The federal government owes $153 to Marvin Hollis, alias James Stevenson, 31 years old, but he won't be able to collect the money for a while. He is in jail in Chicago, awaiting trial for burglary, his specialty for the last ten years.

Hollis was released from Leavenworth penitentiary on probation last Sept. 28. He received $10 and a railway ticket to Chicago. At the federal probation office he was given $90, part of his earnings at the prison, and was told that he would receive $153, the balance due him, in thirty days if he obeyed probation regulations.

Ten Days Later in Darien.

Last Thursday, ten days after Hollis was released, a burglar broke into the postoffice at Darien, Wis., and carried off a small safe containing $300 in stamps and a $900 United States government bond. Next day postoffice inspectors arrested Hollis near Dewey place and Clark street. The loot from the Darien postoffice was in his pockets.

Hollis was arraigned yesterday before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on a charge of robbing a postoffice and having in his possession government property. His bond was fixed at $10,000 and he was held in the county jail pending indictment.

Boasts of His Exploits.

Before he was taken to jail Hollis talked freely to policemen at the detective bureau, bragging about his career of crime. He is a slight, slim fellow with blond hair.

In 1926, as James Stevenson, he was arrested in Oak Park and confessed committing 100 burglaries. While being held in the Oak Park police station he sawed his cell bars and gained freedom through a window supposed to be too small for the passage of a human body. Asked about that exploit Stevenson laughed.

"I took off all my clothes," he said, "and squeezed through. Then I reached down and got the clothes with my toes, dressed, and walked away."

In and Out, In and Out.

Several days later policemen arrested him. He served a term in Joliet prison for burglary. After his release, Hollis boasted last night, he went to New York, where he was arrested again for burglary. While being held in the Welfare Island prison, he said, he broke out of the cell and swam the East river to freedom.

In 1933, as Marvin Hollis, he was arrested in Chicago while fleeing after the robbery of a postal station at 6736 Stony Island avenue. For that crime he went to Leavenworth.

"Crime has been good to me," said Hollis. "I get a big kick out of burglaries. But if I get out of this rap I'm going to go straight."

REJECT TOROK AS EPISCOPAL CHURCH BISHOP

Convention Here Settles Recognition Dispute.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The house of bishops of the Episcopal church ended yesterday the controversy over the status of Bishop John William Torok of Eau Claire, Wis., by a resolution denying him authority to exercise his ecclesiastical rank in the Episcopal church.

The house of bishops, together with other prelates representing the Anglican communion throughout North and South America, are meeting this week at St. Luke's procathedral, Evanston.

Bishop Torok, who is said to be a native of Serbia, was elevated to the episcopacy by the Old Catholic church, which has its greatest strength in Holland and which withdrew from the Roman Catholic church in 1871 during a controversy over papal infallibility. Episcopal Bishop Frank E. Wilson of the Eau Claire diocese sought recognition of Bishop Torok's orders first through the latter's election as suffragan bishop of Eau Claire.

Test Case to Settle Issue.

When the Episcopal bishops refused such recognition, Bishop Wilson made a test case by appointing Dr. Torok as his auxiliary bishop to oversee work among the foreign born. Bishop Wilson's "appointment" brought formal protests from Bishop William Manning of New York, Bishop Alexander Mann of Pittsburgh, and Bishop John Ward of Erie, Pa.

Pending disposition of the case Bishop Torok, who is independently wealthy, has been living in New York.

The resolution adopted yesterday declares that "no individual bishop has power to give status as a bishop in or of this [Episcopal] church to any one claiming to be a bishop. Therefore, the aforesaid John William Torok has no status whatever as a bishop in or of the Protestant Episcopal church."

The resolution added that the bishops' action was neither to be interpreted as challenging Bishop Torok's character nor the validity of his ordination as a bishop in some other church.

The house of bishops recorded a vote of confidence in Bishop Wilson's integrity and sincerity in attempting a step toward church unity.

Bishop George Craig Stewart, on whose invitation the Pan American conference is being held, yesterday pleaded for restoration of pre-depression standards of contributing.

EIGHT PICKED TO TRY TALLMADGE AS WIFE SLAYER

Seating of Death Penalty Jury Moves Slowly.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Oregon, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Eight jurors had been sworn to try Guy Tallmadge, 56 year old former Rockford embalmer, on charges of shooting to death his wife, Bessie, 45, on a lonely road near here last May 19, when court adjourned late today at the end of the second day of his trial.

Selection of the jury before Judge Harry Edwards of Dixon in the Ogle county Circuit court proceeded slowly, but the slowness could not be attributed to the state's insistence on qualifying the jurors for the death penalty. Only one of the veniremen questioned expressed conscientious scruples against the death penalty.

Mechanics on Jury.

The first panel of four jurors sworn includes Ralph Reed, Polo, and Howard Quintno, Preston, both mechanics; Floyd Potter, Mount Morris, farmer, and Glen Buisker, Haldana. In the second panel are Ben W. Coppernoll, Rochelle, electrician; H. R Humm, Byron, lumber dealer; Kenneth Hamer, Byron, service station operato., and A. E. Slaughter, Rochelle, insurance man.

Tallmadge is being defended by Attorney B. J. Knight of Rockford, assisted by John E. Goembel.

An atmosphere of neighborly intimacy surrounded the hearing, despite the 5 to 3 odds offered by some natives out of the courtroom, that Tallmadge would receive the death penalty.

Tallmadge was born and reared in the county, as was Mrs. Tallmadge. The court clerk who administers the oath to the jurors and witnesses, Homer Althouse, went to first grade with Tallmadge in the Oregon schools. Dr. L. E. Schneider, who was called to the jail to attend the defendant when he became ill yesterday, went to school with him.

Asks About Mrs. Birch.

"The fact that Mrs. Tallmadge was raised an Ogle county girl wouldn't prejudice you?" defense attorneys invariably asked.

Fred Garner of Rochelle, appointed special assistant to State's Attorney F. Donald Crowell to prosecute the case, listened closely as Attorney Knight asked prospective jurors questions about red haired Mrs. Frances Birch, 32 year old Rock Island widow for whose love Tallmadge is accused of slaying his wife. Mrs. Birch, who is said to be the state's star witness, is in seclusion at a hotel here.

"You would take into consideration the age of Mr. Tallmadge?" Attorney Knight asked prospective jurors, "and the age of Mrs. Birch?"

"Would you be prejudiced if the evidence showed that a man's condition was due to some disease he had contracted early in life?" he also asked.

Tallmadge appeared much stronger in court today than he did yesterday.

HOLD TWO IN AUTO THEFT.

Gerald Glazier, 26 years old, who has served two prison terms for stealing automobiles, and his brother, Arthur, 17, were held last night at the Desplaines street police station on charges of automobile theft.

Sues Harry Curtis for Divorce

MRS. BEATRICE CURTIS.

HARRY K. CURTIS.

Mrs. Beatrice Curtis, 35 years old, 1100 North Dearborn street, filed suit in Superior court yesterday for divorce from Harry King Curtis of Washington, D. C., former Chicago attorney, son of Charles Curtis, late Vice President of the United States. Mrs. Curtis charged desertion. The couple was married Nov. 5, 1923, in Washington and separated Feb. 10, 1934, according to the bill. Attorney B. W. Rosenstone, who filed the suit for Mrs. Curtis, announced it would not be contested and that the principals had reached an out of court property settlement.

Lawyer Sponsors Own Father Before High Court

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A youthful lawyer rose in the Supreme court today to sponsor the admission of Andrew B. Gunderson, 60, of Vermillion, S. D., to practice before the highest court. "I can vouch for this man because he is my father," said the young lawyer, Harvey J. Gunderson.

CCC Youth Is Crushed to Death on Skokie Job

Gerald L. Baker, 18 years old, of Morrisónville, Ill., member of the civilian conservation corps unit engaged in converting the Skokie marsh area west of Glencoe into a park, was crushed to death yesterday by a trench excavating machine.

LIFE THREATENED BY MRS. DODD, PRINCIPAL SAYS

Testifies to Talk About Burning School.

BY KAY HALL.

The principal of the kindergarten to which Mrs. Sue Hutchison Dodd of Winnetka sent her two children testified yesterday in the Superior court of Judge Walter P. Steffen that she deemed Mrs. Dodd an unfit mother.

The witness, Miss Clara Belle Baker, 822 Milburn street, Evanston, head of the demonstration school of the National College of Education in Evanston, appeared as a witness for Attorney Walter F. Dodd, who is resisting his wife's suit for separate maintenance and custody of the children, Walter H., 10 years old, and Laura Alice, 7 years old.

Mrs. Dodd sat on a front bench and gazed calmly at Miss Baker and at two other witnesses, who were called from the group of neighbors who have testified to alleged "peculiarities" of the plaintif. Mr. Dodd, formerly a professor at the Yale university law school, sat motionless and dour.

Recalls Incident in 1932.

Miss Baker, a suave, high voiced witness, declared under the questioning of Attorney Floyd Thompson, representing Dodd, that Mrs. Dodd threatened in 1932 to burn down the school building and kill several of its faculty, including herself.

"Walter was a normal child, but Mrs. Dodd telephoned and came to the school frequently and became very distressed about little things," she related. "She charged that we had records in the school derogatory to Walter and that we had shown these to neighbors. I assured her we didn't. She said if the records were not given to her she would burn the building down and kill the person in charge."

Attorney Questions Vigorously.

Attorney Robert Golding, representing Mrs. Dodd, gave Miss Baker a strenuous cross-examination, announcing that he wanted to show that it was the teachers "who got excited over little things" and not Mrs. Dodd. The school principal did not yield.

"What happened when Mrs. Dodd threatened to blow up the building?" the attorney queried.

"She didn't threaten to blow it up, but to burn it down," Miss Baker said with a placid smile.

"Oh," said Attorney Golding.

"But it's a fireproof building," Miss Baker smiled again.

Q.—Did you tell Mr. Dodd about these threats? A.—Yes, some of them.

Q.—What did he say when he was told his wife threatened to kill half of your staff? A.—I don't recall any comments. He always spoke of his wife with great respect and consideration.

Relates Quarrel Over Leaves.

Fred D. Blake, head of the municipal bond department of A. G. Becker & Co. at 100 South La Salle street, took the stand. He lives at 535 Cherry street, Winnetka, next door to the Dodd residence. Blake testified that Mrs. Dodd ceased to be friendly with his family after he had burned some leaves in his front yard.

"She objected seriously and I put out the fire," Mr. Blake related. "Before that little Laura Alice had always called good-night to me from her window next door. [Smiling.] After that Laura Alice and I did not have much chance to converse."

Mrs. Beatrice Rothschild, 517 Cherry street, Winnetka, another neighbor, testified that Mrs. Dodd repeatedly complained that the Rothschild children were abusing Walter, that Winnetka was not a suitable place to live, and that Walter was mistreated both at school and in his summer camp.

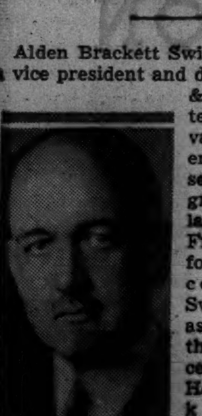
ALDEN B. SWIFT, PACKING CONCERN OFFICIAL, 51, DIES

Succumbs After Illness of Several Weeks.

Alden Brackett Swift, 51 years old, a vice president and director of Swift & Co., died yesterday in Passavant hospital after an illness of several weeks. A grandson of the late Gustavus Franklin Swift, founder of the company, Mr. Swift has been associated with the packing concern for 28 years. He was also well known as a sportsman.



ALDEN B. SWIFT.

At the time of his death, Mr. Swift was in charge of all transportation, refrigeration and purchasing for the company, and he directed the business of six associated packing companies. In addition he was a vice president and director of Campania Swift Internacional, a separate corporation with plants in South America and Australia.

Son of Louis Swift.

The son of Louis F. and Ida May Swift, he was born Nov. 15, 1885, in the family home, which was then on Emerald avenue. He lived there until 1893, attending the Graham school in the primary grades. Later, his family moved to Lake Forest, where he was graduated from Lake Forest academy.

Mr. Swift entered the employ of Swift & Co. in 1908 after he had traveled extensively in South America, scene of his future business activities, in Europe, and in the orient. After working for a time in the plants here he went to St. Joseph, Mo., where he became plant manager.

In 1917 Mr. Swift returned to Chicago, leaving the company's service in November of that year to go to France as a captain in the Red Cross. He served in France for 10 months, and then returned to the United States to enlist in the motor transport. Following the war he reentered the packing business in Chicago. He was elected a vice president of Swift & Co. in 1922, a director in 1930, and vice president and director on July 11, 1932.

Marries Miss Niblack.

On Dec. 1, 1909, Mr. Swift was married to Miss Lydia Niblack. Surviving are his father, his widow, and three children, Mrs. Paul Rowan, Miss Narcissa Swift, and Nathan B. Swift, all of Chicago and Lake Forest. His mother died in 1922.

While a resident of Missouri Mr. Swift was for two years state golf champion, and he also won the Pacific coast and trans-Mississippi championships. Aviation was another of his sporting interests.

Private funeral services will be held today from the family home at 209 Lake Shore drive. The Rev. Dudley S. Stark of St. Chrysostom's will officiate.

ALDERMEN ADD TO LORE ON THE TAVERN LORELEI

Define Term 'Hostess' for an Ordinance.

An aldermanic subcommittee, after listening yesterday to definitions of the term "tavern hostess," ordered the city law department to prepare an ordinance outlawing these "hostesses."

The subcommittee, of which Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] is chairman, was appointed several weeks ago at a meeting of the license committee. At that time Ald. John J. Coughlin [1st], in whose ward lies the loop, said:

"Let the police handle the situation. Women in taverns who put their arms around men can be arrested on charges of disorderly conduct."

Allman Throws Cold Water.

Police Commissioner Allman threw cold water on that suggestion at yesterday's subcommittee meeting. He said that at present the police cannot prevent the use of hostesses to persuade tavern patrons to dig freely in their wallets. Women cannot be arrested for soliciting men to buy drinks, Allman said, unless they are known prostitutes.

The commissioner told the aldermen that an ordinance barring hostesses is needed before the police department can act. He added that such an ordinance should contain a clear definition of hostess.

Lawyer Defines Hostess.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Martin Foss, present to advise the aldermen, furnished the most comprehensive definition. A tavern hostess he said is:

"A female barfly who sidles up to strange male customers and practices her siren arts."

Ald. Rowan announced that tavern owners, tavern patrons, and hostesses, if any wish to be heard, may speak their pieces at meetings of the subcommittee which will be called later to consider the proposed ordinance Foss was directed to prepare.

CHINESE-JAPANESE 'PEACE' CONFERENCE ENDS IN A DEADLOCK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 13.—Yakichiro Suma, Japanese consul general at Nanking, and Kao Tsung-wu of the Chinese foreign office were unable to agree in a two and a half hour conference today on a mutually acceptable basis for negotiations to adjust Chinese-Japanese relations.

Japanese newspapers charge that the Nanking government is procrastinating while Dictator Chiang Kai-shek transports twenty-three divisions of troops from Shansi and Shensi provinces to oppose the Japanese north China program, which is said to provide for an invasion of Suiyuan province.

Japanese military authorities are angry over the publication of a manifesto by sixty-six university professors at Peiping. It urges the return of Manchukuo to China and the abrogation of Chinese-Japanese agreements which it claims were signed under duress since 1931. The Japanese claim the manifesto is "incitement to war with Japan."

FRANCE EXPELS HEAD OF BELGIAN FASCIST PARTY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 13.—The government of Premier Leon Blum further aligned itself with Socialist and communist forces against the right wing parties today when it expelled from France Leon Degrelle, leader of Belgium's Rexist party, which has Fascist tendencies.

Degrelle, accompanied by his French wife, took a morning train from Brussels to Paris and was allowed to pass the frontier. Then the train made a special stop to allow a police official to board it and inform Degrelle he was forbidden "access to French territory."

Degrelle and his wife quietly complied and returned to Brussels by the next train. Degrelle previously was refused entrance to France in order to speak at a meeting in Paris on Oct. 2. On that occasion the rightest press commented sarcastically that Spanish communist agitators were allowed to hold huge meetings where they appealed to the French to furnish airplanes, guns, and munitions to the Spanish government forces.

OAK PARK CIVICS TEACHER GETS SOME LESSONS

George Hilgeneck, 35 years old, 415 South East avenue, Oak Park, instructor in the Hawthorne Elementary school in the village, paid the Oak Park treasurer $3 yesterday for a vehicle license for his automobile. Several pupils in citizenship classes which Hilgeneck conducts reported last week that he told them the vehicle license law is "a racket" and said he would never pay the fee. These reports reached Chief of Police Benjamin Barsema, who verified the fact that Hilgeneck was without a vehicle license and had him arrested Monday night.

Although Hilgeneck, who also teaches music, procured his license yesterday, he failed to appear in court to answer the charge of violating the license law. Justice of the Peace Louis Gibson announced he would summon Hilgeneck to court next Tuesday.

RUSSIAN TROOPS 'KIDNAP' BODIES OF FOE, IS CHARGE

Manchukuans Reveal Sequel to Battle.

SEOUL, Corea, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Manchukuan authorities asserted today the bodies of two soldiers killed in a border clash Sunday had been carried off by Russian frontier guards.

The bodies were those of a Japanese lieutenant named Tominaga and one Manchukuan soldier.

The Manchukuans said that while their patrols were searching for the bodies they were attacked by soviet guards who apparently took possession of the corpses.

Reinforced detachments of both Manchukuan and Russian frontier guards were drawn up in lines 1,000 yards apart today near Hunchun, in Chientao province. The situation was described as "tense."

[Both the Moscow and Tokio governments have protested to one another the most recent border clashes.]

Army Demands More Power.

TOKIO, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Japanese militarists, demanding extension of their present influence in the civil government, insisted today upon immediate adoption of "adminstrative reforms" in the administration of Premier Koki Hirota.

The demands were presented by Lieut. Gen. Juichi Terauchi, minister of war, and Admiral Osomi Nagano, minister of navy.

The most important of the projected reforms would provide the cabinet with a new governmental general staf under a minister without portfolio who would formulate national policies while other cabinet members would execute the plans.

The premier pleaded for time in which to study the demands. He said problems of the national budget, state control of electric power and increased taxation were more urgent at present.

Some observers predicted a possible fall of the Hirota cabinet under pressure from the militarists.

Reds Bury Troops Alive.

LANCHOW, China, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Invading communists buried alive a government army deatchment in retaliation for killing more than 100 of their followers, advices from the district southeast of Lanchow said today. The government troops ambushed the communists, but later were overpowered, the report said.

The Communists were reported to have abandoned their six weeks' siege of several southern cities due to the strength of the defenders and were driving toward the northeast.

Numerous wealthy Chinese committed suicide to avoid possible capture for ransom, the advices said.

American missionaries who sought refuge here are leaving for southern Shensi province.

TYPHOON SINKS SHIP; 42 OF CREW, PASSENGERS DIE

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 14 [Wednesday].—(AP)—The typhoon that brought death and destruction to the Philippine Islands caused the sinking of the interisland motorship Sugbu off Siquijor with a loss of 42 crew members and passengers. That was reported here today.

Capt. José Alfaro reported fifteen passengers and crew members were saved, but all the rescued were injured. No white persons were reported aboard. The motorship, a 500 ton vessel, was loaded with lumber.

Constipation
Undermines Children's Health

Your doctor will tell you that constipation is what makes so many growing children sickly. Poisons from the waste matter spread through their bodies and lower their resistance. A little Nujol every night will keep them regular as clockwork.

Mothers are the best friends of Nujol. When their children's health is at stake, they use Nujol—the remedy that medical authorities prescribe because it is so safe, so natural in its action.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody, Nujol safe for everybody. Does not affect the stomach, is not absorbed by the body.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.

Just try Nujol regularly for the next month and see if the children don't feel better than you ever suspected they could.

Ask your druggist for Nujol.

FRED W. JENCKS, PROMINENT ELGIN LEADER, 75, DIES

Fred W. Jencks, 75 years old, who was in the fire insurance business in Elgin for nearly 60 years, and was widely known there for his interest in the theater and in sports, died yesterday of a heart attack in his office in downtown Elgin.

Mr. Jencks was born in Dundee, near Elgin, and he entered business when he was 15 years old after graduating from high school. In 1910 Mr. Jencks was one of the organizers of the Elgin Auto Road Race association, which built an eight mile track near Elgin that attracted drivers of international reputation. Triangle Club Show Will Be Given Dec. 26

Date Is Important One to Debutante Set.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE date that so many mothers of debutantes and sub-debs have been awaiting is Saturday, Dec. 26. It is the night the Princeton Triangle club will be in Chicago. It is a very important date to the younger people in social circles for they all want to go to the performance and many of their parents choose that time to entertain for their daughters or sons.

Nobody wants to give a dinner-dance that night, but every one is glad to be the one who has chosen the date upon which the Trianglers are here for a tea-dance or a ball, for it means that the stag line at her party will be the longest of the Christmas holiday season.

The Robert C. Orrs and the Gustavus F. Swifts chose Dec. 26 last week as the date for a ball they will give at the Blackstone hotel for their debutantes, Adair Orr and Jane Swift, and about the same time the Frederick D. Montgomerys and Dr. and Mrs. Walter H. Theobald set their date for the debut tea-dance of their daughters, Caroline Montgomery and Harriet Theobald. It will be given at the Fortnightly.

There will be dozens of early dinner parties before the show, including one for the debutante set that Howard Tracy will give for his daughter, Miss Anne Tracy, and another that the William A. Moultons and Miss Dorelle Moulton will give for debutanes Julia Patterson and Marjorie Moore.

The Princetonians will give their performance in the Civic Opera house instead of the Auditorium, where they ordinarily perform, because the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe is opening the night of Dec. 18 in the Auditorium for a two weeks' engagement.

Ronald Tree to Address English Speaking Union.

The English Speaking union expects that its first meeting of the season will be one of its most interesting. It will be given Friday at the Hotel Sherman and Ronald Tree will discuss "British Foreign Policy." Mr. Tree, who is a grandson of the late Marshall Field, is a Conservative member of parliament, and parliamentary secretary to the minister of health in the present British cabinet.

Mr. Tree served in Italy and France in the United States air service in 1917 and '18 and then was sent to Montenegro and Albania by the peace conference in 1919. He lived in New York from 1922 to 1926, during which time he was managing editor of the Forum.

Seated with Mr. Tree and Samuel M. Rinaker, president on Friday will be Mrs. Rinaker, Col. and Mrs. Albert A. Sprague, Mrs. Stanley Field, Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, and Victor Elting.

In addition to welcoming Mr. Tree, whom many members of the union know personally, the members also will greet with pleasure Herman Gade, who will arrive in time to attend the luncheon. Mr. Gade is well versed in foreign policies, for he and members of his family are in the diplomatic service. Mr. Gade is Norwegian minister to Rio de Janeiro; his son, Gerhard, is in the American embassy at Rome, and Mr. Gade's brother is Norwegian minister to Brussels. Mr. Gade has been attending Harvard's tercentenary exercises, where he represented all Harvard alumni in Europe.

Because the Chicago Symphony orchestra will open its winter series of afternoon concerts on Friday the union will see that luncheon is served promptly at 12:30 o'clock, so that those members who wish to attend the concert will have time to hear

Predict Successful Season for Orchestra

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, chairman of the woman's committee, and Dr. Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, expect that this season will be the most successful in the orchestra's history. The forty-sixth season opens tomorrow night.

Laud Women for Drive to Aid Symphony

All but three of the Thursday night boxes and all but two of the Tuesday afternoon ones have been sold for this season by the woman's committee of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, so the thanks and praise heaped upon the 150 members of the committee yesterday were sincere and heartfelt.

Charles H. Hamill, president of the orchestral association; Dr. Frederick Stock, the conductor, and Henry E. Voegeli, treasurer, were the ones who thanked the Chicago and suburban women for their splendid work under the chairmanship of Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne.

Every box for the Friday concerts is taken and every one for the young people's concerts, but the box circle has been filled for those weekly and monthly concerts for years, whereas it has presented a fairly empty appearance often on Thursday night and Tuesday afternoon, which accounts for the delight of the orchestral association at the results of the committee's work.

New subscriptions amounting to a total of $9,976 have been taken by the committee. The women at the meeting yesterday in the foyer of Orchestra hall met Hans Lange, the new associate conductor. The women heard with interest Mr. Voegeli's announcement that Dr. Stock had arranged for Olin Downes to come to Chicago next week to lecture about Sibelius and his Second Symphony at a rehersal of the orchestra on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Thursday and Friday ticket holders will be admitted to the rehersal. This is the first time Dr. Stock has planned anything of this sort.

The women inspected and tried the one thousand and one new seats on the main floor of Orchestra hall and pronounced them much more comfortable than the old ones.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—With mouth watering and eyes popping we've been having a preview of lots of the beauty offerings Mr. S. Claus will be carrying in his pack this Christmas. And our advice to you lassies who like lovely presents is that you hold out for beauty gifts when Yuletide rolls around. They couldn't be more exciting, more luxurious or more satisfying to the feminine soul. The bottles and the boxes and the contents thereof are positively intoxicating—with the difference that you'll love them all the mornings after even more than you did the night before!

The new perfumes aren't exactly numerous but they're awfully nice. And there's a fashion trend in them—most of them are spicy. The new kits are better planned, more practical than they have been in the last few years, when some of the manufacturers rushed into the beauty bag business with more enthusiasm than judgment. Those so heavy—the big, expensive and very complete ones—that they couldn't be managed without the aid of a Joe Louis have been made lighter in weight.

Lots of the others, small and compact, have been improved so that one can tuck in clothing necessities of little bulk—which moves them right up into the practical class where all beauty kits belong. What might be showy and swell under the Christmas tree was sometimes as senseless, for all practical purposes, as a crack-brained peace treaty.

Compacts have been styled with taste and fashion knowingness, even some of the most inexpensive ones. Designers have put their heads together with the fashion experts and there are practically no horrors. One we saw has a comb tucked cleverly into the lid—and it doesn't look the least bit gadgety.

Sachets are going to be grand things to give and to receive as gifts. There's a demand for them, and they're lovely. Colognes are more and more a matter of beauty news, especially the perfumed ones. And little sets, not of one perfume but of anywhere from two to seven different ones, will be gift items worth noticing and shopping for.

Bath sets, simple or elaborate, are all assembled in a sensible sort of glory.

Even the men are getting a break of unusual proportions this year. Most of the sets of shaving cream and after shaving lotions and talcs and things of that sort are the kind they'd buy for themselves—which is saying a lot, if there's any truth to the masculine opinions we've heard in the past!

It looks like a big season.

Garbo Asks Robeson Songs to Get Death Scene Mood

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Music as a stimulus for emoting has been virtually discarded since the silent film days. Greta Garbo revived it, however, for the death scene of Marguerite in "Camille." She requested Negro spirituals sung by Paul Robeson to get her into the proper tragic mood.

AUTUMNAL cocktail parties under way — with friendly faces not seen for some months and the sprinkling of new faces that betokens the season is picking up. At one—the "new faces" those of James Dillon, head of the opposition party in Ireland, and son of the late Irish Nationalist leader, John Dillon, here for a short visit; of Natalie Visart, Hollywood costumer, who has just finished doing costumes for "The Plainsman"; of Edward Poole Lay, handsome young musician and composer. Mr. Dillon talks politics with his friend, Shreve Badger; Miss Vizart is led to discuss the business of costuming, and a Hollywood story creeps in. How a famous movie star, at the time the Astor diary story was at its height, went about to the dressing room of every man on the set, with a large book under her arm, with "DIARY" in great gold letters on the cover.

A game gets under way at the cocktail party. How many living Chicagoans are listed in the Encyclopedia Britannica? John Alden Carpenter, somebody guesses. Right. Composer Carpenter is listed. Who else? Arthur Holly Compton? Right again. Physicist Compton of the University of Chicago is in. Other names are suggested. Not listed. The game stops with only the two living Chicagoans registered discovered. The Chicago office of the Encyclopedia Britannica says there are many more, but that it has no way of checking. Who are they? We should like a complete list of the living Chicagoans considered of enough international importance to be listed.

PAVEMENT encounter. He was a young man, stepping along briskly in the dusk. The figure of the girl walking ahead of him looked familiar, and thinking it was a friend, he touched her lightly on the shoulder as he caught up with her. She turned quickly, pulling away and, seeing she was a stranger, he apologized.

"I'm sorry. I thought you were Mary Blank," he explained.

"Lucky Mary," said the girl.

"Apology withdrawn," retorted the young man.

A YOUNG woman was having her picture taken on North Dearborn street by one of those itinerant photographers who haunt the street corners. She carried a silken haired puppy in her arms. Stopping the photographer as he was about to snap the picture, she produced a pink pocket comb from her bag and carefully combed out the pup's bangs. We think she was the same girl who pinned her dog's hair back out of its eyes during the hot weather with a bobbie pin.

ANY chronicling of the sights of the town should include the slight, blonde, nice looking twin girls who transfer at Adams and Wabash for the Merchandise Mart every week-day morning. Both wear glasses, identical hats, coats, shoes, and dresses and carry the same style bags. A few mornings ago they entered a coach on the elevated, stood together all the way around the loop, got off and crossed the bridge to the mart and used the same compartment of the revolving door in entering the building.

A COPY boy—delegated to give a reporter calling into the office an assignment over the telephone, said "Go to 6024 Blank street. The furniture is out in the street—an old lady is being excavated."

THE discussion in yesterday's column of humor throughout the ages brought to mind that certain local theologians have been puzzled by the age-old query, "Would it be legal for a man to marry his widow's sister?"

Probably some layman can furnish the answer.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Sophie Tucker sang for her supper here after refusing the British Broadcasting company's $250 offer as ridiculously small, it was revealed today.

SOPHIE TUCKER.

On a visit last night to "St. Peter's kitchen," where 500 down-and-outers are fed nightly, the American entertainer sang to the crowd for forty-five minutes, accompanied by a stevedore's mouth organ.

After the performance she accepted a bowl of soup with the others, remarking: "Well, guess I sang for my supper."

Simple Rules of Etiquet Are Basis of Charm

Information at Disposal of Every Woman.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Yesterday, in the interests of charm, we were speaking of the lack of thought that precipitates awkward and embarrassing situations. Certainly of the tactless remarks expressed in a day, ninety per cent of them is due to thoughtless inconsideration of the other person's feelings.

"Be tactful" is well up on the list of charm "musts," if not at its top. So, we who are given to talking before we think must learn to reverse our gears and think before we speak. That remark that may be misconstrued by a sensitive listener, if given a moment's time for reflection, may be found not necessary at all. Saying the first thing that comes into one's head is not the quality of poise and mental grace that characterizes people we call charming. Tact is a gorgeous quality because it implies so many traits, such as kindliness, generosity, understanding, sympathy, and tolerance.

No one will tell you or me that we are tactless blunderers. We have to scout around and find out ourselves if we answer the description. Then we have to set about remodeling this phase of our character, and it can be done by the simple formula of thinking before we speak.

Awkward situations grow out of ignorance of the proprieties in social contact. But there's small excuse these days for ignorance on the etiquet of introductions, table manners, how to conduct one's self at the theater, restaurant, or at other public places. Information is carried in magazines and newspaper columns and in books so easily available that none need remain uninformed on the right thing to do. A person loses caste, and charm, whose habits at table are offensive. One must learn these fundamentals and practice them at home, until they become second nature and one is perfectly at ease. Practice of the simple rules of nice behavior are imperative to charm.

Another angle of mental grace or lack of it, rather, is presented in the person who takes, "be yourself" too literally when being herself is not being a nice self. If one is a sharp tongued critic, striving not to be one's self should be the aim, but to be a much more pleasing version of one's self. To continue with mannerisms and habits that detract from charm simply is not being yourself at your nicest.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Roscoe Turner, only flyer to win all the major air trophies in one year, flew into Chicago yesterday and signed a contract which will make him a regular NBC performer. Turner will appear at 6 p. m. on week nights on the NBC Flying Time show, juvenile serial with an authentic aviation background. He made a guest appearance last evening.

Turner is to become a sort of flying reporter for the network, using a new speed ship he is having built [which he hopes will fly 400 miles an hour] to cover events of extraordinary interest to listeners in which speed is imperative or the sky a vantage point.

Turner expected to fly to Corinth, Miss., for the dedication of an airport last evening. Other engagements will keep him occupied for about a month before returning to make his headquarters here.

◆

News notes: Bob Elson and Dolores Gillen have moved their State Street interview program from the Palmer house to the entrance of the Chicago theater where their broadcast now goes on over W-G-N at 11:30 a. m. . . . Harry Lauder is considering an offer to come to America for a new air series. . . . Jeanne De Lee, home from California for work on the serials "Helen Trent" and "Mary Marlin" reports that she found Cliff Arquette, former Chicago radio actor, working with Shirley Temple in her new picture.

◆

Fibber McGee and Molly will journey to Detroit for next Monday's show and then go on to New York to make a guest appearance with Kate Smith the following Thursday. . . . Irna Phillips, author of Welcome Valley and Today's Children, is to leave next week on a vacation to South America.

◆

Network merger: Fred H. Weber, general manager of the Mutual network, and Ruth Betz of Columbia's promotion department, were married in New York last Saturday evening. Though they left no word as to their wedding trip destination, their friends suspect they may be at NBC's Radio City!

◆

Arch Oboler, author of "Lights Out" and the Irene Rich dramatic show, collaborated with Mrs. Tex Rickard on the biography of her husband, "Everything Happened to Him." . . . Two new shows are coming up for NBC Saturday evenings, beginning this week. Walter O'Keefe will be the headliner of a variety hour running from 8 to 9 with Jane Pickens, Walter Cassel, Stuart Churchill, and Ferde Grofe's orchestra providing the music. . . . The other show is Irvin S. Cobb's "Paducah Plantation," which will run from 10:30 to 11. Dorothy Page, the Hall Johnson choir and Harry Jackson's orchestra will assist Cobb.

◆

Giovanni Martinelli likes radio. He was to have appeared last Saturday with Vincent Lopez on the Speedshow over WBBM-CBS at 9 p. m. Then President Roosevelt's address kept the show from going on. But the great tenor's contract provided that he must be paid anyway. Now the sponsor has decided to put him on Saturday, Oct. 17. And he will be paid again.

◆

Al Smith will be on the air again at 9 p. m. Wednesday, Oct. 21, with W-G-N as local outlet. Former Gov. Smith is coming to Chicago where he will address the Jeffersonian Democratic organization at the Civic Opera house.

Clever Dishes Feature Okra and Parsnips

Gumbo and Puffs Star the Tasty Vegetables.

BY MARY MEADE.

Eeny-meeny-miney-mo-ing to determine which vegetable to have for dinner is a process not to be scorned if the lineup of candidates is inclusive enough. But if there's a jump from lima beans to tomatoes with nary a mid-air pause over okra and parsnips, a solemn shake of the head is not amiss.

Spanish gumbo and parsnip puffs, so undeserving of such gross negligence, are only too often forgotten in the eeny-meeny game. Spanish gumbo is a variation of the popular Georgia or southern gumbo, and parsnip puffs are like a fresh country lassie taken over by a Hollywood makeup studio—glamor spread over simplicity.

◆

Anyway, it's only right and fittin' that we give okra and parsnips an even break by puffing and gumboing them a bit. Both dishes are treats for gourmet or gourmand.

SPANISH GUMBO.

2 tablespoons butter
1 cup sliced onions
1 cup tomatoes, canned or fresh
1 cup okra, sliced fine
½ cup chopped green peppers
¼ teaspoon celery seed
¼ teaspoon pepper
Few grains cayenne
Salt
1 cup boiling water.

Heat the butter and brown the onions in it. Add the tomatoes, okra and green peppers, the seasonings and water and cook in heavy frying pan until the mixture becomes thick enough to be eaten with a fork.

PARSNIP PUFFS.

¼ cup milk
2 tablespoons butter, margarine or other fat
1 teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
3 cups boiled mashed parsnips
2 well beaten eggs
2 tablespoons milk
Dried bread crums.

Add the milk, fat and seasonings to the parsnips. Add half the beaten egg and spread out in a shallow pan to cool. When cold and stiffened, form into small balls, adding bread crums if the mixture is too soft to mold. Roll in crums, then in the remaining egg mixed with the milk, and again in crums. Fry in hot fat [380 degrees] until the puffs are a golden brown. Drain on soft paper and serve with tomato, cheese or cream sauce.

TOMATO SAUCE: Cook 2 cups tomatoes and 1 slice of onion together for 15 minutes and strain. Brown 3 tablespoons flour in 3 tablespoons butter and add tomato puree to this mixture. Add salt and pepper to taste and bring to a boil.

Here's new hope and encouragement for thousands of even naturally skinny, weak, worn out, haggard-looking men and women whose energy and strength have been sapped by overwork and worry, who are nervous, irritable, always half sick and ailing. Science says the principle cause of these rundown conditions is "GLANDS STARVING FOR IODINE." When these glands don't work properly, all the food in the world can't help you. It just isn't turned into flesh and energy. The result is, you stay skinny, pale, tired-out and rundown.

The most important gland—the one which actually controls body weight and strength—needs a definite ration of NATURAL ASSIMILABLE IODINE all the time—to regulate metabolism—the body's process of converting digested food into firm flesh, new strength and energy.

KELPAMALT BEST SOURCE OF NATURAL IODINE SAY THOUSANDS

For NATURAL IODINE in convenient, concentrated and assimilable form, thousands say, take Kelpamalt—now recognized as the world's richest source of this precious substance. It contains 1,300 times more iodine than oysters, once considered the best source. 6 tablets alone contain more NATURAL IODINE than 480 lbs. of spinach or 1,387 lbs. of lettuce.

Try Kelpamalt for one week and notice the difference. If you don't gain at least 5 lbs. of "stay there flesh," feel stronger, eat better and sleep better, the trial is free. Your own doctor will approve this way. Ask for Seedol Kelpamalt, it costs but little to use. Try it today. Sold by all good stores.

Sees Menace to Church in Rural Closings

Warns Disciples of Christ of 'Appalling' Decline.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 13.—(AP)—An "appalling" decline in the number of country churches is threatening existence of the entire denomination of the Disciples of Christ, the church convention was told here today.

Citing statistics that 1,000 rural congregations are disintegrating every decade, Prof. E. C. Cameron, sociologist from Butler university, Indianapolis, warned "if we are to have city churches, we must maintain membership recruiting stations in the country in the shape of our rural churches."

The Disciples of Christ, Prof. Cameron said, once claimed 11,907 congregations, "but now list only 9,040." Of this number "about 5,000" are rural churches. However, he pointed out, 5,209 rural churches have been lost since 1909.

"We are the original, indigenous rural church of America," the speaker declared, "but in spite of our birth on the agricultural frontier, we have been blind to our relation to the changes in rural life and their disintegrating effects on families, churches and communties."

"I believe, and am supported by good authority, that we will lose 1,000 churches per decade," the professor said in estimatin gthe future effects of the "death struggle of the church in the country."

"Studies indicate that city churches are composed of above 50 per cent of converts from the country churches," the sociologist said.

Junior League Plays for Children to Be Given in Loop Again

The Chicago Junior league will move its children's theater activities back into the loop this fall when it will present Mark Twain's "Tom Sawyer" at the Harris theater beginning Nov. 21 for four consecutive Saturday mornings. Last season the league offered its entertainment for children in the theater at the Chicago Historical society.

Miss Helen Bell is back as manager of the theater, a job in which she excelled for several seasons until her duties as president of the league last year claimed too much of her time..

The workshop in North Dearborn parkway, where the leaguers prepared their own costumes and scenery, was so successful last season that the shop will be continued.

A new idea for this fall is the use to which the money earned at the four performances will be put. That sum—and Miss Virginia Melody, business manager, is hoping that it will be a substantial one—will be used to produce simple short plays at various hospitals and schools where underprivileged children will see them. Consequently the league will not invite so many underprivileged children to occupy unsold seats at its performances in the loop.

MARY BOVARD.

JUNE JOHNSON.

[Maurice Seymour Photo.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—June Johnson, 18, daughter of Comedian Chic Johnson [of Olsen and Johnson] and Mary Bovard, 18, of Bloomington, Ill., went before a county judge today to have their brand new movie studio contracts legalized. Miss Johnson, who was brought to court by her father, starts at $75 a week with Republic studios, and if her services are retained each option period during the six years of her contract, she will draw $750 weekly at that time. Miss Bovard starts at $50 a week and has options raising her gradually to $750 also. Her contract is also with Republic.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

SOME ADJUSTMENTS OF THE NO TRUMP REQUIREMENTS.

The Influence of Honor Cards: The value of intermediate cards [fillers], such as nines, tens, and jacks, is greater at no trump bids than at trump bids, because these cards may control the third or fourth round and win tricks, whereas at trump bids they would be ruffed. The term "one honor trick" also is subject to the following consideration.

An ace, which is valued at one honor trick, never can win more than one trick, while a K-Q-10 combination, which also is valued as one honor trick, almost always will win two tricks. An A-10-x becomes a double stopper if partner has the jack, whereas an A-x-x seldom is improved by partner's holding the jack.

If a hand contains eight or more honor cards [ten spot or higher] the four honor trick minimum for one no trump may be reduced to three and a half honor tricks in three suits.

For example:

♠ K Q 10 ♥ A 10 7 ♦ A 10 9 4 ♣ K 6 3

♣ A Q 10 5

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	3 spades	4 hearts	4 spades
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

South, without the slightest thought, opened his fourth highest heart and East, the declarer, proceeded to "wrap up the contract." Dummy ruffed the opening lead and led a diamond to the king. A second heart was ruffed and the queen of diamonds used as the second entry for the ruff of a third heart. Then East ruffed a club to get back into his own hand, and laid down the queen of spades. North won, cashed the ace of hearts, and then led the king, but the declarer ruffed the latter high to guard against a possible overruff, and then only had to concede another spade trick in order to claim the rest. In all, only two spades and a heart were taken by the defenders.

Certainly South had nothing to gain by leading a heart. He had the other two suits stopped and it should have been obvious that, with four hearts in his own hand, there was a decided danger that West had based his spade raise on ruffing ability. At any rate, after his double of four spades, North was located with whatever trump honors the partnership had and, that being the case, there was no reason not to lead a trump to or through him. If North's trumps could be picked up declarer probably could perform that feat for himself. If not, it might be vital to forestall ruffing by the dummy.

On this correct trump opening it is easy to see that there would have been a three trick swing. North would win the first trick and follow up with two more trump leads. Dummy, therefore, never would furnish a trick except the ace of diamonds, and declarer, in addition to losing the ace and king of spades, would have to concede all four of his hearts.

As a matter of fact, North still could have defeated the contract one trick, even after the poor opening lead, by leading a low heart instead of a high honor when he got on lead with the spade king. This would have put South on lead and a diamond return would have permitted North to ruff with his worthless trump.

* *

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: If declarer drops a card during the play so that it can be seen by the other players does it become a penalty card?

Answer: No. Declarer may expose all of his cards if he wishes, as he has no partner to benefit thereby.

Polo Games to Benefit Frontier Nursing Service.

The 121st Field Artillery armory will be the scene of two benefit polo matches the evening of Nov. 21 under the auspices of the Chicago committee of the Frontier Nursing service. In arranging this benefit the committee is departing from its usual practice of supporting the work of the service in the Kentucky mountains through private contributions.

Two out of town teams will be matched against two Chicago teams, as yet not definitly selected, and between games there will be a new sort of fashion show in which riding habits and saddles and bridles will share the spotlight with some of the outstanding equestrians of the city and north shore.

Culbertson to Lecture at Onwentsia Club.

There will be swing time in bridge hands from now on as well as in jaz bands, and Ely Culbertson is coming to Lake Forest next Monday afternoon to tell about it. More formally Mr. Culbertson's lecture is entitled "How to Bid Swing Hands," and the bridge authority will explain between the hours of 2:30 and 4:30 at the Onwentsia club just how, when both sides are vulnerable, you can swing yourself into game.

Mrs. T. Philip Swift is giving a luncheon at home for Mr. Culbertson and several ardent bridge fans among her friends before going over to the club for the lecture. Mr. Culbertson's talk will benefit the Infant Welfare society of Chicago and the Lake Forest board of the society is sponsoring his appearance.

Mrs. George W. Blossom Jr., as president of the board, is chairman of the lecture. Mrs. Phelps Kelley is taking charge of the tickets, which are being sold at five dollars each. The price might seem a bit high at first thought, but Mr. Culbertson's lecture will last for two hours, it must be remembered, and he is speaking on a brand new subject.

Mrs. Kelley and most of the board members will give luncheon parties before the bridge lesson, for that is what Mr. Culbertson's talk really will be. The audience is to be seated at tables and they will play hands that will be criticized personally by the lecturer.

Miss Margaret Fisher has gone to Santa Fe to spend October and will devote most of her time to painting. Her sister, Miss Ruth Fisher, is returning in a week or so from Wyoming, where she spent most of the summer on a ranch.

Miss Eliza Campbell has returned to the Pearson hotel from Brewster, N. Y., where she spent the summer and early autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney W. Treat and their son, Baird, formerly of Chicago, have returned to their home in Ojai, near Santa Barbara, after a trip to the orient.

Parkers to Be Guests at Reception Tonight.

The Army and Navy club headquarters in the Lake Shore Athletic club will present a gay scene this evening when the club entertains at a reception and dance to welcome home Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Frank Parker and their daughter, Miss Ann Parker. Gen. Parker formerly commanded the 6th corps area, and he and his delightful wife and their pretty daughter have many friends here. During the evening Gen. Parker will speak on some of his experiences in the far east and his talk will be illustrated with motion pictures.

Mrs. Edmund J. Doering will be hostess at 4 o'clock today in her home at 1344 Astor street to members of the opera box committee of the Chicago City Opera company.

The Black Automatic

By William Byron Mowery

SYNOPSIS.

Inspector Noel Irving of the Canadian Mounted dynamites the hideout of Frank Rocco, master criminal, not knowing two women were with him. Noel is discharged, disgraced, while Rocco becomes a glorified legend. Noel, in Winnipeg, receives a midnight call from a young stranger, who calls himself Jimmy, and asks Noel to be his partner in a secret enterprise and to help him outwit an unknown gang who are pursuing him. While they are talking Jimmy is shot dead. Noel sets out to clear his name and avenge Jimmy's murder. He learns the lad was recently in Fort McMurray and flies there in a monoplane which was Jimmy's, hoping to trap and learn the identity of the murder gang. At the outpost Noel introduces himself as Lanier, a prospector. He learns Jimmy's headquarters were at Manitou. Noel meets Harla De Long, a research worker for the Indian bureau, and realizes she is Jimmy's sister. Noel reluctantly agrees to fly her to Manitou. She obviously knows nothing of her brother's death. Harla recognizes the plane as Jimmy's and grows suspicious of Noel. Noel fears that Harla would be endangered if he tells her the truth. On the trip to Manitou they are attacked by a mysterious plane and forced to land in the swampy wilderness. They are picked up by a river steamer bound for Manitou. Alice Wentworth, school mistress at Manitou, a friend of Jimmy's, is on board. Also Raphael Flood, whom Harla had met in Fort McMurray.

INSTALMENT XXI.

THE GANG'S LEADER.

The gaze of the women, the metisse girls, the traders' wives, Alice Wentworth—followed Raphael Flood with unconscious tribute.

Noel remembered, later, that of all those girls and women Harla De Long was the sole one who had no use for the man.

"I hope I'm not intruding," Flood said to Harla, as he confronted her and Noel.

Because she was compelled to, Harla introduced, "Mr. Flood, Mr. Lanier."

Flood reached out his hand, polite and friendly. "How d'you do, Lanier. It's a pleasure to meet a person who can whip the Grand Marais. Few men ever have done that."

In the man's tones, in his steady level eyes, Noel failed to detect the slightest flicker of enmity or the slightest knowledge that he, Flood, was face to face with ex-Inspector Noel Irving. Except for a certain pique at finding Harla De Long in the company of another man, Flood showed no animosity, no undue interest, no betraying sign whatever.

Surely, Noel thought, this person could not be the man who had shot up his Winnipeg apartment, built that McMurray dead-fall for him and blazed him out of the air last week. Surely that man could never look him in the eyes like this, without betrayal.

With a little jolt of uneasiness he perceived that Flood's attraction to Harla was no casual matter. The man had come straight from his cabin as though drawn to her, and his eyes were roving over her face and hair and throat in a way which Noel, respecting Harla as he did, resented deeply.

Flood pointed down the west landwash, past a line of trapper tents and chained up husky teams. "A band of Dog-ribs from the Thelon Barrens are in for their treaty money, Miss De Long, and they're camped yonder in that granite dip. As an Indian expert you'd find them worth visiting. May I take you down there? This boat won't leave for a couple of hours."

"Mr. Lanier has asked me to go there," Harla evaded.

This was news to Noel, but he quick-wittedly backed her up. "We're waiting till the wharf clears a bit."

Flood was visibly disappointed, but he took her refusal with good grace. "Then I'll send you a 'breed interpreter for your visit," he suggested. "Since we'll be fellow passengers to Manitou, I'll see you later, Lanier. And you too, Miss De Long, if I may."

With a polite nod he turned away and left them.

Harla looked at Noel. "Sorry I made you lie for me."

"Quite all right," Noel said. The little incident cheered him more than anything in days. It showed him that during their fugitive week together Harla had learned that she could trust him implicitly in this particular way in which she did not trust Flood an inch.

"You don't seem to like Flood very much," he probed. "If it's any of my business, why not?"

Harla hesitated a moment. Then: "To be plain about it, I don't like men who're on the prowl. Flood's that. He's eternally that. I saw enough of him at McMurray to know." Her eyes flashed anger, as though she was recalling some incident at the steel-end hamlet. "It makes me furious for him to have me on his list of candidates, along with these metisses and others."

She pointed at a large yellow Albatross anchored in the little bay. "That's his ship. Why isn't he flying to Manitou instead of going by slow boat? I'll tell you why—and I don't care if it does sound presumptuous of me. He thinks that I can't avoid associating with him, on a little steamer like this. Well, I'll show him! I'm going to read him a riot act."

"Don't make an enemy of him if you can help it," Noel advised. Regardless of who Flood might be, it was unwise and possibly downright dangerous for a girl in Harla's situation substantially alone in this lonely elemental country, to antagonize a man of Flood's aggression. Flood was plainly infatuated with her, and infatuations took strange twists.

As he chatted with Harla, thankful for this little flicker of friendliness from her, he reflected: "Flood can't possibly be the leader of that pack. They deliberately tried to kill Harla, along with myself, and Flood would never have ordered that. He's too much taken with her."

On second thought he saw that those men might have acted on their own initiative. At the time of that attack Flood had been in the far north. Unable to consult him, his men might have used their own judgment, followed the Diomede and shot it down.

In a minute or two Flood's half breed interpreter came up along the rail. A strapping young French-Chipewyan, colorfully dressed in beaded lether clothes, quilled moccasins and rainbow belt, he was a likable young metis, touched with the all picturesqueness of the old voyageur.

"How do, Mees, how do, frien,'" he greeted them. "Moi, I'm Paul La Salle d'Orleans, and don' you call me 'Sally,' lak some of dese pipple do. Flood ask me to go wit' you to dose Dogreebs and do de back-and-fort' talk. Okay. Allons."

"You don't have to go, Paul," Harla said, refusing this favor from Flood. "I speak enough Tenneh to make out."

"You, Mees? Sacrebleu! I t'ought you was plenty cheechako. But okay—I don' lak dem raw fish eaters nohow."

It suddenly occurred to Noel that this railroad rumor, this crazy gossip which made Flood a person of towering importance to these guileless northern people, had been started by Flood himself. No one else would have any reason to start such a rumor. But Flood had plenty reason. It not only gave him this whole Three Rivers country as a stage for his prowling, but threw a perfect smoke screen over the man's real business in the north. Even Harla had been taken in by that rumor.

As Harla and he made their way ashore, the belief was running strong in him that here at last, in Flood, in the person of their leader, that pack of unknowns had begun to emerge from the shadows.

• • •

Alone on the bow deck, as the steamer yawed in to the pier, Noel gazed through the midnight dusk at tiny Manitou post, at the scatter of dim buildings and twinkling candle lights, and in a tight lipped mood he wondered what unguessable avalanche was going to pile down upon him.

The avalanche would come, all right, and swiftly. This place was rendezvous for that pack, and they simply dared not let him live.

The only question in his mind was the form which this avalanche would take. That was what daunted him—the nerve racking uncertainty of what to expect from those men.

Below the steamer wharf a plane rode at mooring—Flood's big cabined Albatross.

The smallness and brooding isolation of the post filled Noel with uneasy foreboding. At McMurray and on the Midnight Sun he had had around him many solid and dependable people, of good heart, but here he would be almost alone, cut off, uncertain about these folk, never knowing what man or men among them were his enemies.

Stubborn Child Needs Tactful Management

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Stubborn as a little mule" flashes into many a mother's mind as she gazes upon the set lips, braced little body, and unyielding eyes of her little boy or girl who is refusing to do something he or she is told to do.

"Stubbornness!" she thinks. "What an unpleasant trait. How I'd hate to have Billy grow up to be one of those stubborn men who can't see anything in any way other than his own.

Looking for trouble, Billy's mother is, because stubbornness is another one of those ways of children that come and go, as the youngsters change with the years.

And what we call stubbornness in children always isn't stubbornness, if by stubbornness we mean a mulish, unreasoning resistance to an outside idea.

Some children are stubborn, we admit. But when they are stubborn they usually have good reason to be. And that reason is apt to be that they constantly are opposed in their efforts to give expression to natural impulses. In order to protect themselves against interference or domination they may scream, or fight, or weep, or instead retreat behind a wall of stubbornness.

When they do this there is no use in battering away at the wall, using force. There is nothing lasting gained by entering into a contest of wills. What we must do instead is to change our whole approach to the management of our child.

We must try to find out what it's all about—this wall of defense he raises against us. When we do find out, we usually can melt it down instead of demolishing it by force. Accomplishing a feat like this frequently points the way to the solution of other kinds of difficulties.

In discussing stubbornness I would not want to omit an important warning. Don't confuse stubbornness with determination. Sometimes children of tremendous persistence and will power constantly are in hot water because these qualities keep them from being easily deflected from their chosen course of action. Determination is invaluable. Guide it, channel it, reason with it, but don't destroy it.

"Sidelights on Stubbornness" is the name of a fully written booklet by Mrs. Bevans, which is obtainable on receipt of a 3-cent stamped, self addressed envelope with your request.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in the Sunday Tribune.

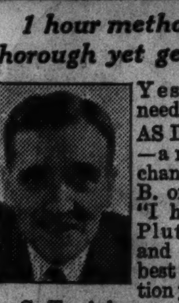
Coverlet Guild.

Dr. R. E. Hieronymus will speak on "Places of Historic and Scenic Interest in Illinois" at the opening luncheon meeting of the Colonial Coverlet Guild of America at 12:30 o'clock today in the Wedgwood room of Marshall Field & Co.

HERE'S RELIEF from CONSTIPATION
Doctors have used and prescribed for years
1 hour method brings thorough yet gentle results



Yes—when you need a laxative DO AS DOCTORS DO—and take no chances. Dr. C. E. B. of Indiana says: "I have prescribed Pluto frequently and think it the best aperient solution yet found." Dr. A. C. T., Arkansas, writes: "There is nothing better than Pluto."
Works in 1 Hour
With Pluto there are no hours of overnight waiting, which allow dangerous poisons to be absorbed by the system, often resulting in that tired feeling—dull headaches—too often causing pimples, boils, colds. Simply mix 1/5 of a glass of Pluto Water with 4/5 of a glass of hot water. You'll find this mixture pleasant, gentle, quick. It will give you a thorough bowel flush in 1 hour or less, and you'll feel worlds better.
Try This Doctors' Way
Pluto Water is bottled at the famous French Lick Springs, Indiana. It is a non-habit-forming saline mineral water. Two hundred million bottles have already been used, largely on doctors' advice. Get Pluto from your druggist—either in the 25c size or the large 50c size which contains three times the quantity. In 1 hour or less, your constipation will be relieved and you'll feel like a million.

Ivan Lebedeff Berlin Bound on Movie Job

His Name Also Linked with Wera Engels.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Ivan Lebedeff, who looks like every American's idea of a continental nobleman when he is dressed up for film rôles, or for Hollywood social affairs, but who sheds that attitude along with his monocle when out of the dressup character, is getting ready to go back to Europe temporarily for his first trip in nearly five years. Two good reasons. One is Wera Engels. The other a German UFA film combination has just bought a movie story from him and wants him to help prepare it for screening.

WERC ENGELS.

Lebedeff's highly glazed exterior has fooled some people, but this handsome, straight spined former czarist army officer passes for one of Hollywood's "regular" fellows when he is not around where doting women folks look expectantly to him to click his heels, bow from the waist and kiss their hads. He's clever too.

"The story I sold UFA was only an 18 page synopsis of a plot idea," he says. "But they liked it. It's a rather light thing, really nothing very much, with comedy situations, a story of American smart life." Lebedeff sold Producer C. B. De Mille another movie story about three months ago. Before he can go abroad Lebedeff must complete a very painful siege with surgeons and dentists as world war wounds in his jaw which seemed wholly healed recently laid him low again.

When I talked to Lebedeff on the set of "Love on the Run" with Gable, Joan Crawford, and Franchot Tone, the one time Lithuanian colonel in the czarist army was smiling his movie smile, but it was a great piece of acting. The places where the dental surgeons were working had been hurting for days, but there was movie dialog to be said, movie ladies to be charmed and movie hands to be kissed, and Ivan, like a good soldier, was speaking, smiling and kissing his way through the scene for Director Clarence Brown.

When you mention Wera Engels to Lebedeff his face lights up. "It is wonderful about Wera," he exclaims. "She has become the greatest favorite in German pictures. She is the one star in Germany who is now paid her salary in foreign exchange."

Miss Engels, daughter of a German navy captain during the world war, made two starts toward a film career in Hollywood, but never became a first rank star in American films. Lebedeff has been a featured performer here for many years after escaping the Russian revolution into Odessa and thence to Constantinople, Vienna, and Germany where his acting career began. He was cited in Russian world war army regulations several times and was made a chevalier of the Order of St. George for heroism as a cavalry raider.

Lebedeff began his career as a screen writer two years ago when he sold his first scenario, "Three Kisses," to Mary Pickford. He now pursues a double capacity in films, as actor and as writer. Friends think that he and Miss Engels may be married abroad.

Pete Smith, voice commentator on specialty shorts at M. G. M., is suffering from laryngitis, and production on his comedies and explanatory one reelers has been halted to await recovery. Fred Kohler is ill of bronchial asthma, holding up shots in Paramount's "Arizona Mahoney." Both throat illnesses are blamed on a five day wave of hot and arid weather in which the Los Angeles temperature was in the nineties and the air filled with desert dust almost thick enough to obscure street lights.

As soon as Joan Blondell returns from her honeymoon with Dick Powell she will be cast opposite Fernand Gravet, French romantic actor, in "The King and the Chorus Girl," at Warners. It will be Mervyn Le Roy's first film as an independent producer allied with the firm of his brothers-in-law, the Warners.

Ina Bourskaya Delightful in Role of Carmen

BY EDWARD BARRY.

When the San Carlo people bring Ina Bourskaya into the company to sing the title rôle of "Carmen," as they did last night, the audience is assured of a correct and competent performance, one that has been well thought out, and which is sure to profit by the artist's technical prowess.

Miss Bourskaya's middle voice has the mysterious, tantalizing quality that we associate, rightly or wrongly, with all seductive gals of Latin extraction. Her upper octaves, with a power that occasionally verges on stridency without ever actually reaching such dangerous ground, is admirably suited to a portrayal of the more feverish characteristics of the unhappy cigaret maker.

"Carmen's" youthful music—it carries its sixty years as nonchalantly as the gayest boulevardier—kept another big Auditorium full contented and often enthusiastic. As usual, the friendliness of the hearers found expression not only after the big arias, where tradition dictates a half-minute of applause, but in some unexpected places as well. At the conclusion of a chorus, for instance. And the second act quintet, in which the veteran Natale Cervi had an honorable part, was roundly applauded.

One of the high points of the evening came with Dimitri Onofrei's golden delivery of the "Flower Song." And the simple sincerity of his acting of this difficult scene was almost as important in the total impression as the opulence and ease of his singing. Another big moment, of course, was Mostyn Thomas' intoxicating "Toreador Song," done with as much zip and spirit as if it were being introduced to a breathless Paris for the first time. Come to think of it, though, Paris was not especially breathless about "Carmen" when the opera was first revealed to that sophisticated capital.

Charlotte Symons sang the peasant maiden with girlish fervor and sweetness, enriching the part with the light beauty of her voice and her expert, restrained acting.

"Ocean Waves" Is Adaptable to All-Over Quilt

There are several well known "Ocean Wave" patterns, all approximately tne same age. "Ocean Waves," illustrated today, is one of the pieced patterns which is especially adaptable to an all-over design. The blocks are set together so as to be symmetrical around the center of the quilt. A diagram accompanying the pattern shows clearly how the pieced blocks are set together to form rolling waves.

A FRIEND IN NEED

Urgent Plea for Stove.

Has any reader a heater or heating stove which can be given to a very needy family? A case worker in a district on the northwest side of the city phoned about the need, which is urgent. Mr. X. has heart trouble and a hernia, his wife and ten year old child are also ill and attending a clinic. They are now living in unheated quarters, and the worker will be glad to arrange delivery of a stove, if one can be secured.

Net Fashions Lovely Frocks for Dancing

Ribbon Is Used to Trim Dresses for Younger Set.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Some of the most effectively decorative dinner and dance dresses are not, as one would think, of gleaming metallics, or yards of slinky dark toned velvet, or even the stiff and lovely beauties of taffeta and silk moire. While such materials do fashion the season's most spectacular creations for dress parade, other inspired designers have used net with telling results.

Younger fashionables are wearing the net affairs and gloating over the fact that these filmy, airy nets are distractions for any appreciative stag line.

Net, by all votes of the masculine dancing partners, is the big-time favorite. These masculine critics are firm in the conviction that yards of swirling net, frothy with ruffles, flounces, and bows, form the ideal dance dress. We sleuthed the shops and found some new arrivals that are in time for all the parties on the winter schedule. A snowy white one, with bands of white grosgrain ribbon going around and around the skirt, and also the short sleeved bodice top. The high neckline is devastatingly demure, and the bodice fastens with tiny white buttons. The whole thing billows over a clinging silk slip of white.

A gun metal gray net is a knockout, with baby ribbon width bands of gun metal gray velvet racing around the skirt, around the ruffle edging the drop shoulders, and a gray velvet waist sash. The slip is a taffeta affair of the same gun metal gray.

You'll like a ginger brown net trimmed with matching brown velvet ribbon on the full gathered skirt and outlining the square cut bodice. All kinds of utterly lovely filmy black nets are dramatized with black velvet and are just as easy to buy and wear as the colored creations. Don't overlook net among the coming attractions for appealingly feminine and picturesque party clothes.

Fashion photograph . . . as knowingly fashioned as a complete costume, this smart tunic blouse has the short shirred sleeves, the draped neckline and waistline of a beautifully made afternoon dress. It is buttoned at the back. It can be worn over a simple skirt of any material for an afternoon ensemble. The white seamed soft black gloves have diamond shaped cutouts down the back. Hat, gloves, tunic blouse, and bag are to be found in a Chicago shop.

For Informal Entertaining

WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOUSE COAT.

The woman who does a great deal of informal entertaining needs a house coat, which is a prosaic name for a "hostess gown." Simple, stately lines are traditional with this type of garment and immensely flattering, especially if the silhouette is not slim. Slender figures, of course, look divine in a hostess gown. Rich fabrics are displayed to excellent advantage by the strictly tailored lines.

The model illustrated today subscribes to both the princess mode and the directoire influence. The coat is fitted beautifully through the bust, waist and hips, and flares distinctively below the knees, all the way to the floor. There is no belt. Clever seaming creates a neat waistline, which is accentuated by buttons.

The shoulderline of this model is especially worthy of note. Wide revers keep to the tailored trend, and the sleeves puff where they meet the armholes, achieving the broad shouldered effect essential to the current fashion.

If you are very young, especially if you are a college student, you will find this model, with shorter sleeves and shorter skirt, perfect for the informal get-togethers in your dormitory room. Also, such a garment is a welcome change from the now tried-and-true lounging pajamas, and yet serves the same purpose, that of saving wear and tear on your everyday clothes while you are lolling around or studying.

Style No. 2893 is designed for sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 5¾ yards of 39 inch material for the full length garment.

Tyrant Type of Wife May Need Stern Handling

Wielding Club of Authority May Cure the Shrew.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

When the husband writes about his unloved plight we are stumped for a plan of action.

What can a man do when his wife serves notice on him that she does not love him and the less she would see of him the better it would please her?

"I don't know what to do," the poor devil writes. "I don't want to leave home, and still it is hell here. I never get a decent word. Sometimes, for long spells, no word at all. I've been married 15 years and there are three children. I love the children and, foolish as it may seem, I still love their mother with all my heart. I wouldn't want any other woman. But every day I am made to realize I'm not wanted. What is a man to do under the circumstances? I do all the supporting and I don't know what the woman would live on if I did light out. I suppose she would strike for alimony. I don't know what to think.

DAVE."

If we read between the lines properly you've let that woman use you for a football and you've kept on letting her amuse herself that way. You probably are begging her to love you. You probably are working your head off to please the ornery one, being humble and pleading along with it. Well, there are some women who cannot be treated that way. They need the club of authority wielded over them. They need a man who'll tell them to behave. They need a man who'll hold out the money on them to make them realize that they can't take forever and give nothing in return.

Risky as the suggestion may sound, some of the tyrants can just do with a ltitle competition from a rival woman. Once they think some one else sees a prize in the man to whom they've been attaching small importance they begin reconsidering the mate. Heaven forbid that we argue you into starting trouble on the outside. But you must do something to establish yourself as a man who'll take none of the critter's nonsense.

If you can do it by standing up for your rights like a man and ordering the dame around like a man hell-bent on straightening the kinks out of a balky wife, it would be better. Can you do it?

"Smoke one of mine–"

A HOSPITABLE GESTURE THAT MEANS MILLIONS OF DOLLARS TO THE SOCIAL REGISTER OF AMERICAN BUSINESS

65.9% OF ALL NATIONALLY ADVERTISED CIGARETTES* ARE SOLD BY ADVERTISERS IN THE AMERICAN WEEKLY!

IN the lexicon of hospitality no phrase is better established nor more frequently pronounced than that friendly invitation, "smoke one of mine." Four simple words, yet on the lips of dowager and debutante, bachelor girl and business woman, banker and bus driver—men and women in all walks of life—they mean millions of dollars to the Social Register of American Business.

Today sales of nationally advertised cigarettes total more than 119,600,000,000 a year. And mark this! Of that stupendous total 65.9% is produced and sold by advertisers in The American Weekly magazine.

So, "smoke one of mine"—more than six times out of ten—is an invitation to accept a cigarette featured in the advertising pages of The American Weekly.

From Cigarettes to Motor Cars

Here is a fact so significant that no alert merchandiser will overlook its import. It holds a vital lesson for practically all manufacturers of consumer goods, no matter of what kind or how distributed.

And the lesson is even more clearly defined when it is recalled that 90.2% of the nation's automobiles are sold by advertisers in The American Weekly! 75.9% of the nationally advertised tires! 70.2% of the nationally advertised dentifrices! And from 57.9% to nearly 100% of the nationally advertised foods and drinks, gelatin desserts, electric refrigerators, razor blades and coffee are sold by manufacturers and producers who advertise in The American Weekly.

Disagreeing, perhaps, in other matters of policy or selection of advertising media, these great organizations (see Social Register of American Business at right) meet on common ground in assigning The American Weekly an important place on their advertising schedules.

More Than 5,500,000 Families

Facts dictate the selection of The American Weekly by practically every national advertiser who occupies, or hopes to occupy, a dominant sales position in his field. This publication, focusing the attention of more than 5,500,000 families, reaches one-fourth of all the English-publication-reading families in America.

Graphic and authentic, The American Weekly is universal in appeal, gripping the attention of socialite and stenographer, banker, professor and store clerk alike. Editorially it is rooted deep in human nature, woven of the sixteen basic elements of interest that find a response in the minds and emotions of all mankind.

Advertising in The American Weekly taps the world's richest audience at its very source, reaching from 20% to 50% or more of all the families living in 627 of the 995 key cities of 10,000 population and over and dominating in the one-fifth of the counties that buy four-fifths of the nation's goods.

Where this Magazine goes

The American Weekly is the largest magazine in the world. It is distributed through the great Hearst Sunday newspapers. In 627 of America's 995 towns and cities of 10,000 population and over, The American Weekly concentrates 67% of its circulation.

In each of 174 cities, it reaches better than one out of every two families

In 144 more cities, 40 to 50% of the families

In an additional 134 cities, 30 to 40%

In another 175 cities, 20 to 30%

. . . and, in addition, more than 2,000,000 families in thousands of other communities, large and small, regularly buy and read The American Weekly.

Facts provided by recognized independent research organization.*

COCK-A-DOODLE-DOO

Cock-A-Doodle-Doo!

The average circulation of The American Weekly for the six months ending Sept. 30, 1936 (to be reported to the Audit Bureau of Circulations) is the largest for any similar period in the history of this publication.

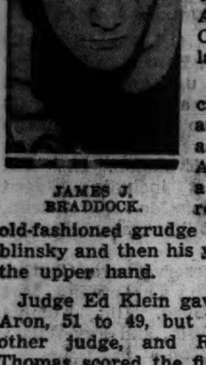
21,000 WATCH DUBLINSKY BOX ARON TO DRAW

Braddock and Louis Appear at Stadium.

Harry Dublinsky, veteran Chicago welterweight, and Milt Aron, promising Dubuque, Ia., boxer, battled ten rounds to a draw in the main event of the second annual boxing and wrestling show presented under the auspices of the Schenley Athletic club at Chicago Stadium last night.



JAMES J. BRADDOCK.

A capacity crowd, estimated at 21,000, cheered as Dublinsky and Aron engaged in a slugging match reminiscent of an old-fashioned grudge bout. First Dublinsky and then his young rival held the upper hand.

Judge Ed Klein gave the match to Aron, 51 to 49, but Rube Metz, the other judge, and Referee Tommy Thomas scored the fight a draw.

Braddock, Louis Appear.

James J. Braddock, heavyweight champion, and his leading challenger, Joe Louis, were referees of two wrestling exhibitions.

Louis, former Chicago Golden Gloves champion, was greeted enthusiastically as he crawled through the ropes to referee a fifteen minute draw between Bobby Bruns and Danny Winter.

Braddock then entered the ring to officiate in the encounter involving Jim McMillen and Tommy Marvin before the Brown Bomber had left. The assemblage cheered as the rivals shook hands and posed for photographers. McMillen threw Marvin in 11:17 with a series of body slams.

Dublinsky Floors Aron.

Dublinsky opened hostilities by flooring Aron with a long right to the side of the jaw. In the second round Aron landed a series of solid rights to the chin which had his rival wobbly.

Dublinsky connected with a series of left jabs in the next session. In the fourth Dublinsky swarmed all over Milt. Dublinsky continued the fast pace in the fifth, but in the sixth the rally was curtailed when he stumbled back from a right to the top of the head.

In the ninth Aron's left eye started to close from a series of rights. He had Dublinsky dizzy in the final session. Then another right caused the eye to shut tight.

Taylor Stops O'Shea.

Harry Thomas, Eagle Bend, Minn., slugger, handed Art Sykes of Elmira, N. Y., a trouncing in the first of two matches at ten rounds.

Thomas, who weighed 193½ pounds, was too rugged for Sykes, 189. Harry staggered his foe in the second, fourth, sixth, seventh, and tenth rounds.

Rolla Taylor, St. Louis, Mo., welterweight, scored a three round technical knockout over Mickey O'Shea in the opening bout. O'Shea was floored twice in the first round, twice in the second, and three times in the third. Taylor was floored in the second.

Max Zona, Chicago Heights heavyweight, handed the veteran Tom Jones a six round beating in the next fight. Jones, former punch absorber for Joe Louis, was knocked down three times in the first round.

PLAY TWO GAMES IN PRO FOOTBALL LEAGUE TONIGHT

The last of the night games on the National Professional Football league's 1936 schedule will be played tonight with Detroit meeting the Dodgers in Brooklyn and Philadelphia opposing the Pirates in Pittsburgh.

Detroit's high geared offensive machine will be seeking its third straight league victory in addition to revenge for the unexpected whipping the Dodgers administered last season just as the Lions were getting their championship drive under way.

Brooklyn, relying largely on the kicking of Ralph Kercheval and the running of Bobby Wilson, former Southern Methodist flash who was a member of the 1935 College All Star team, is expected to give the Lions' defense its severest test to date. The Lions have not been scored upon in their two games.

Pittsburgh, idle since it lost to the Bears ten days ago, will attempt to strengthen its hold on the eastern division lead by bewildering the faltering Eagles with a dazzling pass attack in which Ed Matesic, southpaw, is the leading performer.

Pittsburgh and Detroit will start west after tonight's games, the Pirates to play the Bears at Wrigley field Sunday and the Lions to meet the Packers at Green Bay. The Packer game will be the Lions' third in eight days.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

HERE AND THERE.

PITTSBURGH'S victory over Ohio State last Saturday was not the forerunner of a home and home series between the two elevens. It was regarded as repayment of a schedule favor which Ohio State extended to Pitt in 1932 by filling in a date canceled by a southern eleven.

Although the contest drew a capacity house, we heard no talk of another series. Both Ohio State and Pitt are practically booked for 1937 and 1938. Three games previously had been played. Pitt won, 18 to 2, in 1929. Ohio State won, 16 to 7, in 1930. The 1932 affair was a scoreless tie.

With the Minnesota series ended and that with Notre Dame not likely to be renewed, Pittsburgh is forming new alliances. Duke will be on the schedule in 1937 and Northwestern inaugurates a home and home arrangement in 1938.

Dr. John [Jock] Sutherland, Pittsburgh coach, never played football before earning a position as guard in his undergraduate days at Pitt. He also was a hammer thrower on the track team. After coaching five years at Lafayette, Sutherland, whose doctor's degree is in dentistry, returned to his alma mater where his coaching record is 87 victories, 17 defeats, and 10 ties.

In the same car Saturday night coming from Columbus were Umpire John Schommer, veteran and fearless Big Ten official; Coach Jim Kelly, who stayed over for the game after his De Paul eleven defeated Dayton Friday night; President Joe Carr of the National pro league, coming to Chicago for the Bear-Cardinal game Sunday, and The Wake. And was that a fanning session? It was.

"How Is Married Life?"

As soon as wedding bells ring out,
Why do people always shout:
"How is married life?"
Do they expect to hear of strife
So soon? And do they really care
About how much fun it is to prepare
A cozy home and meals for two?
The joy of having dreams come true
And love increasing every day—
When "How is married life?" they say,
Don't they know full well
All newlyweds will think it swell?

GABBY HARTNETT WON'T TAKE THAT BROOKLYN POST

In Fact, He Wants to Stay Here.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Gabby Hartnett, the fellow who has been around through quite a stretch as a Cub catcher, will not manage Brooklyn next year. In fact, the aging Charles Leo will not even visit Brooklyn next year unless he's wearing a Cub uniform.

The above developed quickly yesterday on a rumor cooked up by the boys in the back room. They decided the ideal way in which to give Brooklyn a needed manager in place of the ousted Casey Stengel and at the same time furnish the Cubs with an excellent pitcher, would be to trade Hartnett for Van Lingle Mungo. Hartnett heard of the report, stalked into the office of Owner P. K. Wrigley for a little inside information and everything was settled in a hurry.

Clears Up Situation.

Hartnett cleared up the situation himself by informing Wrigley that he didn't want to manage Brooklyn, that he didn't even want to leave Chicago.

"Well, if that's the case there is nothing for me to say except that you will stay here," replied Wrigley. The Cub owner then added that, while the club still values his catching services it would not have stood in Hartnett's path if he had wanted to seek the Brooklyn management.

The club will hold the same view if Hartnett should encounter an opportunity to pilot some other club. However, in view of his declaration that he wants to remain in Chicago the job would have to be a good one and it doesn't look as if any managerial plums will be available for picking.

The disposal of the idea that Hartnett would not be retained for 1937 strengthens the possibility of concluding a deal with the Giants for Hank Leiber, the right handed hitting outfield, for whom the Cubs put out a feeler during the world series. With Hartnett available, the Cubs might see their way clear to give Ken O'Dea, second string catcher, in return for Leiber. Bill Terry, the boss of the Giants, has already announced that O'Dea would be acceptable. Next to that he wants an infielder, probably Stanley Hack.

Plan Exhibition Tour.

Despite the willingness, even anxiety, of the Cub officials to get their prospective trading cleared up immediately, they may be forced to hold off until the baseball meetings in December. Most of the other National league managers have cleared out on fishing or hunting trips, so no business can be conducted. Even Charley Grimm, the Cub chief, has deserted his Missouri farm for a little exercise with a bamboo pole and a can of worms.

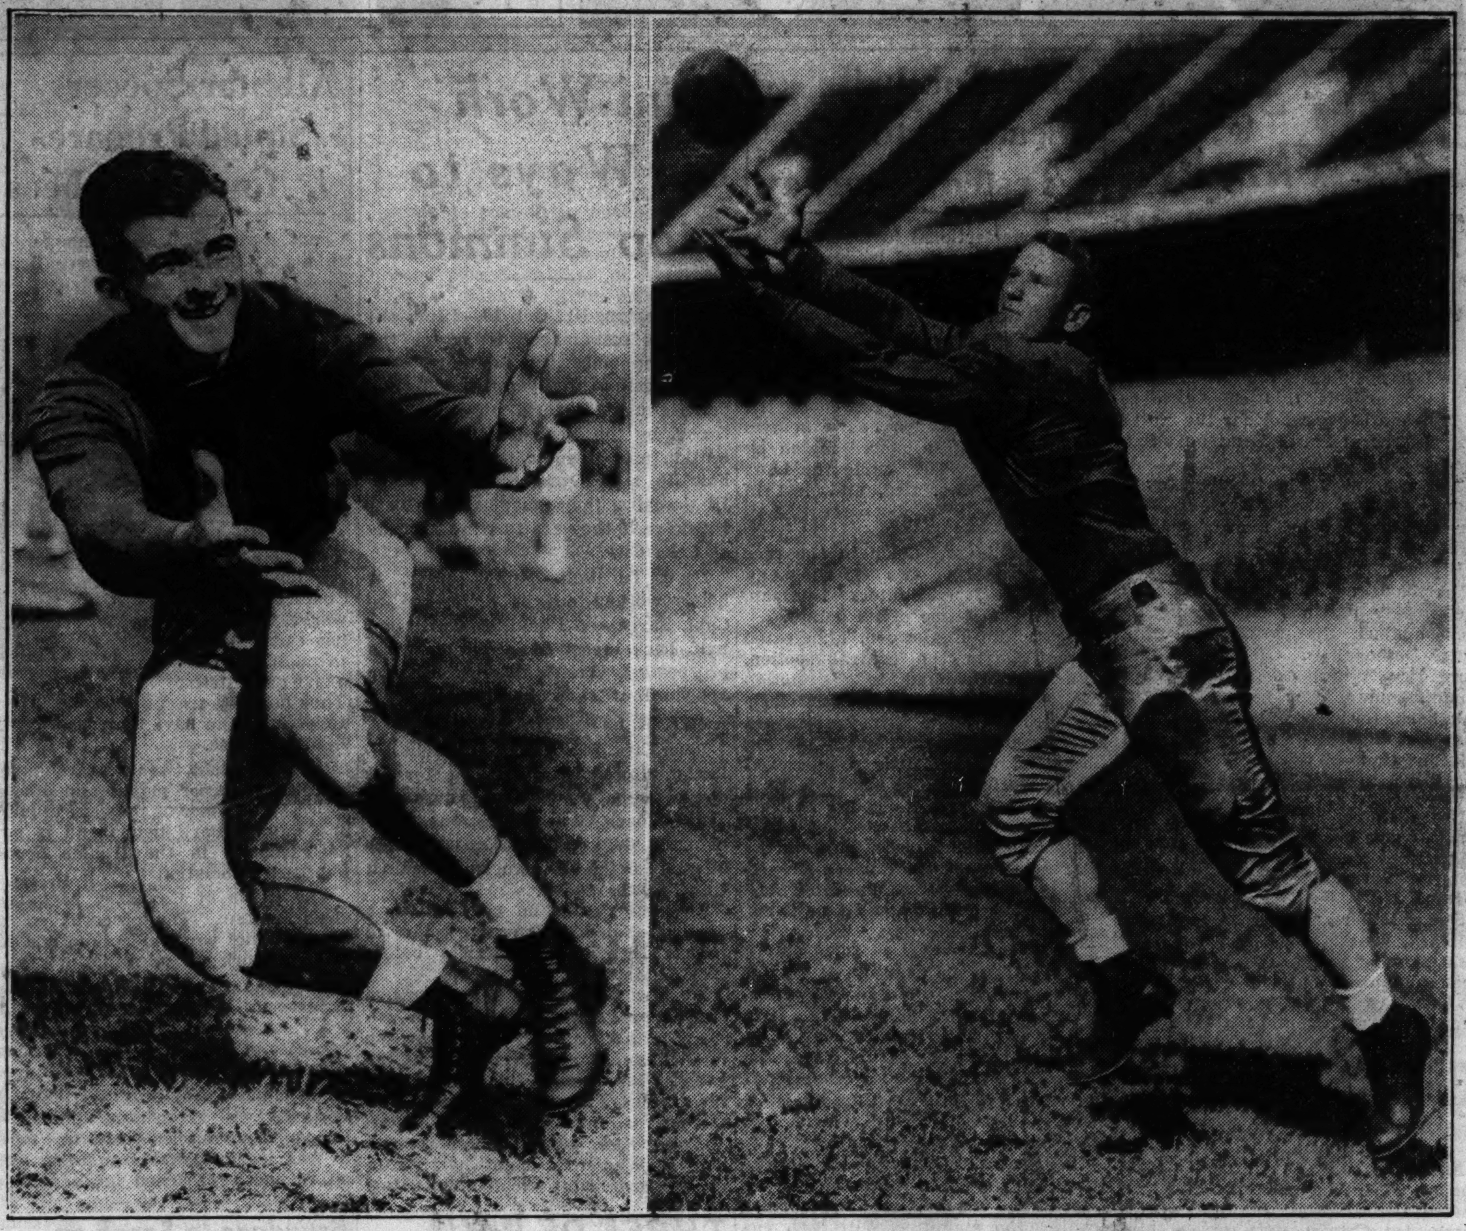
Representatives of the White Sox, Pirates, Browns, and Cubs met here yesterday with the idea of laying the groundwork for a spring exhibition tour in which all of them will have a hand. Dates could not be settled on because California games in which the Cubs, Sox, and Pirates will play depend entirely on when the Pacific Coast league season opens, and this will not be decided for another month.

NEW KENTUCKY RACE TRACK TO OPEN TOMORROW

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Keenland, Kentucky's new race course five miles from here, will open its inaugural nine day meeting Thursday. Keenland displaces the century old Kentucky Association track, first racing plant west of the Alleghenies. The old track has made way for a federal housing project.

The site of the new track was purchased by the Keenland association from John O. Keene, by whose family the land had been owned since Patrick Henry, then governor of Virginia, gave Francis Keene a grant of land in the Bluegrass region before Kentucky was a state.

BUCKEYES IN FOR BUSY DAY WITH WILDCATS



When Northwestern opposes Ohio State at Dyche stadium Saturday in the Western conference opener for the Buckeyes the toe of Full Back Steve Toth (left) and his ground gaining ability are expected to prove major factors in a game which Northwestern hopes will stymie the Buckeyes' bid for the Big Ten title. Ohio, uncertain of its true power after last week's defeat by Pitt, still is sure it has a strong football team and asks no better chance than to prove it against the Purple. Capt. Merle Wendt (right), Ohio end, an important cog in the Buckeye aerial game, gets under a pass.

Are Minnesota and Ohio Best Big Ten Bets?

BY WILFRID SMITH.

This is your last chance to revise your guesses on the outcome of the current western conference football race. Even so, any rearrangement you may wish to make is a bit unfair in view of advantage of pre-season games and three Big Ten decisions already recorded.

Minnesota and Ohio State probably will remain at the top of your list, but it is apparent that neither will have the same smooth path to the title as a year ago. The Gophers must prove their superiority over Purdue and Northwestern. Ohio State has Northwestern and Indiana as major opponents in its list of five Big Ten rivals. Each has some disadvantage in meeting this double barrier on consecutive Saturdays.

The première battle this week, of course, is Ohio State's invasion of Dyche stadium. It is the most difficult of the week's games to forecast. Northwestern's rousing victory over Iowa and Ohio State's offensive collapse against Pittsburgh are best bases for comparisons, yet they are at the extremes of standards acceptable for comparison.

Ohio Appears Stronger.

Ohio State would seem to have a slight edge over the Wildcats. Because Pitt's furiously charging tackles riddled Ohio State's offense and held the Buckeyes to a net gain from scrimmage of six yards, it does not follow that Northwestern's tackles will have the same degree of success. Pitt was conceded to have a great eleven before the season started. It now has proved its defensive ability and it also humiliated Ohio State by confining its attack solely to running plays.

Nor does it follow that because Northwestern's attack was extremely successful against Iowa that it will

Bears Meet East Chicago Team Tonight

The Bears, National league leaders, invade East Chicago, Ind., tonight to meet Fred Gilles' Calumet All-Stars in a night game on the Roosevelt High school field for the benefit of St. Catherine hospital.

Gilles has assembled a squad of former college stars, several of whom are experienced in the professional field and who held the Bears on even terms for the first half last year, before losing, 19 to 6.

Coach George Halas, following the Cardinal contest, changed the Bears' forward pass defense for the second time within a week. The new defense will be given a trial tonight.

The Pittsburgh Pirates meet the Bears at Wrigley field Sunday afternoon. It will be the first Chicago appearance of Ed Matesic, one of the ace passers of the league.

Ted Rosequist, end, who has been on the injured list since the season opened, is expected to be in shape for Sunday's battle. Tonight's lineup:

WILDCATS OUT TO AVENGE LAST YEAR'S DEFEAT

40,000 Expected at Dyche Stadium.

Northwestern university's 1936 football hopes, buoyed by highly convincing victories over Iowa and North Dakota State, will be put to the test Saturday when the Purple eleven battles Ohio State at Dyche stadium in what now looms as one of the most important games of the Western conference season.

The Wildcats are not overlooking the value of a victory as concerns their championship hopes, but the revenge theme will probably carry more weight among the players. It was a sad day for the Purple last season when the Buckeyes handed them a 28 to 7 licking, a defeat which Northwestern supporters still claim was one of those off-day affairs. They point to the fact that following the Ohio State victory, the Wildcats went on to play some of the best football of the year, including a victory over Notre Dame.

In addition to last year's defeat, Northwestern has reason to recall four successive whippings at the hands of the Buckeyes, for Purple fans must go back to 1931 to find themselves a decision over Ohio State, a 10 to 0 triumph.

Need Good Tackling.

The wounds from the 1935 loss were attributed principally to poor tackling and a weak pass defense. Consequently, Coach Lynn Waldorf and his staf have paid considerable attention to these departments in their preparations for Saturday's game. Waldorf yesterday recalled that at least eight Wildcats made futile attempts to tackle Jumping Joe Williams of the Buckeyes during his 35 yard dash to a touchdown. He also dwelt on the Purple pass defense, which permitted the Buckeyes to score twice in the first ten minutes of play.

The Pittsburgh-Ohio State battle last Saturday taught Northwestern coaches at least one method of combating the Buckeye attack. That lies in rushing the hurlers on the vaunted Ohio pitching staf. Pittsburgh's two tackles, Daniell and Matisi, demonstrated that in the Panthers' 6 to 0 triumph last week, which saw Ohio State gain only 19 yards through the air. Consequently, yesterday's drill at Evanston, against a freshman team using Ohio plays, stressed rushing of the passer by Wildcat forwards.

The game is expected to attract a crowd of 40,000. The university ticket office, however, announced yesterday that there are still plenty of good seats to be had.

N. U. Backs Good.

Northwestern, on the basis of their first two games, will not have to give away much to the Buckeyes from the standpoint of able ball carriers. The Purple has a talented quintet in Don Heap, Ollie Adelman, Don Geyer, Fred Vanzo, and Steve Toth. Waldorf is still dissatisfied with his team's passing attack and plans to devote plenty of work to polishing same the remainder of the week. Heap, Adelman, Jack Major, and Bernie Jefferson have been receiving long drills on passing, while the best receivers have proven to be John Kovatch, Cleo Diehl, and John Zitko.

The real Wildcat problem, however, will be its efforts to match a Buckeye line, superior in weight and numbers. Line Coach Burt Ingwersen, however, has developed a fast charging set of regular forwards, with adequate replacements. Two sets of tackles have been used interchangeably in the two games to date. They are Bob Voigts, a sophomore, and De Witt Gibson, 225 pound senior, and Vange Burnett and Park Wray, both seniors. Capt. Steve Reid and Les Schreiber, who started the Iowa game, are having a real fight to hold their guard jobs over Mike Calvano and Carl Devry, both lettermen.

HARD DRILL FOR BUCKS.

Columbus, O., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The Ohio State football squad snapped through one of the hardest practice sessions of the year today in a mental attitude that bodes ill for Northwestern in Evanston Saturday.

Coach Francis Schmidt divided the varsity into two teams, and freshman elevens were lined up against them for dummy scrimmage. After preliminary tenseness, which on several occasions drew sharp criticism from Schmidt, had been eliminated the Buckeyes ran through their plays with a precision and smoothness that which brought praise from the Ohio State coaches.

Sol Maggied returned to the lineup in today's drill, but the other cripples, Charles Hamrick and Alex Schoenbaum, looked on from the side lines. They are expected to be back in uniform by tomorrow, according to trainers.

Former Yale Star Named So. American Swim Coach

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—John W. Harte of New Haven, Yale, '32, former Yale swimming, golf, and tennis star, has been appointed national head coach of the South African Amateur Swimming union, Coach Robert J. Kiphuth of the Yale swimming team announced today.

MAROONS SWITCH VARSITY LINEUP AND FEAR PURDUE

Fitzgerald to Start at Half Back.

Bob Fitzgerald, Maroon left end, was switched to right half back yesterday as the squad, refusing to be awed by Purdue's prestige, went through a lively defensive scrimmage.

Fitzgerald, who won a letter at half back as a sophomore last year, was returned to his 1935 post to replace the injured Lehnhardt. Fitzgerald's punting ability was one factor in the switch. Bill Gillerlain will start at left end.

Coaches Jay Berwanger impersonated John Drake and Tommy Flinn became Cecil Isbell as the freshman team ran Boilermaker plays against the varsity. Nelson Norgren, who scouted Purdue last Saturday, says the Lafayette team has the most powerful line and the hardest running, most versatile back field Chicago will meet this season.

Undaunted by the great superiority every critic concedes to Purdue, Maroon undergraduates went blithely ahead yesterday with plans for their annual defiance of the Boilermakers. There is to be a student rally Friday night, followed by the autumnal "Boo-Purdue Dance."

PURDUE TESTS DEFENSE.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Anticipating a barrage of Maroon passes at Stagg field Saturday, the Boilermakers worked on aerial defense in scrimmage this afternoon. Devising defensive setups for the spread formations that Chicago used with considerable success last season also occupied considerable attention.

"It's a certainty that Chicago will play its best game of the season against us," Coach Noble Kizer warned the squad. "They haven't shown anything in their pre-conference games, but will be keyed to the limit for the Big Ten opener. I won't be surprised at anything."

Virtualy the same lineup that has carried the Boilermakers to triumphs over Ohio U. and Wisconsin was intact in the defense scrimmage against the freshmen using Chicago plays. Purdue's reserve backs, Ben Medley, Bob Selby, and Tony Ippolito, were all given attention.

WOLVERINES TRY NEW PLAYS.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Equipped with more new plays, Michigan players drilled today in preparation for its game Saturday with Minnesota at Minneapolis.

Coach Harry Kipke, with only one more day in which to perfect the Wolverine offense and strengthen the defense, spent a half hour on new plays and a half hour on scrimmage. A freshman eleven, using Gopher formations, took up a portion of the practice. Capt. Matt Patanelli, absent from practice yesterday, took part in today's drill, which again had as its aim the perfection of pass plays.

The Wolverines will leave Thursday afternoon for Minneapolis and work out Friday afternoon.

BIERMAN SEEKS NEW MEN.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Because of the two hard games with Washington and Nebraska, Minnesota has used only 21 players thus far. However, Coach Bierman is hopeful that the Gophers will compile a lead early one of these days, preferably against Michigan Saturday, in order that he might see what he has in the way of reserves. While the regulars rested again today Bierman confined his attention to the development of new plays.

The ticket sale has dropped considerably in comparison with other games, with the probability that the attendance may not go over 40,000 for Saturday's game in Memorial stadium. That would be one of the smallest crowds that ever saw a Michigan team play here.

GUNNERS PRO ELEVEN OPENS SCHEDULE OCT. 21

The Chicago Gunners, new professional football team, will make their debut in Chicago Wednesday night, Oct. 21, in a night game at the 124th Field Artillery armory against the South Bend, Ind., Brewers.

Coached by John ["Hick"] Connelley, who also directs the St. Rita High school eleven, and managed by Ted Connelley, the Gunners will play all home games in the armory.

The squad has been practicing for three weeks, and includes Nick Vairo, Notre Dame, and George Wilson, Northwestern, ends; Bob Hoel, who played in the National league with Pittsburgh last season, and Bob Donohue, Richmond [Va.] U., tackles; Paul Tangora and Ed Whalen, Northwestern, guards; Al Lind, Northwestern, and Hank Pojman, Notre Dame, centers, and Wally Fromhart and Bill Shakespeare, Notre Dame; Les Lindberg, Illinois, and Hugh Duvall, Wally Cruice, and Jakie Sullivan, Northwestern, backs.

EIGHTEEN TEAMS START COLISEUM SKATING DERBY

Eighteen teams and three individuals entered the transcontinental roller Derby which started last night in the Coliseum for a 24 day stretch. Fifteen teams were originally scheduled to start, but Promoter Leo A. Seltzer had so many requests at the last moment that he allowed all to enter. A capacity crowd greeted the skaters. The teams as they now are paired follow:

Badger Squad Goes Through Tackling Drill

Madison, Wis., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Dissatisfied with the tackling against Purdue, Coach Harry Stuhldreher gave Wisconsin players a stiff session in fundamentals this afternoon as they began heavy work for the Notre Dame game at South Bend next Saturday.

"It was miserable tackling, more than anything else, that accounted for our defeats by Marquette and Purdue," Stuhldreher explained.

Injuries continued to keep five players out of scrimmage today as the varsity polished its passing attack against the freshmen, using Notre Dame plays. On the sidelines were Erv Windward and Clarence Tommerson, quarter back and right half back, respectively; Len Lovshin, end; Erv Johnson, right guard, and Ed Christianson, tackle.

IRISH WORK ON FUNDAMENTALS.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Notre Dame players were drilled on fundamentals today in preparation for Saturday's game with Wisconsin.

Steve Miller, number two varsity fullback, visited a Chicago specialist this morning to see if any harm had been done to his left eye by the bump in Saturday's Washington university game. He was told he might be able to play Saturday and that his eye was not damaged.

X-rays of Larry Danbom, full back, taken today showed no concussion or skull fracture. Danbom will be able to play Saturday against Wisconsin.

Frank Kopczak, injured in the opener with Carnegie Tech, was reported definitly out of this week's game. Art Cronin, will replace him at right tackle, as he did last week.

Denny Emanuel, first string left tackle until injured in practice, and second string until hurt in the opening game with Carnegie Tech, rejoined the squad today and will try out his injured leg in tomorrow's scrimmage.

INDIANA DRILLS ON PASSES.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Aerial maneuvers received attention this afternoon as Coach Bo McMillin sought to add more deception to the Indiana offensive in preparation for the contest with Nebraska at Lincoln Saturday.

Quarter Back Vernon Huffman was back on the throwing end in a dummy scrimmage against the reserves while Eads, Clasen, and Kenderdine made some nice receptions. Eads and Clasen teamed at halves with Huffman in the first string back field, with Fowler at full back and Dileo at the fifth position in the five man style offensive.

The Hoosier squad will leave early Thursday afternoon by bus for Indianapolis, where they will entrain for Chicago. Scheduled to board a train from Chicago at 9 o'clock Thursday night, the squad is expected to reach Lincoln Friday morning and work out in the Nebraska stadium that afternoon.

Joe Louis in Exhibition at South Bend Tonight

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Joe Louis will make his first appearance in an Indiana ring here tomorrow night when he meets two opponents in two three round exhibition bouts. Prep Football Leaders to Be Tested Saturday

The four sectional football races in the City High School league will be resumed Saturday, with none of the current leaders in direct opposition.

Headlining the north section schedule is the contest between Schurz, which shares the section leadership with Steinmetz and Roosevelt, and Lane, the game to be played on the latter's field. Schurz has won two while tying one, a record match by the other co-leaders, while the Lane eleven has won, tied, and lost in three starts.

Senn, still very much in the race with a record of two victories and one defeat, encounters Sullivan, beaten in all three of its games.

Tilden and Englewood, undefeated pacesetters in the central section, both are scheduled to see action over the week-end, the former clashing with Du Sable Friday afternoon at Normal Park and Tilden playing Lindblom, all-city title holder last year, Saturday at the same place.

Bowen, leader in the south division, meets Hirsch, which is tied with Fenger for second place, while in the west section Austin and Crane, coleaders, meet Marshall and McKinley, respectively. All these games are scheduled for Saturday.

The Evanston-Proviso battle at Maywood is the Suburban league feature. Evanston, winner of its two title starts, and Proviso, victor in three championship battles, share the lead with Oak Park, also triumphant in two games and seeking its third straight against New Trier on the west side village gridiron.

In the West Suburban league Riverside travels to La Grange for an important engagement, the former leading the standings with two victories and La Grange being right behind with one victory and a tie. Maine, victorious in its only league contest, moves to Elmhurst for a game with York.

ADMIT LESLIE TO HOSPITAL FOR OPERATION

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Sam Leslie of the New York Giants, Bill Terry's first base understudy, has been admitted to St. John's hospital for an abdominal operation, Dr. Robert F. Hyland, club surgeon for the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns, said today.

Leslie was injured early in the season and was unable to play regularly thereafter. He broke into games frequently as a pinch hitter, however, getting two hits in three times at bat in that rôle during the world series.

Louis Cohen, steam fitter from Brooklyn, will start in the Chicago six day bicycle race which opens in the Stadium, Nov. 8.

Illini Work on Ways to Stop Simmons

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Illinois scrimmaged today for the first time since the Southern California game, the varsity going on defense against Iowa plays as portrayed by the freshmen. Special attention was given to the problem of how to stop Ozzie Simmons. The Illini realize they must halt the fleet Hawkeye if they are to win Saturday at Iowa City.

Dave Turnbull, lanky center, is being worked out as a reserve to Capt. Sayre and Don Bishop, B team half back, received attention as a prospective varsity reserve. Bishop appeared at right half back.

IOWA STRESSES DEFENSE.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Rating Iowa an underdog for its homecoming game with Illinois Saturday, Coach Ossie Solem sent a pair of back field combinations through a long defensive workout against Illini passes today.

The line drilled on charging as a part of Solem's defensive plan to harass Illinois ball carriers before they get started.

More scrimmage on both offensive and defensive was ordered, with veterans retaining their places in the line. Lannon and Harris were at the ends, Walker and Lindenmeyer at the tackles, Farroh and Gallagher at the guards, and Osmaloski at center.

Glenn Olson, husky sophomore, may replace Wagler at right half Saturday because of his excellent blocking.

THREE DE PAUL REGULARS OUT OF CATHOLIC GAME

De Paul's crippled football team scrimmaged again in preparation for the hardest game of its season with Catholic university in Washington, D. C., Saturday.

Last year De Paul sprang a major upset in defeating Catholic, which later went on to win the Orange Bowl game on New Year's day.

If De Paul repeats this year it will be an even greater surprise. Only two of last year's starters against Catholic are probable starters Saturday.

Five of last year's first string men have been graduated, one has left school, and three have been injured in the last week.

The hospital brigade consists of Capt. Hal Carlson, who broke his thumb last week, and Willie Phillips and Bill Muellner, casualties of the Dayton game last Friday.

Not one of the trio is expected to see service Saturday. Tentative replacements are Vladimir [Butch] Vojvorich for Carlson, Ed Kelly, former Lindblom player, for Muellner, and Pat Howlett, former St. Philip star, for Phillips.

All-Star Soccer Squad Prepares for Maccabees

Jack Parry, who will manage the Illinois All-Stars in the international soccer match Sunday, Oct. 25, at Comiskey park, smiles confidently when discussing the outcome of the contest.

JACK PARRY.

The All-Stars are preparing to face the Maccabees, a Jewish team from Tel-Aviv, Palestine. The Maccabees are now in this country on a world tour that has carried them through fourteen other countries. Thus far they are undefeated and have hung up twenty-eight victories.

Parry has had twenty years' experience as a soccer player and official. He was a member of the old Pullmans and Palmer Park teams and is now an executive in the Illinois Soccer Football association.

The battle at Comiskey park is a charity affair. The proceeds go for Jewish relief work in Poland and for welfare work in Palestine.

Opposing Parry in the managerial department will be Egon Pollack, already known to Chicago soccer fans because of his previous visit here with the Hakoahs several years ago.

No official programs carrying advertising will be printed, officials of the game announced yesterday, when it was learned that fraudulent solicitors had approached business men.

Roby Sweep May Settle Midwest Title

Returning from New York where he watched the inaugural race over the Roosevelt raceway, Carl Stockholm announced a fast field of drivers for the first annual Roby sweepstakes, scheduled for the Roby track Sunday, Oct. 25.

The Roby sweepstakes will practically decide the midwest driving championship. Wilbur Shaw is now leading, but he is only one and one-half points ahead of Rex Mays. Six other pilots are so close that the 120 points that will be awarded for the Roby event may bring the winner from eighth place to the top.

Pilots signed for the Roby sweepstakes includes Rex Mays, Wilbur Shaw, George Connor, Jimmy Snyder, Frank Brisko, Emil Andres, and Ken Fowler. Entries are expected from Billy Winn, Chet Gardner, and Tony Willaman.

TUSKEGEE AND WILBERFORCE TO MEET SATURDAY

The eighth annual game between the football teams of Tuskegee and Wilberforce universites will be played at Soldiers' field Saturday afternoon. A crowd of 25,000 is expected to watch the battle between the two leading colored schools. The series was evened last year when Tuskegee won, 3 to 0. Each team has won two and played three ties.

Tuskegee's squad will arrive in Chicago tomorrow, while Wilberforce will be here Friday. Plans also have been made for a huge parade on the south side Friday night. The bands of the Eighth regiment of the Illinois national guard and Du Sable High school will be among the marchers.

Coach Cleve L. Abbott will send his Tuskegee team through drills at Washington park tomorrow and Friday.

Jim Braddock Spends Busy Day in Loop

James J. Braddock and his manager, Joe Gould, will leave for Indianapolis this evening after spending a busy yesterday here, a day that the New Jersey boxer, who won the heavyweight title from Max Baer at New York a year ago last June, and his energetic pilot will remember for a long time.

From the time the two detrained at La Salle street station at 10 a. m. yesterday until 10 p. m., when they appeared at the Stadium to take part in a combination boxing and wrestling show, fistiana's famous team was given an enthusiastic reception. They motored from one end of the loop to the other accompanied by a police escort.

Between appearances at the city hall, where they were given a civic welcome by a representative of Mayor Kelly; a luncheon at the La Salle hotel, a local broadcasting station, and a loop clothing store, Manager Gould took time to talk about future plans for his protégé, the Cinderella man, who was on the relief rolls three years ago.

To Referee Amateur Shows.

"Jim will referee amateur shows at Indianapolis tomorrow, Vincennes Thursday, and Evansville Friday," the champion's representative said. "On Saturday we will depart for a three weeks' sojourn at Hot Springs, Ark., after which we may attend the Texas Centennial before returning to New York."

Gould insisted that Braddock will do no serious fighting until he defends the crown in a fifteen round scrap against Max Schmeling at Madison Square Garden bowl on Long Island June 3.

To Have Tuneup Matches.

He added that Braddock will engage in a couple of tuneup matches before he meets Schmeling, but the opposition will be men of his choice, on the order of sparmates.

Braddock may box Hans Birkie in a charity show at Jersey City in late February. An opponent of like caliber will be obtained for a second engagement at Atlantic City.

Frankie Hart will meet Mike Kilonis and Red Vagnonne is paired with Stan Buresch in wrestling bouts which top the card tonight at Arcadia Gardens, 4444 Broadway. Mike Markoff tackles Bob Miller, and Bull Curley clashes with Pete Bartu in two of three supporting matches.

GOTTSELIG JOINS BLACKHAWKS AT HIBBING CAMP

Veteran to Team with Blair, Brydson.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—John Gottselig joined the Chicago Blackhawks' hocky candidates in training here today, completing the squad. His appearance pleased Manager Clem Loughlin, who is anxious to get the lanky left wing practicing with Andy Blair, veteran center purchased from the Toronto Maple Leafs. Right Wing Glenn Brydson, who came to the Blackhawks from the New York Rangers late last season in exchange for Howie Morenz, will complete this line.

Gottselig, one of the best left wings in the National Hocky league, who was hampered considerably last season because of the switching of centers and right wings, is expected to regain his old time scoring form paired with Blair, who is one of the best passers in the game.

Leo Delano, an Eveleth, Minn., amateur goalie who played last season with the C. Y. O. team, was engaged today for the duration of the Blackhawks' stay. Delano replaces Luke Karakas, brother of Mike, the Hawks' regular goalie.

Rodeo Judges to Arrive in Chicago Today

Fred Beeson, prominent cattleman of Arkansas City, Kas., and Tom Hickman of Gainsville, Tex., former captain of the Texas Rangers and now a deputy sherif, will arrive in Chicago today to sort out entries and make the drawings for contestants and live stock to be used in the opening performance of the world's championship rodeo at the Chicago stadium Friday night.

Beeson and Hickman will serve as judges at the 17 day rodeo, during which $15,000 in prize money will be awarded. Constantly rotating use of live stock and daily divisions of the contestants will serve to vary each of the 23 performances to be presented.

There are no more tickets available for the opening performance, "Silver Dollar" Brady having purchased the entire 16,000 seats for the first show.

Harmon Peery, mayor of Ogden and a candidate for governor of Utah, is coming to Chicago by plane to attend the rodeo. An enthusiastic follower of cowboy sports, Peery, who directs the Ogden rodeo, will act as judge at several of the performances here.

START SCHEDULE.

Yoshio Fushimi has been elected president of the North District Table Tennis league, which will start a fourteen week schedule on Friday.

Light Gun for Bird Shooting Recommended

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Huron, S. D., Oct. 13.—Judging by the types of shotguns you see in the hands of upland game hunters, sportsmen in the middle west and elsewhere are carrying around too much weight when they go after birds in field or marsh.

On a recent hunt in South Dakota we hunted with one man who was shooting a twelve gauge automatic and shooting shells with 3½ drams of powder. This combination may be all right for duck hunting when you're on a pass or for goose shooting, but for pheasant hunting we would hardly call it an efficient combination. One gets seven close-up shots at a pheasant to three that call for a little reaching out.

26 or 28 Inch Barrel Best.

By no stretch of the imagination can a shooter make such hunting conditions require a long range, long barreled weapon. If there is an all around gun for upland game hunting it would be a gun with either 26 or 28 inch barrels. A shot gun with 30 inch barrels is not needed. Nor does one need a full choked gun.

On our South Dakota hunt we used two guns, one a 20 gauge with 28 inch barrel, one barrel fairly wide open and the other throwing a tighter pattern. The second gun we used and found satisfactory for early morning teal shooting and pheasant hunting in the afternoon was an over and under with 26 inch barrels. We noticed that a member of our party shot a 20 gauge gun with 26 inch barrel and had no trouble with either ducks or pheasants. We saw this man drop teal out of the air as neatly as the next chap with a regular cannon of a 12 gauge.

Our preference is for a double gun because it gives up barrels of two different chokes. For the close in shots you have a fairly wide open barrel. For the second shot which is invariably more distant you have a barrel with a tighter choke giving you a better pattern of 35 yards. The best all around bore is the 12. A 12 gauge with 28 inch barrels will handle the duck shooting too.

Try One of These.

Therefore, if a man is going to own just one gun a 12 gauge with 28 inch barrels comes close to being the best bet. The man who doesn't do a lot of shooting and therefore is a mediocre shot has no business shooting at birds 50 yards away with a 30 inch barrel gun. He should take shots closer and his 28 inch barrel gun will do the trick. But for upland game like pheasants we lean to the 26 inch barrel gun because most of the shooting is so close.

WILSON RENEWS HIS CONTRACT TO MANAGE PHILS

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Jimmy Wilson will continue to manage the Phillies. Despite many reports to the contrary that he was to go after such a disastrous season, he was signed today by President Gerry Nugent to lead the team in 1937.

No mention was made of terms, but it is understood that Jimmy will work on a percentage basis over $10,000 next year. The higher the club finishes the more money for Wilson is the way the contract reads. This year Wilson drew down a flat $19,000 salary.

After signing, Wilson stated that he would devote the winter trying to land a shortstop, second baseman and right handed hitting outfielder. This will be the fourth year that Wilson has been at the helm of the club.

Australian Field Hocky Team Is Banquet Guest

The Australian women's field hocky team of 17 players arrived here yesterday from Madison, Wis., and were guests last night of the Chicago association at a dinner at the South Shore Country club. The team from the antipodes is one of three visiting this country for the triennial conference of the International Federation of Women's Hocky association, to be held at Philadelphia from Oct. 20 to 31 by the United States Field Hocky association. Last night the Anzac squad was the guest of the Chicago association.

On Friday, the Welsh team will be the guest of the Wetomchek association, and will play an exhibition game against Wetomchek at Jackson park on Saturday morning.

Three Teams Ruled Out of Soccer Meet

Three teams guilty of using professional players were disqualified from THE TRIBUNE'S amateur soccer play last night when officials heard protests and also drew up schedules for the next rounds.

Because Tom Lowe played with Calumet Park, that team's victory Sunday in class A was thrown out and the defeated Sparta second team will be permitted to continue in the second round. Other forfeitures were in the class B. The Union Bakers employed the services of John Turik in beating the Workers and the Kickers admitted using an ineligible player in winning from the Fichte with the result the two defeated teams were permitted to advance to the second round.

Arrange for Playoff.

After clearing up the protests, the schedule committee headed by Peter J. Peel made arrangements for the Oak Park Acorns and the Ravenswood Hearts to play off their postponed class A game next Sunday afternoon at Winnemac park. This will be the only game Sunday in classes A and B because of the Mayor Kelly trophy games involving teams of the International league. The Kelly trophy games will pair the British-Americans and Swedish-Americans and the Germans and Norwegians at 4600 Fullerton avenue.

Referees and playing fields also were decided upon last night for the opening rounds in the junior division. On Saturday the pairings are: Wanderers vs. Mooseheart and Italian Sport club vs. Mooseheart seconds at 18th street and Keeler avenue, Frank Foldie, referee; Vikings vs. Douglas Park Hornets at Winnemac park, Peter Wolf, referee. On Sunday the Magyars will play the Schwabens at 18th street and Keeler avenue, Stewart Pearce, referee.

Class A and B Drawings.

The draw for the class A and B competition which will be resumed a week from Sunday follows:

CLASS A.

Linnea vs. Sparta Seconds.
Olympias vs. American Nickeloil of Dalzell, Ind.
Hakoah vs. the winner of Acorns of Oak Park-Ravenswood Hearts game.
Wanderers vs. Schwabens.
Fichte Firsts vs. German Americans Firsts.
Vikings vs. S. K. Bratislava.
Swedish Americans, bye.

CLASS B.

Swedish-American Reserves vs. Ravenswood Reserves.
Gary East Side vs. Italian S. C.
Oak Park Acorns B vs. Rangers.
Northland vs. Linnea Reserves.
German-American Reserves vs. Gary Germans.
Kolping vs. German-American Seconds.
Vikings Reserves vs. Workers Sports club.
Fichte Reserves vs. Schwabens Reserves.

BILLIARD EXHIBITION.

Charley Peterson, fancy shot billiard player, will give an exhibition tonight at the Douglas park refectory.

33,000 TICKETS ARE SOLD FOR ST. MARY'S GAME

Chicago's leading neutral game of the 1936 season, bringing together Marquette university of Milwaukee and St. Mary's of California at Soldiers' field on Friday night, Oct. 30, already has attracted an advance sale of 33,000 tickets.

This was revealed last night at a meeting of Chicago park district officials and newspaper men at the Tavern club. Principal speakers were Robert J. Dunham, president of the park district, and George T. Donoghue, superintendent, who served as toastmaster. Proceeds of the game will go to the park district's employes' voluntary welfare association.

St. Mary's, headed by Coach Ed [Slip] Madigan, will bring a squad of thirty-eight players to Chicago on Oct. 26, following the game against Fordham at New York on Oct. 24. The California team will hold its training workouts at the Olympia Fields Country club.

Tickets are now on sale at the Fair store, the Sherman, Morrison, and Congress hotels, booths at Randolph and Michigan, Van Buren and Michigan, and in front of the Wrigley building, and also at the eighty-four fieldhouses of the park district.

HYDE PARK SOPH ELEVEN DEFEATS CRANE TECH, 12-7

The Hyde Park sophomore football team scored its third victory in four games, defeating Crane, 12 to 7, yesterday at White City.

Crane scored in the first quarter when Feldstein caught a twenty yard pass thrown by Di Andrea. In the third period Harold Fry raced fifty-five yards for a Hyde Park touchdown and in the last quarter Barnett blocked a punt and Raffeld ran thirty-five yards for the winning score.

JAMES BRINGS IN TWO WINNERS AT SPORTSMAN PARK

Countess Ann Scores in Feature Race.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The cheers went out for Jocky Basil James again at Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon. He climbed into the saddle on the first odds-on favorite of the season—Viajero—and had that black son of Flying Ebony-Scoots in front all the way to score a handy victory.

James later changed from the pink jacket of Mrs. Tom Marshall of Chicago into one of maroon and white, the silks of William Day, another Chicago turfman. In the fourth race he cantered out to the post on Ned's Affinity, a 3 year old daughter of Neddie-Sun Affinity.

Brings in Ned's Affinity.

Home, James! The west side rooters shouted. James is not a lad to disobey orders. Home came James on this one for a mutual payoff of $8. Viajero had paid off at $3.80.

And by his ride on Ned's Affinity, James proved that he truly is a great horseman in any kind of going and on any sort of track.

Never has a rider on a half mile track turned in a better job of rating a horse. Moll and Firm Hand were the early pacemakers. James made no attempt to keep Ned's Affinity alongside of them. Instead he took the daughter of Neddie back off the pace.

Seven furlongs out Moll displayed the distress signal and dropped out of it. Firm Hand raced to the front. Then it was that James started his drive on Ned's Affinity. When Firm Hand was challenged she had little left. Ned's Affinity raced on past her. James kept her going in fine stride long enough to win by nearly two lengths.

Firm Hand Second.

Firm Hand finished second, but had all she could do to hold the long shot Taipan safe in the final drive.

Even at the major tracks in Chicago, where he has been the hero since early summer, James never was accorded a more rousing round of applause than the one which went out to him after this race. It was his fourth appearance in silks since the Sportsman's Park season had opened. He had won three of those engagements and was second in the other.

The feature race was the Berwyn purse at a mile and seventy yards. It is doubtful if a better field of horses ever went to the post at Sportsman's park. Song Maker and Navanod were installed as the equal first choices in the betting, but neither finished in the money.

The winner was Countess Ann, a route running 4 year old daughter of Reigh Count-Chestie Ann. She has won stake races in her brief career, but was slightly overlooked on this occasion as she paid off at $9.80.

Jocky Terry Falls.

After being outrun in the early stages Countess Ann flew into the lead as the field wheeled around the final turn. She drew out steadily from there to win by two lengths. Erla finished second and Exponent was third.

Songmaker, a distant trailer in the early stages, closed lots of ground. He finished fourth and his effort indicates he will be hard to beat the next time he steps out on the racing strip.

The first spill came in the sixth race which was won by Valley Prince at 23 to 1 in the betting. As the field rounded the clubhouse bend the first time, the 3 year old Femme fell and Jocky M. Terry was badly shaken up. The stewards held Jocky V. Moore responsible for the jam and suspended him for the remainder of the meeting. Moore rode Cohort Girl.

Kempf. Went to post at 2:18. Off at once. Start good, for all except AMERICAN RED, from Bahr gate. Won handily, place driving.

JIM McCONNELL began to improve his position after a quarter, took command on the stretch turn without need of strong pressure and held sway to the end. RAPID BELLS, a strong factor from the start, took clear lead after three-eighths, but failed to withstand the winner, although holding others safe. GOLD STEP, away fast, but unable to hold his advantage, challenged mildly entering backstretch, but could not reach the leaders.

SECOND RACE—Five-eighths mile, chute. Claiming. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $550; second, $90; third, $40; fourth, $20.

Time, :23 1-5, :49 1-5, 1:03. Two dollar mutuels paid: Baldy, $17.80 straight, $8.40 place, $5.00 show; Little Duke, $23.20 place, $12.00 show; Copper Lad, $9.80 show. Winner trained by W. R. Jarvis. Went to post at 2:48. At post 2 minutes. Start good, Bahr gate. Won driving, place same.

BALDY, hard hustled from the start and saving ground on the turns, shook off GLADESS after a half mile and then held LITTLE DUKE safe. Latter, a factor from the outset, but forced to lose ground, finished strongly in a good effort. COPPER LAD, never far back and on the inside, was in close quarters rounding stretch turn and also held on well in final drive.

THIRD RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Maidens. Purse $600. Net value to winner, $475; second, $75; third, $30; fourth, $20.

Marshall. Went to post at 3:20. At post 4½ minutes. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won easily, place driving.

VIAJERO, away fast, opened a clear lead at once, was steadied around the turns and drew away in final eighth. FLORID, never far back, was in close quarters on the stretch turn, but lucky to get through on inside in stretch, wore down HONORED MISS in closing strides. Latter, a factor from the start, challenged gamely after five-eighths and then tired slightly near the end.

FOURTH RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Claiming. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $550; second, $90; third, $40; fourth, $20.

Doriott. Went to post at 3:53. At post 6¼ minutes. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won driving, place same.

NED'S AFFINITY, well handled and reserved off the early pace, responded well when put to pressure and though holding FIRM HAND safe had little left. Latter, much used in setting the early pace, readily gave way to winner, but was easily best of the others. TAIPAN, away slowly, was rushed into contention and, saving ground, finished with good courage.

FIFTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Allowances. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Winner trained by J. W. Johnston. Went to post at 4:29. At post 3½ minutes. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won handily, place driving.

COUNTESS ANN, outrun for a half mile, improved her position rapidly thereafter, and taking lead in final eighth, won handily. ERLA, away fast, forced early pace under slight restraint, and after disposing of EXPONENT in the drive, failed to withstand the winner. EXPONENT, away slowly, was rushed to the front after three-eighths, and then weakened under pressure in the final quarter.

SIXTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Allowances. Three year olds and up. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $550; second, $90; third, $40; fourth, $20.

VALLEY PRINCE improved his position gradually and coming to the outside on the stretch turn, closed with good belated speed when straightened out and won drawing away. JEFFREY, never far back, closed gamely in final three-eighths, and though failing to hold the winner, hung on well. TAD set early pace under slight restraint, but failed to rally when put to strong pressure in the final quarter.

Winner trained by C. E. Davison. Went to post at 5:26. At post 3 minutes. Start good. Won easily, place driving.

ETERNAL FLASH, much the best and having most speed from the start, set early pace under snug restraint and drew away rapidly when mildly shaken up in final quarter. WILD WEST, followed the pace under good restraint for three-quarters and failed to menace the winner when put to pressure. LATER ON, outrun for a half mile, gradually improved his position thereafter, and closed with good courage.

BEAU BON forced the early pace under mild restraint, offered good response, when strongly shaken up but could not get to the winner. TUT TUT, never far back, and on the inside, closed gamely the final three-eighths and wore down LEGAL GAMBLE in the last strides.

ARE MINNESOTA AND OHIO BEST BIG TEN BETS?

They're Good, but Face Hard Routes to Title.

approach that peak against Ohio State. After all, the Buckeyes did hold Pitt in check for fifty-five minutes. The farther the season advances the better mark this may be.

Northwestern will be playing at home and there also may be some advantage in being considered the underdog.

Can Ohio State come back? Last year, after the upset by Notre Dame, the Buckeyes narrowly escaped subsequent defeat by Chicago and Illinois before rallying to overwhelm Michigan. But, if the truth be admitted, Ohio State's men discounted in advance their defeat by Pittsburgh this year. They certainly were not as confident against Pitt as they were a year ago against Notre Dame. Consequently Pitt's victory was not as tremendous a blow to team spirit as the one administered by the Irish.

Pitt Holds Ball.

Pittsburgh minimized the danger of Ohio State's open attack by holding on to the ball as long as possible, kicking only on fourth down. Elimination of passes prevented disastrous interception. This indicates the high regard Pitt had for the Buckeyes, who ran up sixty points against New York university.

Northwestern certainly should match Ohio State's punting, even if Gales is drawn back from the Buckeye line. He was injured last week. The Wildcats also should have more power on attack inside of tackles and over the center of the line. But what Northwestern must have, is a smashing line defense to hurry Tippy Dye and the Buckeye passers.

There is no hope for Chicago in its 42d football game with Purdue, barring a miracle. The outcome should be Purdue's ninth consecutive victory and the score should be whatever Purdue wants it to be. That Purdue is pointing for Minnesota next week may mean that Cecil Isbell and John Drake and other regulars will not play even as many minutes as they did against Wisconsin.

Gophers Need Blocking.

Minnesota's game with Michigan will afford the Gophers opportunity to smooth out their blocking. Failure to block as effectively as formerly is the No. 1 trouble with this year's team. Lack of power at full back is another, but no coach should expect to have a Beise or a Kostka every season.

Minnesota deserved to score from scrimmage against Nebraska, but did not. Wilkinson's third down pass which ended the attempt to score from Nebraska's three yard line may have been forgiven when Uram returned the Nebraska punt for victory.

Illini, Iowa Toss Up.

Illinois will be Iowa's guest at homecoming Saturday. So far, the Hawkeyes haven't measured to advance predictions although the team was not rated any higher than a year ago. The tendency will be to underrate Illinois because of the loss to Southern California, which demonstrated weakness at tackle where it was admitted a weakness existed.

Illinois might whip the Hawkeyes and if Iowa is no better than in the Northwestern defeat, Illinois will win. But somehow or other, Iowa can't admit defeat as long as Ozzie Simmons is in the lineup. Last year, it was Simmons who accounted for the 19 to 0 triumph over the Illini.

RAILS REPORT BEST OUTLOOK IN SIX YEARS

Loadings, Earnings, Purchases Rise.

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—That the railroad picture is currently the brightest in at least six years was indicated today by reports emanating from various sectors.

First of all, car loadings continue to run at the highest level since late 1930, exceeding by a wide margin the 800,000 weekly car total hoped for but not expected this year. Secondly, railroad purchases of equipment and rolling stock, which have been negligible in recent years, have returned to a volume comparable with the average of predepression days. It is expected that railroads will purchase in excess of 250 locomotives this year, a new top since 1930.

September Revenues Increase.

Added to this were reports from the Association of American Railroads that September operating revenues of roads representing 77.2 per cent of the total operating revenues of American carriers were 16.4 per cent above those for September last year.

At $276,012,576, gross of the reporting roads easily exceeded revenues for any similar month in the last five or six years. In September, 1935, these carriers did a gross business of $237,116,976. Freight revenues amounted to $226,114,336, while passenger revenues were $28,184,768. Last year these incomes were $193,192,920 and $24,088,392 respectively.

This evidence is augmented by individual carrier reports to the interstate commerce commission covering net income for August.

Erie's Profit Rises Sharply.

The Erie railroad, a principal eastern coal transporter, reported its net income in August was $147,152, the largest profit for the month in several years. In August, 1935, a deficit of $440,712 was shown after all charges and taxes. The carrier's net income for the first eight months of 1936 totaled $575,771, against a net loss of $1,841,948 a year ago.

The Great Northern had net income of $1,931,531 in August, against net of $1,383,662 a year ago.

The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific reduced by about $1,000,000 its deficit in the month when compared with a year ago. Its loss in August was $904,184, against $1,924,933 in August, 1935. Other reporting roads, including the Atlantic Coast Line, reported reductions in operating loss for the month.

FREIGHT TRAFIC HIGHER.

A new six year high in total carloadings for the country may have been set last week, according to first reports from important railroads released yesterday. Indications are that shipments rose several thousand cars to a total well above the 820,000 mark, which would be higher than any week since the beginning of November, 1930. Individual reports follow including connections received from other lines:

BIG RAIL ORDER IS AWARDED BY SOUTHERN PACIFIC

The Southern Pacific railroad yesterday placed orders for $3,410,000 worth of rails and accessories, divided as follows: Columbia Steel, 29,123 tons; Bethlehem Steel, 16,348 tons; Colorado Fuel and Iron, 9,691 tons.

The road's purchases were to be used partly in preparing the San Francisco-Los Angeles line for streamlined trains already under construction. Fifty miles of the Texas and New Orleans railroad also will be improved.

Baldwin Locomotive Works announced that the dollar value of its September orders, including those of subsidiaries, amounted to $2,532,734, compared with $1,140,788 in the corresponding 1935 month.

Bookings for the first nine months stood at $23,902,050, against $12,827,571 in the same 1935 period. On Sept. 30 consolidated unfilled orders, including the Midvale company, totaled $13,781,459, against $6,689,081 on Jan. 1, 1936, and $5,617,347 on Sept. 30, 1935.

Pullman Car and Manufacturing company has received an order from the Seaboard Airline railway for ten air conditioned coaches to cost $500,000.

AIRCRAFT FIRM USING FORD ENGINE TO OFFER ISSUE OF STOCK TODAY

Arrow Aircraft corporation, Lincoln, Neb., will engage in its initial public financing to provide working capital today when Robert Co. will offer 200,000 shares of $1 par value common stock at par.

The company has acquired the rights to manufacture and market in the United States the Arrow Sport V-8 airplane, powered with a standard Ford V-8 automobile engine converted for airplane use.

The Arrow plane with the Ford motor as converted has been approved by the bureau of air commerce. While the Ford Motor company has no financial or other connection with the company, the use of the standard Ford V-8 motor makes available to purchasers the service and replacement facilities of Ford motor car dealers.

The plane is a side-by-side two seat, low-winged monoplane, with a gross weight of 1,675 pounds and a cruising speed of approximately 90 miles per hour. Several planes have been sold at $1,500 each, but under a proposed production schedule of four planes a day, the price is expected to be reduced to $1,000 or less.

Authorized capitalization consists of 300,000 shares of $1 par common stock, all of which will be outstanding upon completion of this financing, with 100,000 shares owned by the predecessor company, Arrow Aircraft and Motors corporation and its officers.

GENERAL MILLS OFFERS PROCESS TAX SETTLEMENT

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Donald D. Davis, president of General Mills, Inc., announced today that fourteen subsidiaries would immediately offer to settle processing tax claims with their direct customers.

The claims are for amounts customers paid the companies to cover processing tax requirements during the period from July 3, 1935, until the Supreme court ruled the tax invalid, but impounded and eventually regained by the General Mills subsidiaries.

The action, Davis' announcement said, was made possible by conferences with the treasury department and a department opinion that reimbursements to customers would be deductible for windfall tax purposes.

The offer will be subject to certain qualifications, the statement said, but "generally speaking will be $1 per barrel on plain white flour and proportionate amounts on certain other types of flour, including rye and corn meal."

Included among the subsidiaries to make the offer is the Washburn-Crosby company of Kansas City, Mo., sued today by twelve baking companies seeking recovery of processing taxes. Others included Washburn company, Inc., Chicago.

LIFE INSURANCE SALES 10.8% OVER SEPTEMBER, 1935

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—New life insurance production in September was 10.8 per cent more than in September of last year, while the total for the first nine months was 2.2 per cent less than in the same 1935 period, the Association of Life Insurance Presidents reported today.

The report, summarizing the new paid-for business, exclusive of revivals, increases, and dividend additions, of forty companies having 83 per cent of the total life insurance outstanding in all United States legal reserve companies, showed new business of all classes written in September was $630,831,000, against $569,413,000 a year ago. For the first nine months the total new business was $5,417,698,000, against $5,563,649,000.

Sears Sales Climb to New High Record

Sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. during the ninth fiscal period from Sept. 11 to Oct. 8 set a new all time high mark and exceeded 50 million dollars for the second time in the concern's history, the company announced yesterday.

Volume totaled $50,388,116, compared with $37,710,648 in the corresponding period of last year, an increase of $12,677,468, or 33.6 per cent.

Sales during the latest period exceeded the previous all-time peak by about $4,000. This previous record was $50,384,270, established in the four weeks ended Dec. 31, 1929.

Sharply Above August Period.

The ninth period figure for this year also represented a sharp gain over the eighth period of this year, when sales totaled $37,710,648. In the eighth period sales were 32.7 per cent above the same period of last year.

A more than seasonal increase of about $13,300,000 between the eighth and ninth periods of this year represented the largest dollar gain in the company's history, and compared with a corresponding increase of about $9,800,000 a year ago.

The record breaking volume for the ninth period also resulted in a new high level for the nine period volume. From Jan. 30 to Oct. 8 sales totaled $338,732,507, an upturn of $70,398,409, or 26.2 per cent, over the $268,334,098 for the corresponding nine periods of last year.

Year's Total Set at 500 Million.

It is now estimated that sales for the fiscal year will reach a new all-time high of more than $500,000,000, which would compare with a previous high of $443,000,000 in the year ended Jan. 29, 1930, and the depression low of $277,000,000 for 1933.

Remington Rand, Inc., reported preliminary sales for September of $3,717,633, an increase of $629,467, or 20.4 per cent, over September last year. For the six months ended Sept. 30 sales of $20,298,059 compared with $17,014,961 in the same period of last year, a gain of $3,283,098, or 9.3 per cent.

CHARGE COERCION USED TO SELL POWER BY TVA

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Conspiracy and coercion on the part of PWA and TVA officials to compel Tennessee and Alabama state and municipal officers to buy TVA electric current is charged in a suit filed in United States District court today by the West Tennessee Power and Light company of Jackson City, Tenn.

The power company seeks an injunction restraining PWA from allocating $665,000, of which $299,000 is an outright grant, to Jackson City for construction of a distribution system to handle TVA current over a transmission line already erected. Such an allocation will virtually destroy its $1,500,000 plant investment in Jackson City, the plaintiff says.

Justice Joseph W. Cox signed a ten day restraining order, enjoining PWA disbursement of the funds. Lawyers said that before the ten days ended, they would file a motion for a preliminary injunction effective until the case is tried on its merits.

BUICK CUTS PRICES ON SMALLER LINES OF NEW 1937 MODELS

Flint, Mich., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Substantially reduced prices on the two smaller lines of Buick cars for 1937 were announced here today by W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager.

The feature of the "forty" series, according to the announcement, is a four door five passenger sedan with enlarged luggage compartment, priced at the factory at $845, a reduction of $40 under the same model in the 1936 line. The corresponding model in the larger "sixty" series is priced at $1,035, $55 less than its 1936 counterpart.

The base price of the 1937 Buicks is $765 for the two passenger business coupe. Price reductions in the "forty" series range from $25 to $40 a model. Reductions in the "sixty" line range from $30 to $55.

Prices for models in the two larger "eighty" and "ninety" series for 1937 have been raised from $20 to $50 a model on certain body types though kept even with the 1936 prices in other cases. The cars in these series are classed as custom models with larger size, higher power and extra equipment. The base price in the "eighty" series is $1,275 for the four door sedan and in the largest "ninety" series it is $1,725 for the six passenger sedan, advances of $20 and $30, respectively. Details of body and mechanical changes in the 1937 Buicks will be announced next Sunday.

CHICAGO SALES MANAGERS FLAIL PRICE CONTROL

The Chicago Sales Executives club, composed of the sales managers of some of Chicago's leading corporations, yesterday adopted a resolution protesting the passage of further legislation similar to the Robinson-Patman act, and urging immediate modification of measures already enacted.

The so-called "anti-chain store law," together with the contemplated amendment to the Clayton act and the regulatory attitude generally assumed in official Washington, were decried by the organization as restricting markets "by increasing prices."

Legislation which increases the cost of distribution adds to the price which consumers must pay for goods, the sales executives pointed out, thereby curtailing the demand for such goods. The resolution was adopted "so that consumers may understand that the burden of higher distribution costs must ultimately fall upon them."

HUDSON MOTOR'S INITIAL ORDERS TOTAL 10 MILLION

Distributors of the Hudson Motor Car company who attended the preview of the 1937 Hudson and Terraplane models placed initial orders for the new line of approximately $10,000,000, according to W. R. Tracy, Hudson vice president in charge of sales.

Tracy added that present plans call for shipment of 10,000 cars this month, or an increase of 60 per cent over the October, 1935, shipments. Peak production in coming months is anticipated.

'GOLD BLOC' MAY FORCE MONEY STABILIZATION

Expect More Nations to Join Pact.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Formation of a "gold bloc" by America, France, and Britain, with almost a monopoly of the world gold supply, was described in financial quarters today as a powerful inducement toward monetary stabilization by other nations. Treasury officials shied off from suggestions that the tri-power control of gold might be used to force other nations into line, but said they expected other governments to join the "gold bloc."

Under terms of the agreement, effective today, the three dominant financial powers pledged themselves to sell gold only to each other—or to any nation which subsequently may become a party to the accord.

Use as Club Seen.

This was interpreted in some quarters as polite notice that no government would have access to the huge Anglo-Franco-American gold supply until it fell in step with their plan for currency stabilization.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau made it plain, in announcing the agreement, that "the door is open" to any other country which might want to join. Although no other government had announced adherence to the pact, it was known to be under close study by financial authorities in foreign capitals.

Term Accord Helpful.

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Bankers and others engaged in foreign exchange dealings today generally accepted as "helpful" the agreement among the United States, French and British treasuries for shipment of gold when necessary to maintain monetary stability.

Some such arrangement was necessary, it was explained, to make effective the agreement to maintain equilibrium of exchanges reached at the time of devaluation of the French franc. Until today gold could not be shipped from the United States to either of the other parties to the agreement, because treasury rules permitted such shipment only to a nation whose central bank bought and sold gold at a fixed price. Only Belgium, theoretically, could fulfill that requirement.

Dollar Moves Higher.

In the New York exchange market the British pound dropped ⅜ of a cent today to $4.90, while the French franc fell 5-16 point to 4.66 11-16 cents. Other foreign currencies were also lower in terms of American funds.

The engagement of $1,506,000 gold in India for shipment here was reported to the federal reserve bank by private banks. The reserve bank also received belated word of the engagement last week in England of $2,699,000. Gold imports aggregating $11,455,100 were reported in the daily gold statement of the reserve bank. Additional amounts arrived too late to be included in the daily statement.

View Pact with Cheer.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Announcement that the United States, Great Britain, and France had agreed upon practical measures of cooperation with their respective exchange control funds with the aim of maintaining the greatest possible degree of stability among the dollar, pound, and franc was greeted enthusiastically in financial circles here.

Implications of the latest agreement were regarded as even more far reaching than the tripartite statement issued at the time of the franc's devaluation. It is interpreted in some quarters as a move toward a new type of managed and more flexible gold standard.

Reactions Favorable.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Banking and bourse circles today showed the most favorable reactions to the gold exchange accord announced yesterday. At the Bank of France particularly there is genuine elation.

British Desire to Expand Trade Seen as Cause of Money Pact

BY HOWARD WOOD.

NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN.

That the real impetus behind the "gentlemen's agreement" to stabilize the American, British, and French currencies is a desire on the part of the British to regain lost foreign trade was the conclusion drawn yesterday by Dr. Gustav Stolper, noted European economist, who spoke at a luncheon of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations in the Palmer house.

Dr. Stolper, former member of the budget commission of the German reichstag and at present economic adviser in New York for eight large European banks, said he regarded as highly significant a statement by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the British exchequer, some time ago to the effect that it was about time to return to a gold standard.

Tells Britain's Trade Need.

Britain, the speaker pointed out, has been enjoying a rising business trend for about two years, a recovery based on an increase in purely domestic business, particularly new building construction. The limit of such recovery, he said, has been reached and in order to continue the revival Great Britain badly needs an increase in foreign trade. British sales abroad, he added, would be greatly stimulated by a stabilization of international currencies.

The "gentlemen's agreement" by which Secretary Morgenthau bound the United States government to enter into a deal with the governments of Great Britain and France to "stabilize" the three principal currencies, according to Dr. Stolper, represented the realization that no government can act decisively in regard to currency without assurances of cooperation from other nations.

Fear Misuse of Power.

At present, he said, Great Britain appears to be anxious to help restore order to tangled international currency relationships because of the fear that subsequent administrations coming into power in Great Britain and elsewhere might misuse the mechanism for currency manipulations which have been so ingeniously perfected.

He admitted, however, the danger that the "gentlemen's agreement," so hurriedly entered into by frightened chancelleries, might at any time turn out to be merely another "scrap of paper" in case one of the parties to the deal might discover it to his advantage to renege.

"Gentlemen's agreements," he commented, "last only as long as those who sign them remain gentlemen.

Tinkering Termed Dangerous.

"The manipulation of currencies is a dangerous business. Who can guarantee that some government will not suddenly spring up and manipulate it for its own sake, with the result that a currency war will follow?"

Even though the United States and western European nations may be able to agree on stabilization of the ratios between their respective currencies, Dr. Stolper said, the dictatorships of central Europe continue to threaten the monetary stability of the world."

VAN SWERINGEN UNIT FILES PLEA TO REORGANIZE

Cleveland, O., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Cleveland Terminals Building company and its parent company, the Van Sweringen corporation, petitioned the federal court today for authority to reorganize under section 77-B of the federal act in aid of corporate reorganizations.

The building company listed assets at $56,284,994, of which units of the extensive terminal group are entered at $33,180,831, representing cost less depreciation. Total liabilities, exclusive of capital and contingent liabilities, are entered at $89,633,141, of which $27,106,143 is intercorporate and $27,683,873 is a deficiency resulting from sale of collateral at a New York public sale of Van Sweringen assets on Oct. 1, 1935.

The Van Sweringen corporation's assets were shown to consist principally of its ownership of all capital stock of the building company, carried at $29,253,066, and of open accounts receivable of the building company of $27,106,145. Total assets of the corporation were listed at $56,360,573. The corporation's total liabilities, exclusive of capital and contingent liabilities, were listed at $29,758,656.

SAN FRANCISCO BRIDGE COMPANY SUES ICKES TO OBTAIN PWA FUNDS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Metropolitan Bridge company of San Franciso asked the federal district court today to compel Secretary Ickes, as Public Works administrator, to give consideration to an application for a loan and grant sought for financing a San Francisco bay toll bridge.

Immediately upon filing of the petition, Justice Joseph W. Cox ordered Ickes to show cause on Nov. 12 why a writ of mandamus should not be issued against him.

T. A. Tomasini, whose address was given as the House of Representatives Office building, Washington, was joint applicant with the company for the writ. He said he obtained a franchise from the state of California and the war department to build and operate such a bridge between Point Fleming in Alameda county and Bluff Point in Marin county.

On the strength of these assurances, he said, he organized the company and applied to the Public Works administration for a loan. He said consideration of the loan application was refused on the ground the petitioner was a private concern and not an agency of a sovereign power.

STOCKS SUBSIDE AFTER UPTURN; END IRREGULAR

Profit Taking Cuts Volume and Gains.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—After a strong and active opening, with large blocks of shares changing hands at prices 1 to 3 points higher, the stock market quieted down today as profit taking reduced both the volume and the size of the gains. At the final bell the list was no better than irregular.

In the early trading many stocks registered new highs for the year and longer as brokers rushed to execute a large supply of buying orders that had accumulated over the long week-end. At times the pace was fast enough to cause the high speed ticker to experience difficulty in keeping abreast of the market, but volume lessened after the noon hour and prices began to droop. Total sales for the session amounted to approximately 2,067,000 shares.

Stores, Steels Lead Rise.

Merchandising shares and steel issues led the early rise, but when their popularity showed signs of waning other groups were brought forward. A feature of the first hour was a block of 10,000 shares of Woolworth which sold at 63, a new high and 1½ points above Saturday's closing quotation.

Standard Brands began with 15,000 shares at a slightly higher figure. Another unusual opening was that of Louisville and Nashville, which started with 1,000 shares at 100, a rise of 2½ points. First hour prices, however, in many cases proved to be the best all day. In one set of averages opening prices for industrial stocks were the highest since 1931. For the carrier section of the list the start was at the highest level reached since 1933.

Utility, Air Shares Weaker.

Among the backward groups were the utilities, which declined in the averages; Chrysler in the motor shares and Douglas Aviation, which sustained a loss amounting to 3⅞ points. Wright Aero also weakened, as indeed did most of the aviation issues. General Motors broke through its old high, but before the day was over had given up its advantage and finished behind a minus sign.

United States Steel set a new high and held well. Bethlehem equaled its best high of the year and finished unchanged, and Youngstown lost a large fraction.

Sears-Roebuck rose easily in the mail order section, reaching a new high of 95 and closing with a gain of 3 points. American Telephone chalked up a new top price.

Some rails were strong. New York Central faded after registering a new high.

The New York stock exchange today announced the short interest as of Sept. 30 totaled 1,011,670 shares, compared with 974,338 on Aug. 31.

"It is nothing won to admit men with an open door, and to receive them with a shut and reserved countenance." This pointed remark might have been a part of the minutes on the day this bank established its policy regarding courtesy to customers. But Francis Bacon first set it down years ago. Its spirit, however, hovers over every contact which a member of our staff makes with a customer. No bowing and scraping—but competent and intelligent attention to the needs of those who do their banking here . . . no matter who the customer, no matter who the officer or employe.

"INTUITION"

Successful investors are often credited with having investment intuition—some sixth sense which enables them to "spot" good investment values and avoid poor ones. In many such cases, their reputed intuition is but the result of sound Investment Counsel of the type we provide.

Every successful investor knows that security selection based on "hunches," scraps of investment information picked up at random, or on impromptu advice fails to produce consistently good results. Modern economic and investment factors are too complicated to permit accurate diagnosis by such haphazard methods.

The competent, unprejudiced and vigilant professional investment control we offer is worth many times its nominal cost.

We invite inquiries from investors with funds of $100,000 or more.

INVESTMENT COUNSELLORS

SEVERAL FIRMS TAKE FAVORABLE DIVIDEND ACTION

Extras Voted by Honeywell Regulator, Edison Stores

An extra dividend of 12½ cents was declared yesterday by directors of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 37½ cents on the common stock. Both disbursements are payable Nov. 20 to stockholders of record Nov. 14. A similar extra was paid Aug. 15.

Directors of Edison Brothers Stores declared an extra common dividend of $1.40, payable Nov. 25 to holders of record Nov. 14, and called for redemption of the 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock.

Called Stock Convertible.

The preferred will be redeemed Nov. 16 at 110 and accrued dividend. Holders of the preferred issue have been given the opportunity to convert their holdings and receive the extra common dividend, because the senior issue is convertible into common stock on the basis of three shares of common for each share of preferred.

Northern Illinois Finance corporation directors declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents per common share and the regular quarterly dividend of 37½ cents on the preferred, both payable Nov. 2 to stock of record Oct. 14.

Directors of Adams-Millis corporation, hosiery manufacturers, declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents on the common stock, payable Nov. 3 to stock of record Oct. 23, which is the same amount paid prior to March 23 of this year, when the rate was cut to 25 cents quarterly.

Arrears to Be Paid.

A plan to pay more than $5,800,000 accumulated dividends on its preferred stock through a new preferred issue and additional common stock was announced by the National Supply company of Delaware. Each share holder owning one share of 7 per cent preferred with $35 back dividends as of Oct. 1, under the plan will receive one and one-fifth shares of new 5½ per cent preferred and a quarter share of common.

Directors of Best & Co. voted a dividend of 62½ cents on the common stock, payable Nov. 16 to holders of Oct. 26. Previously dividends have been 50 cents quarterly and an extra of 50 cents was paid Feb. 15, 1935.

U. S. CONTROL HIT BY INVESTMENT TRUST OFFICIAL

Calls It Not Necessary or Desirable.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—On the basis of the performance of Mayflower Associates, Inc., Jersey City investment trust, government regulation is neither necessary nor desirable, Robert E. McConnell, president of the corporation, testified today before the securities and exchange commission.

McConnell had been called before the commission to tell of the inner workings of his trust during the current investigation of the SEC to determine upon what character of new regulatory and control laws over investment trusts will be asked of the next congress.

Warns Against Federal Control.

"Nothing can be gained, and much can be lost, by government regulation," said McConnell bluntly. "It would seem incumbent upon the officials who are intrusted with the direction of governmental agencies to see that no obstacles or embarrassments are placed in the way of similar developments, if they are done honestly, competently and with sound judgment."

The "similar developments" referred to trusts resembling the Mayflower company, which was formed in 1929. At the outset 300,000 shares were issued for $18,000,000, the stockholders paying $60 a share. The shares are now worth $70, and cash and stock distributions to stockholders have aggregated $27, McConnell testified.

New Enterprise Financed.

The purpose of Mayflower Associates, according to McConnell, was not merely to purchase and hold securities for income, "but rather to undertake hazardous ventures, to pioneer in new enterprises, and to develop new sources of minerals and raw materials." The trust has a supply of capital available for explorations, for development of natural resources not now productive and for inventive devices, he said.

McConnell gave as an example the backing of F. Julius Fohs, geologist and physicist, with $300,000 of the trust's money. Fohs found the English Bayou oil pool, which is now producing 7,800 barrels of oil a day. The investment of $300,000 now had a market value of $2,500,000.

A commitment of $14,000,000 in a Rhodesian copper prospect did not turn out so well and the trust lost $1,000,000, McConnell said.

CONTAINER CORP. EARNINGS SHOW GAIN THIS YEAR

The Container Corporation of America yesterday reported slight increases in earnings for the three and nine month periods ended Sept. 30 as compared with the corresponding periods a year ago.

For the third quarter net earning amounted to $405,986, equal to 62 cents per share, compared with $394,173, or 60 cents, in the like 1935 quarter. In the first nine months of this year net earnings totaled $887,831, or $1.36 per share, against $826,319, or $1.26, in the corresponding period last year.

Net earnings of Walter E. Heller & Co., installment bankers and factors of Chicago and New York, for the first nine months this year were $258,862, against $191,814 for the same period of 1935, an increase of $67,048.

Net earnings of the Lehigh Portland Cement company totaled $2,207,863 before undistributed profits tax for the 12 months ended Sept. 30. This compares with $265,712 in the preceding 12 months. Profit for the latest period based on the company's increased common capitalization equaled, after preferred dividends, $4.47 a common share. In the preceding comparable 12 months net income was equal to $2.18 a share on preferred stock.

TURBINE MAKERS CHARGED BY U. S. WITH MONOPOLY

Accused of Price Fixing, Collusive Bidding.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—General Electric, Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing, seven other companies, and the Heat Exchange Institute, a trade association with headquarters in New York, have been made respondents in a complaint issued by the federal trade commission alleging collusive bidding and the fixing and maintenance of uniform prices in connection with the manufacture and sale of turbine generators and condensers.

The tendency of the respondents' alleged combination, the commission asserted, is to monopolize the business in dealing in these products, "to unreasonably lessen and restrain competition, and to deprive purchaser of the advantage in price, service, and other considerations which they ordinarily would receive in the course of free and unobstructed competition."

Other Companies Listed.

The other respondent companies follow: Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, Milwaukee; Elliott company, Jeannette, Pa.; Worthington Pump and Machinery corporation, Harrison, N. J.; Ingersoll-Rand company, Jersey City, N. J.; Foster-Wheeler corporation, New York; C. H. Wheeler Manufacturing company, Philadelphia, and Ross Heater & Manufacturing company, Buffalo.

The companies are alleged to have entered into their price fixing agreement in 1933 and are described by the commission as constituting a group so powerful "that they are able to control the turbine generator and condenser business in the United States." Principal purchasers of these products, the commission added, are public utilities, either publicly or privately owned, and municipal, state and federal governments.

Charges Control of Prices.

For the purpose of eliminating competition among themselves the complaint alleged, the respondents, under their agreement, fix and maintain uniform prices as well as uniform performance guarantees for their products; adhere to pricing sheets compiled by one of their number, although such pricing sheets bear no relation to the individual costs of the respective respondents in the manufacture of their products; submit identical bids, and take disciplinary action against any of their group who fail to abide by the prices.

The respondents have been given until Nov. 13 to show cause why they should not be ordered to cease from the practices alleged.

MUTUALIZATION OF TRUST FIRM GIVEN APPROVAL

Stockholders of Selected American Shares, Inc., yesterday approved an amendment to the company's charter enabling the firm to qualify as a mutual investment company under the revenue act of 1936 by paying out profits from the sale of securities. Another amendment boosted the par value of the company's stock from 25 cents to $2.50. Stockholders will exchange present holdings on the basis of one new share for each ten held.

The company announced that asset value per share rose 24.7 per cent from Dec. 31, 1935, to Oct. 10, with assets recently reaching new high ground of $11,000,000. Dividends of 4.3 cents a share have been paid and it was indicated that an extra dividend will be declared in December.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was unchanged today at 3.40c per lb for spots with no sales reported. Sugar was available at this price but refiners showed no interest above 3.35c. With the exception of November, which eased off from an early advance under liquidation, futures held steady on trade and commission house buying. Trading was only of moderate proportions. The market closed 1 point lower on November and unchanged to 1 higher on other months. Sales, 4,800 tons.

Raw sugar prices in cents per pound:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
November	2.46	2.49	2.45	2.45	2.48
January	2.47	2.48	2.47	2.48	2.48

May	2.47	2.47	2.46	2.47	2.47
July	2.47	2.48	2.48	2.48	2.47

Refined was easier and although the new refiner remained unchanged at 4.50c for November and December delivery, other local refiners reduced prices 10 points to 4.65c for prompt and thirty day contracts. Demand, however, continued of limited proportions.

COCOA

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Cocoa futures advanced 26 to 40 points in the early trading today to a new high level since 1930. The upturn was attributed to the sharply higher London cables and the scarcity of offerings of actual cocoa from producing countries to the New York market. Manufacturing interests were the principal buyers.

Selling by operators who bought at lower prices caused a recession from the top with the close at net gains of 22 to 25 points. Sales of futures were 534 lots of 30,000 lbs each. Range of future prices in cents per pound follow:

WHEAT RECEDES HERE IN SPITE OF RISE ABROAD

Early Chicago Upturn Lost; Soy Beans Decline.

Foreign wheat markets yesterday gained ground as compared with Chicago. According to trade views, speculative interest is centered in Liverpool and Winnipeg, with the result that prices there continue on the upgrade while American markets are suffering from a lack of aggressive buying.

An early advance yesterday lifted domestic wheat prices about a cent a bushel, with unexpected strength in Liverpool a factor, but the upturn failed to stimulate buying. The close was easy, with losses ranging upward to a cent. Winnipeg wheat futures held practically unchanged against Saturday. Liverpool advanced 1½ cents from last week's close.

Soy Bean Prices Decline.

Soy beans, which advanced sharply on Saturday, reversed their action yesterday to close 4 cents lower, the maximum permitted for one day under exchange regulations. More favorable weather for harvesting over the holidays contributed to the break. December soy beans closed at $1.22½ per bushel.

Corn and other grains were firm early, but closed easy in sympathy with wheat. Net losses in most cases were confined to small fractions.

Damage reports from Australia, as a result of killing frost, largely were offset in the Liverpool wheat market by scattered showers over Argentina. However, there was an active demand for Canadian cash wheat from leading importing countries.

Winnipeg Market Sustained.

Removal of hedges against the sales abroad was a factor in sustaining the Winnipeg wheat market. At the close December wheat contracts in Winnipeg were only 3⅝ cents per bushel under Chicago. Early in July the discount was 18 cents.

Lack of an aggressive milling demand for cash wheat and reports of a limited inquiry for flour were factors in preventing American wheat markets from making a full response to the strength abroad.

Closing prices on the December delivery of leading grains on the Chicago Board of Trade, with comparisons, follow:

	Yesterday.	Sat'day.	Wk.ago.	Yr.ago.
Wheat	$1.15⅝	$1.16⅝	$1.13⅜	$1.14½
Corn	.95⅛	.95⅝	.94⅛	.95⅛
Oats	.41⅛	.41⅝	.40⅝	.42⅛
Rye	.82⅝	.82⅝	.81⅛	.81⅛

Imports of Argentine corn into the United States during the week ended Oct. 9, reported by the bureau of agricultural economics, amounted to 1,650,000 bushels. They were about evenly divided between Atlantic and Pacific coast ports.

ILLINOIS CORN ESTIMATE

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Illinois corn crop, estimated at 206,618,000 bushels on Oct. 1, will be about 35 per cent below last year's 318,510,000 bushels and 39 per cent below the 1928-'32 average production of 336,738,000 bushels, the federal and state departments of agriculture reported today.

"The corn condition of 48 per cent on Oct. 1 was one of the lowest on record and compares with 42 per cent on Sept. 1 and the 10 year average of 74 per cent," said the report.

The condition of soy beans was placed at 62 per cent, compared with 77 per cent a year ago and the 10 year average of 80 per cent. This year's production was estimated at 17,600,000 bushels, against 21,834,000 bushels in 1935, while the yield was placed at 16 bushels an acre, compared to 18 bushels a year ago.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—A broad advance in domestic corporate bonds in early trading today, met with considerable resistance later with the market generally closed with a mixed undertone.

Much of the speculative enthusiasm which dominated activities last week in the market for secondary and convertible issues was lacking, while trading in United States government and other investment bonds came virtually to a standstill.

Treasury List Inactive.

While the movement in the former group following closely the reversal in form of leading stocks, inactivity in the treasury list was attributed to uncertainty arising out of the latest three-power stabilization pact.

Total transactions in bonds today amounted to $16,340,000; compared with $19,052,000 last Friday, with corporate issues again accounting for the major part of the activity. The turnover in treasury issues amounted to only $331,900, compared with $342,100 on Friday. Government issues closed 2-32 lower to 3-32 point higher.

Several Issues Strong.

The corporate list was not without several strong spots. Such issues as Allis-Chalmers 4s, Bush Terminal 5s and International Cement 4s recorded gains ranging from 2⅛ to 2⅝ points. In contrast, Gould Coupler 5s yielded 5 points and the bonds of Manati Sugar dropped 1½ to 2⅜ points.

Among the rails the convertible 5s of Chesapeake corporation again held the spotlight and rose 1 to 1½ points to new high marks in active trading. Other rail liens were mixed.

The market for foreign dollar bonds, although mixed, was undisturbed by the new international money agreement and moved within a narrow price range. Polish government and some of the bonds of French origin were in supply at lower levels, while other Europeans were steady to firm.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Continental Can.

Investors' Guide: Please send me a report on Continental Can company.—Miss K. S.

Answer: This concern is the second largest manufacturer of tin containers in the United States. Until the introduction of beer cans last year about two-thirds of output consisted of standard types of cans used by packers of vegetables, fruits, meats, and other perishable food products. It also puts out a general line of cans for paints, varnishes, chemicals, drugs, baking powder, tea, coffee, and oil.

Steady expansion of facilities in the last ten years has given the company 41 plants in various parts of the country and has broadened its line of products. Important new uses developed for cans in recent years are as containers for coffee, motor oil, and beer.

The company also manufactures tin plate, machinery used for making and closing cans, and corrugated shipping containers.

Volume of sales and profits rose to an all time high for the company during 1935 and showed further improvement during the first half of this year, though the drouth may affect the results for the final six months of 1936.

Net income for the first six months of this year was $10,633,000, or $3.99 a share, compared with $10,465,000, or $3.93 a share in the corresponding 1935 period. These figures were based on the 2,665,191 common shares outstanding after a 50 per cent stock dividend in 1934 and before sale of 177,679 additional shares to stockholders and 75,000 shares to officers and employés.

During 1935 gross sales rose to a new high of $105,594,000 and net income to $11,224,000, or $4.21 a share, compared with $91,508,000 sales and net income of $10,707,000, or $4.02 a share in 1934.

The previous record net income of the company was $8,968,000 in 1929. The low point was touched in 1932, when the figure was $4,819,000. Net income was $7,547,000 in 1933.

Expansion of the company has been financed almost entirely through sale or issuance of additional common stock, the result being that it has no funded debt or preferred stock outstanding.

Financial position is strong.

With the exception of 1932, dividends have been paid in varying amounts in each year since 1915. The stock now pays $3 annually. It is high grade.

WARNS FARMER IS HARMED BY BUSINESS TAXES

Consumption Restricted, Says Fruit Leader.

Taxes which are designed to stifle business competition strike at consumers and limit the market for farm products, H. C. Merritt Jr., chairman of the California canning peach stabilization committee of San Francisco, warned yesterday at the third annual meeting of the Food and Grocery Chain Stores of America, Inc., at the Drake hotel.

"One of the live issues in this country today is the problem of increased taxation, with the tendency of thoughtless lawmakers to listen to minority pressure groups who would, for purely selfish purposes, attempt to stifle competition by punitive taxes," Merritt said. "They aim at business competitors, but they hit the consumer, for the consumer always pays.

Tells Effect of Coöperation.

He said that coöperation between chain store organizations and peach growers resulted in saving California's canning peach industry from disaster last spring, pointing out that the public benefits by lower food prices only when the farmer is able to sell all, not part, of what he raises.

"These producer-consumer drives which chain stores have so successfully staged," Merritt said, "have brought to the forefront forcefully the fact that the interests of the farmer and the chain store operator are identical. Demagogue politicians have made it imperative that the consuming public be fully apprised of the part the chain stores play in keeping down the cost of living. The new understanding between farmers and chain store operators I regard as a healthy development.

Says Lawmakers Favor Farmer.

"The farmers through force of numbers, which makes their votes important, and because of general realization that their status is the key to public weal, have always occupied a favored position with relation to legislative matters.

"Chain stores, on the other hand, because they are of comparatively recent growth, with those guiding their destinies tending to their own business, and because they have been more or less silent in political affairs, have been a target for legislative attack.

"But the eggs of the farmer and the eggs of the chain store in this respect are in the same basket. What injures the one injures the other and what injures both injures the consumer. The need for a protective coalition between farmer and chain store operator is apparent."

TRUCKERS FORM ASSOCIATION TO HELP INDUSTRY

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 13.—Nearly 200 independent shippers and truckers of central Illinois, meeting here tonight, formed an "Illinois Shippers and Truckers' Protective association" to be incorporated with offices in Chicago and not organized for monetary gain.

Temporary purposes, outlined by Chairman James R. Hudson, Peoria, call for opposition to unreasonable and burocratic state and national regulations, excess taxation, diversion of highway funds, and setting up of transportation monopolies on public highways.

Attempts will be made, according to the temporary outline, to secure fair and reasonable taxation, honest expenditure of highway funds, reasonable regulations for safety and responsibilities, uniformity of trafic laws, and to keep the state highways free from trucking monopolies.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

by Frank Ridgway

150 Acres to Silage

October 13, 1936.

MORE than 150 acres of corn have been cut and blown into the silos or fed to the steers at THE TRIBUNE'S Yorkville Experimental farm this fall. Workmen finished filling the silos last week, but they will continue to refill them as the silage is fed out to the cattle. The corn from about 40 acres was cut and run through the silage cutter and fed to the steers before any was put into the silos.

Hogs Pick Up Lost Ears.

Hogs are cleaning up the shattered grains and the ears of corn knocked off by the binders in the fields of corn stubble at the Yorkville farm. Sixteen sows and their 72 small pigs were turned into a 40 acre field last week where the corn had been cut for silage. The sows and pigs have access to an alfalfa pasture and self-feeders filled with ground oats.

Another bunch of 14 sows, whose 86 early fall pigs are being weaned, were put in a 45 acre corn field, together with 207 spring pigs. There are 10 acres of corn left standing in this field. When rains made the ground too soft for the corn binders to run after 35 acres had been cut, it was decided to leave the remainder of the corn to be hogged down.

The fall pig crop at the Yorkville farm now totals 158 pigs, farrowed by 30 sows. There are four sows yet to farrow. Fourteen of the sows that farrowed early have been taken from their pigs and are being finished for market. They will be replaced in the breeding herd by gilts from litters farrowed last spring.

Feed Lots Muddy.

The annual battle with mud in the cattle feeding yards at the Yorkville farm started much earlier this fall than is common. In former years there has been little difficulty with mud in the feed yards and sheds until the winter snows begin melting or until the ground begins thawing in the early spring. Recent heavy rains made the ground so soft under the big cattle shed where 60 Hereford steers are being fed that there was no place for the animals to bed down for the night except in the mud. The men cleaned out the mud with large, tractor drawn scrapers. The ground surface is being covered with a heavy coating of gravel.

Men and Sheep Glean.

About 10 acres of corn have been cut and shocked at the Wheaton farm. The men went through the field with a wagon and picked up the ears that the binder had knocked off the stalks and hauled them to the corn crib. Sheep will be used to glean the scattered grain in some of the fields where the corn was cut for silage.

Thirteen and one-fourth acres of rye were sown last week at the Wheaton farm. The rye was seeded at the rate of 1 4-5 bushels to the acre.

COLD STORAGE MEAT SUPPLIES ABOVE LAST YEAR

Total Well Below Average Supply on Oct. 1.

Cold storage houses in the United States on Oct. 1 had 523,022,000 pounds of beef, veal, lamb, mutton, and pork, an increase of 146,750,000 pounds over the same date last year. Barring 1935, the total was the lowest on record for Oct. 1.

Meat in store included both domestic and imported supplies. The Oct. 1 total this year showed a decrease of 73,746,000 pounds from the five year average. Pork and lard stock declined during September, but beef in store rose sharply again.

Holdings Compared.

Following are shown meats in cold storage Oct. 1, with comparisons, in thousands of pounds [last three ciphers omitted]:

	Beef.	Pork.	Lard.	Total meats.
1936	82,804	361,651	101,634	523,022
1935	48,226	277,605	45,350	376,272
1934	92,575	524,220	128,054	724,162
1933	51,198	630,437	192,061	748,326
1932	25,909	498,253	70,656	566,231
1931	35,171	474,887	69,296	568,847
1930	60,023	447,427	59,732	592,423
1925	40,719	467,378	71,626	561,759
1920	78,056	616,441	109,258	783,777
1918	228,181	579,991	90,398	905,326

The combined total meats includes all stocks of beef, veal, pork, and lamb except lard.

These figures do not include meat purchased under the emergency hog control program and meats from "drouth stricken live stock" purchased by the Federal Surplus Relief corporation in 1933, 1934, 1935, and 1936.

Stocks of creamery butter, cheese, and shell eggs in cold storage in the United States Oct. 1 were the lightest for the date since 1932, the monthly report of the bureau of agricultural economics, released yesterday, disclosed.

Butter Holdings Decline.

Holdings of butter totaled 108,777,000 pounds, compared with 148,822,000 pounds a year previous. The total was 14,868,000 pounds below the five year average for Oct. 1.

Shell egg holdings amounted to 5,817,000 cases, against 6,353,000 cases a year earlier. Frozen egg stocks, 96,628,000 pounds, equaled 2,761,000 cases of shell eggs and were 2,025,000 pounds less than on Oct. 1, 1935.

Poultry stocks aggregated 82,076,000 pounds, or 42,356,000 pounds heavier than on Oct. 1, 1935, and 35,500,000 pounds above the five year average. The total now is the largest in twenty years.

American cheese holdings of 98,498,000 pounds were 4,163,000 pounds under the total a year ago and 8,467,000 pounds greater than the five year average.

HEAVY RECEIPTS OF YOUNG HOGS DEPRESS PRICES

The largest run of good quality young hogs of the season swelled total receipts at the yards to 17,000 head yesterday, the largest Tuesday supply since Aug. 4. Approximately 75 per cent of the total consisted of spring pigs, 5 to 7 months, and weighing 170 to 215 pounds.

The larger available supply of young stock and the better quality stimulated demand and, although prices weakened 5 to 10 cents under pressure of the run, there was a good clearance for practically all offerings. Selected 230 to 250 pound butchers were acutely scarce and topped the market at $10.35.

Lively competition featured the lamb trade at strong to 25 cent higher rates yesterday, top slaughter stock from the supply of western range lambs reaching $9.35, highest since Oct. 1.

Although the extreme top for steers yesterday at $10.50 equaled the highest mark here since middle of April, the cattle trade was sluggish and weak to unevenly lower.

Bulk of steers sold 25 to 50 cents under the prices prevailing at the middle of last week, most classes sharing the decline. A poor clearance was effected, several thousand head going over unsold. Calves advanced 50 cents in sympathy with the rise in the lamb trade.

BUYING, BROAD SPECULATIVE DEMAND BOOSTS COTTON

Buying of cotton futures, attributed to price fixing by American and foreign spinners, and a broader speculative demand due to the improved statistical position and expectations of a world wide expansion in consumption, lifted cotton prices sharply yesterday. Closing sales were at practically the top with gains of 15 to 18 points in Chicago and 13 to 20 points in other American markets [a point equals 1-100 cents per pound or 5 cents per bale]. Hedging pressure was heavy at times but was readily absorbed.

A decline of about 1,500,000 bales in the indicated supply of American cotton for the 1936-'37 season, as compared with last year, was reported by the bureau of agricultural economics. The indicated supply for the coming year was placed by the bureau at 18,100,000 bales, the smallest since the 1924-'25 season. The American cotton supply now indicated was also 13 per cent less than the average supply of 20,437,000 bales in the ten years preceding 1932-'33, the bureau said.

Spot cotton closed 15 points higher with New Orleans and New York at 12.35 cents; Galveston, 12.05 cents and Houston, 12.10 cents per pound. Range of future prices follows:

LARD PRICES CLOSE LOWER AFTER A FIRM BEGINNING

Lard futures made a firm start and a weak finish yesterday. There was general commission house buying early, attributed to eastern account, the strength in grains, and continued fairly liberal receipts of light weight hogs. Cash interests sold on the upturn. When grains weakened, lard followed and closed at the bottom. Net losses were 10 to 15 cents per hundredweight.

Clear bellies [salt pork] closed unchanged to 25 cents higher. Cash lard was quoted $11.65 per 100 pounds; loose, $11.10; leaf, $11; clear bellies, $14.37½. Range of futures follows:

to insult your intelligence by adopting the already overplayed policy of trying to make you believe that the "Golden Opportunity" is just around the corner and but waiting for you to grab it. If we or any one else had that kind of a deal there would be no need for advertising.

Naturally this ad will only appeal to men whom experience has taught that there is only ONE way to make a business and financial comeback—namely: by paying the price for success in hard work and by sticking with the job long enough to give it a chance to produce the desire. Such men, whether interested in part or full time work will be welcome to solicit further detail of facts briefly sketched below:

Our company has been in business since 1868. Not only have they grown to be the largest and best known concern of its kind but their products, consisting of spices, extracts, etc., are preferred for their high quality yet fair prices by millions of housewives the world over.

Our local organization, established in 1925, numbers 180 strong. Many have been with us since the origin of this branch. Every member has a protected consumer route, controls his own customer list, and handles all the receipts, including his daily net profit realized in commission form.
